

ON CAMPAIGN FOR PROHIBITION MAN PRESIDENT

Next to Liquor Issue Party
Turns to League of Nations Question.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Maintenance of the federal prohibition laws is the keynote of the prohibition party's presidential campaign, said W. G. Calderwood, prohibition campaign manager, discussing the issues as viewed by his party.

"The position of the party in this campaign," he said, "is that the prohibition party is needed in the failure of the major parties to take any stand on the prohibition question."

"Next to prohibition, our candidates will discuss the League of Nations. I think we take the best stand of any on this question. We urge immediate ratification of the league treaty together with the covenant. We believe the quickest and best way to obtain what changes are needed is to get into the league and fix it from the inside, according as experience teaches, rather than stand around theorizing to no effect on the outside and so blocking progress."

The speaking tour of the prohibition party's presidential nominee, Aaron S. Watkins of Germantown, O., began on September 6. The vice-presidential candidate, D. Leigh Colvin, of New York had already been on the road several weeks. He is swinging through the west.

Mr. Watkins' first trip will carry him through the middle west and both he and Mr. Colvin will knock off for a con-ple of days around September 23 to attend the International Congress Against Alcoholism in Washington. From there the candidates will go east and south, touring separately for the most part but holding occasional joint meetings in important eastern cities.

Campaign headquarters are situated in Chicago, at national headquarters of the party. W. G. Calderwood, the campaign manager, is a member of the prohibition national committee and a resident of Minneapolis.

"EVIL EYE" WOMAN TERRORIZES TOWN

French Police Asked to Banish or Keep Her Under Surveillance.

Paris, Sept. 8.—The terror caused by the Salem witches was recalled here, when residents of Louveciennes, on the edge of the Marly-le-Roi Forest, in the Seine-et-Oise, appealed to the police for protection an "evil eye" of the mediaeval ages. Even educated inhabitants of the district fear her spell and are threatening to move away from Louveciennes unless the woman is banished or kept under surveillance.

Inasmuch as the French law prohibits burning at the stake, which is the only known cure for such a spell, the woman is still at large, and the police commissioner of the district is awaiting instructions from the Paris prefecture before taking any radical measures.

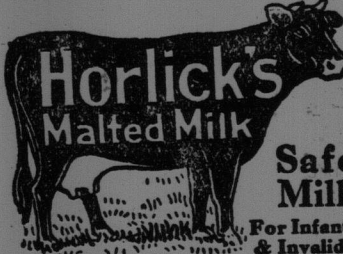

According to residents of Louveciennes, who piously make the sign of the cross whenever mentioning her, the woman is a war refugee from the Ardennes, having lost her husband and her sons in the war. Her look is said to be deadlier than the claws of any beast, and that all she needs to do is to look at anything or anyone and it or they immediately wither or fall victims of some illness.

THINKS SEARCH FOR TREASURE OF OLD DAYS VAIN

Galveston, Texas, Sept. 9.—Searchers after buried silver on the mainland opposite Pete Island, eighteen miles southeast of Corpus Christi, Tex., probably are doomed to disappointment, in the opinion of Dr. J. O. Dyer, a local writer on historical and scientific subjects. The rush of treasure seekers began with the discovery recently of twenty-five skeletons, popularly believed by many to be those of members of the crew of a Spanish treasure ship which foundered off the Texas coast early in the eighteenth century. No record of any such wreck is available.

The "life" of a skeleton buried in the sands of the beaches of the coastal county, keeper overcharged her recently, whereupon she cursed him, and two minutes later he fell and broke his leg.

1820, partly because of the activities of Jean Lafitte's fleet of buccaners.

Even before that time the Spaniards tried to avoid excessive losses from storms and Lafitte's fleet of buccanering vessels and fifty Spaniards transported less than twenty tons of silver bullion to the vessel. Then, the current rate in Mexico was approximately $10 a tray pound. The most valuable of all Lafitte's prizes, the Sevilla, carried only $150,000 in specie.

Lafitte's captured treasure, according to the records extant, was buried in three caches. Two of these were located on Galveston Island and the third on a small island to the east, which was completely washed away during a storm in 1829.

There have been many reports of the discovery on this coast of caches of coin or chests from trading ships containing from $3,000 to $15,000.
