CAMPBELLTON

The cry that comes from stricken Campbellton is one that must go to the hearts of the people of New Brunswick. Conditions would be better there today if Premier Hazen, instead of merely visiting the place and coming away again, had sent a special commissioner promptly to the scene to remain and aid the sorely pressed relief committee. The food supply is running short, the people suffering in rain-soaked tents, the future full of uncertainty. This would appear to be a time for a government with a grasp of affairs to prove its usefulness. The dread of winter is upon these people, and adds to the misery of their present state of utter want. They alone cannot grapple with the situation. They are still dazed by the blow inflicted upon them. The provincial government should not sit in aloofness while these unhappy victims of a great misfortune cry for food and shelter, and for some assurance that the town of their hopes is to be rebuilt. Daily the press sets out the conditions. What does the government propose to do about it?

OUR CABLE SERVICE

It is perhaps pardonable to direct the attention of readers of the Times-Star to the value of the special cable service of this newspaper—a service shared by no other paper east of Montreal. The cables on the first page of today's issue are a fair illustration. This is a Canadian cable service, and does not come through United States channels. Nowhere in Canada are the people more interested in the affairs of the mother country than are those who read the Times-Star. Hence this service is the more valuable. At no time in the past was there as much British news of interest to Canadians as is now sent daily over the cable. It is therefore a great advantage to have a purely Canadian service, giving each day the pulse of the day's news in England that is of most interest to readers in Canada.

Today's cables bring much news of imperial interest. There is, for example, the report of Hon. Mr. Birrell's address before the Eighty Club, in which he suggests a federation of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, as a preliminary to the larger federation of the Empire. This may be described as a remarkable speech, coming from a member of the government. Then there is a continuation of a debate in the Commons on the question of an imperial preference. The speaker, Mr. Bonar Law, a Canadian. There is also a letter from Mr. Richard Jebb, well known in Canada, dealing with the same subject. There is a report of the address of Mr. Robson at the Hague. There are the privy council decisions, the latest developments in the controversy over the accession declaration bill, and some personal notes of interest. An Australian cable states that Premier Fisher will attend the opening of the South African parliament, which raises the question of Canada's representation at that historic event. There is also sporting and commercial news.

Thus, from day to day, the reader of the Times-Star is kept in touch with the news of the mother country, or that portion of it which is of most interest to Canadians. No other afternoon paper in these provinces gives its readers the benefit of this Canadian cable service.

THE PEAT CONVENTION

Some idea of the importance of the peat convention in Ottawa may be realized, says the Free Press, when it is stated that the United States Steel Corporation has sent three delegates. The convention opened yesterday. Hon. Clifford Sifton expressed the belief that as a result of the experiments now being made by the Dominion government at Alfred, near Ottawa, the way would be cleared for the commercial development of thousands of square miles of peat bogs in central Canada, enabling the people who are dependent on Pennsylvania coal to find a source of fuel supply at home. Dr. Hazen stated that peat for fuel purposes is now being produced at Alfred at a cost

None sought for beauty in that rugged face.
Her form revealed no subtle lines of grace.
But in the quiet of her fearless look
One read the life, as in an open book.

Sorrow had walked with her; she shuddered and despair.
Love drew the poison from gray thorns of care.
Close to her staff of strength the helpless clung.
While little bells of hope about them rung.

A lovely woman, on Life's common street,
Where myriads go, who never pause to greet.
She has no record in the Hall of Fame,
But lips grow tender as they speak her name.

"LOBSTER PALACES" CLOSED

Mayor Gaylor of New York Cancels Licenses of Dives Along the Gay White Way

New York, July 26.—By way of compensation for his refusal to interfere with the exhibition of the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures, which the city council had refused to cancel, Mayor Gaylor's summary cancellation of the all night liquor licenses held by the "lobster palaces" along the Gay White Way and in the streets contiguous thereto, seems to have mollified the anger of the religious bodies. Despite the importunities of politicians the licenses are likely to remain cancelled. Most of the establishments were "joints" in which the city's most undesirable element of both sexes congregated nightly after the more respectable places had closed. They produced enormous revenues for their owners, the privilege of selling liquor during the regular prohibited hours of 1 a. m. and 5 a. m. costing them but $10 a night. As many of them took in much more than $100 a night, the edict of the mayor means a tremendous loss to them.

THE LORD MAYOR'S MOTTO

Sir Wm. Trevelyan when Lord Mayor of London, said "My motto for womanhood is 'The better the cook, the happier the husband.'"

There is no earthly reason why wives should not, nowadays, be the best of cooks. The gentle art of cooking is a manifestation of the very best in domestic science, and the accumulated experience of centuries has bequeathed to us a vast store of knowledge and skill. It is a pity that so many women, who are brought within reach of this knowledge, are through want of opportunity, unable to make a certain success of the little stews, ragouts, and hashes, which are so much of a guide and trial to the inexperienced cook.

Comprehensive Hospital to Cost Half a Million

New York, July 26.—The New York Polytechnic Medical School and Hospital has filed plans for the erection of an eleven story hospital building to cost $500,000, according to the stated estimate of the architect, Thomas Rowe. The building will have a frontage of 65.10 feet and a depth of 96 feet, and will be built so as to allow for three additional stories. There will be an entrance for physicians and a separate entrance for patients. Across the front of the building over the first story, will be carved in stone the following:—"For the Sick, With our regard to Race or Creed." The laundry, drug and store rooms will be in the basement, the first floor will contain a room for the visiting staff, the superintendent's room, visitors' waiting room, students' room, private patients' reception room, a large hall, with stationary seats for waiting patients, and a large room for the trustees of the hospital. On the second floor will be the medical amphitheatre, four wards, examination rooms, X-ray room and skin laboratory; the third floor will be given over to the surgical amphitheatre, minor surgical operating room, four wards and a number of recovery rooms; the mezzanine floor will contain rooms for the treatment of the ear, nose, throat and eye; the children's wards, maternity and museum will occupy the fourth floor; from the sixth to the eighth floor, inclusive, will be the private rooms; the fifth floor will contain the nurses' rooms and servants' dormitories; the ninth floor will have private operating rooms and to the isolation wards, nurses' offices and servants' dormitories; the eleventh floor will be a solarium for private patients, for ward patients and for the children.

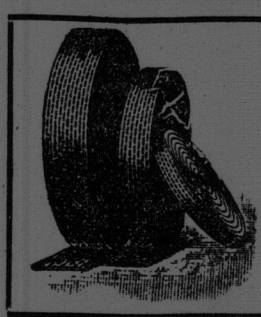

The music books of the late Prof. Robert Thallon, for 35 years prominent in musical circles, have been turned over to the Brooklyn Public Library by his executors. The gift consists of 3,283 unbound scores, piano selections, and 800 bound volumes.

Clothespins and rups will not soil clothes if they are cleaned occasionally by boiling in wash boilers. This should be done in clean water and not in discarded wash water.

A man's wife is never more economical than when she buys his socks and ties.

THAT FOOT PAIN

Brokers down across the country are complaining that the foot is ailing. The arch is composed of the bones of the foot, and it is the duty of the foot to support the body. If the arch is weak, the foot will be weak, and the body will be weak. The foot is the foundation of the body, and it is the duty of the foot to support the body. If the foot is weak, the body will be weak, and the body will be weak.

RECORD APPLE CROP IN WASHINGTON STATE

Orchardists Will Hold Stock, However, so that Good Prices Will be Realized

Spokane, Wash., July 26.—Commercial orchardists in Washington estimate the apple crop in this state this season will be between 3,600,000 and 3,800,000 boxes, or about 6,500 cars, the bulk of which will go to New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Paul and other points in eastern, central and southern states. Export shipments will also be larger than ever before.

Though there is every promise that the yield will be the best ever harvested in Washington, owing to climatic conditions and the fact that hundreds of thousands of trees are coming into bearing this season, growers and handlers say there will be no cheap apples next fall and winter. The orchardists are in a position financial and otherwise, to hold a big percentage of the crop and many will take advantage of the market, because of the curtailed production in the central states, by holding their fruit not already contracted for until top notch prices are reached.

F. A. Huntley, state horticultural commissioner, after comparing reports from deputies in various parts of the state, says there is every reason to believe the crop this season will be more than double that of 1907, when 1,425,000 boxes were shipped out of the state, while other conservative estimates show the yield will be from 125 and 150 per cent larger than any yet known. There are many growers who believe the crop will go above 5,200,000 boxes, or more than 7,200 cars, including fruit to be consigned to local markets. Buyers for New York, Boston, Chicago and European houses have been active in the commercial apple districts the last 60 days and it is probable that 40 per cent of the crop has been sold at prices slightly higher than prevailed last season; but the growers in central Washington will hold many until around holiday time.

A wise author draws his own conclusions at the beginning.

MRS. "BOB" BURDETTE'S VOTE

Insists on Casting Her Ballot Even if it is Not Counted

Los Angeles, Cal., July 26.—Mrs. Robert J. Burdette voted in a school bond election at Pasadena, a few days ago. When the inspector refused to accept her ballot, she marked it with her name and insisted that it be deposited in the ballot box even though it were not counted. Addressing the election officers the wife of the preacher humorist said:—

"I believe with a majority of enlightened persons that women should have a voice in school matters. This is more than ever true of women with educational and property qualifications. I am not a suffragist but I do believe that women should have a vote if they pay taxes."

This was Mrs. Burdette's birthday. She celebrated it by accompanying her husband to the polls and by giving $5,000 to Thorpe Polytechnic Institute.

It is estimated that $30,000 a day is spent by the inhabitants of England on theatres and music halls.
