A man addicted to snoring remarked to his bedfellow in the morning that he slept "like a top." "I know it," said the other, "like a humming top."

It is easy enough, it is said, to pick up a horse if you know how. The best way is to let the lines get under his tail, and then lift. And it will surprise you to see how easily you can raise the horse over the dashboard and into your lap.

Yellow Oil is the best cure for Frost Bites.

She was Irish, and sweet seventeen. She said, "Sooner than live on charity, I'd beg from door to door."

The complexion is made beautiful by using our Victoria Glycerine Jelly daily.

"Come now, stupid," said the school-master. "You don't know how much two and five make. Now listen. In one pocket I have $2 and in the other $5." "Let me see them, and I will tell you." School was dismissed.

Deafness and Earache are often relieved by using Hagyard's Yellow Oil.

A sociable man is one who, when he has ten minutes to spare, goes and bothers somebody who hasn't.

Any man who can swap horses or catch fish and not be about it, is just about as plus as men ever get to be in this world.

Continue to use Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung difficulties.

A man advertised for a good girl to cook. A friend asked him how it was intended to cook her.

We have known many a man to sit around waiting for something to turn up until that something was his toes.

"What's a dollar?" asks the Graphic. It's just the same as gratitude; something of which we owe more than we have.

A Dublin professional man addressed an artisan, who was waiting in his hall, rather brusquely: "Halloa, you fellow, do you want me?" The answer was neat: "No your honner, I am waiting for a gentleman!"
