IT IS A GOOD LAND.

Whatever may be said of those immigrants from Eastern and Southern by the Mount Temple. These are understood to be going straight to the land, first to work as farm hands, afterwards to obtain and work homesteads of their own. It is said that years." these immigrants were farmers at home and that they are well adapted to rural life in this country. The Hebrews of the Old Testament were mostly husbandmen who understood their business, and made a good living on a limited area. In this country there is no great congestion of farm population, and Canada is capable of producing milk and honey in abundance.

Improvements can be procured with the present wealth, and wealth might be increased without creating social improvement. Nor is a more even distribution of wealth necessary.

There can be no sudden change in the social order-neither political nor industrial. Our method must be to We must first have a change in the attitude of the two great classes, the capitalists and the laborers, he said, for after all, though they conflict, they have common interests, and the comon interests are the important ones. From us, or pent with lock and key, The opposition between them is futile. But in the goodness of His heart To attain the true goal of social progress they must approach nearer one another and endeavor to look on social problems through each other's eyes.
