MISCELLANEOUS

TO PROSPECTIVE BUILDERS AND THOSE WHO HAVE UNSAFE CHIMNEYS

ATTENTION, PLEASE

For the last few years, I have been experimenting with cement chimney blocks. The blocks that I am making this winter will stand the test. They are made in the cellar where they set slowly, thus insuring denser and better blocks. Material is the best selected sand and beach gravel, and Portland cement. Material for blocks is mixed in concrete mixer, it is measured and the chimneys are insured by standard blocks. Can furnish any size flue up to certain point sizes 16 x 16, 16 x 20, 20 x 20, 20 x 24 and 16 x 24. 16 x 16 and 16 x 20 are in one piece, above that they are cut in half. Larger sizes furnished on request. Some advantages of cement blocks: will not deteriorate with time, will stand all changes of weather, where bricks if not first class would crumble; makes better looking job; will not burn out as they are smooth inside and out; safer flue than bricks as there is only one joint where there are many in a brick flue. Can be put up in cold weather in one-sixth the time that brick can be laid. In case of old flue being torn out block flue can be laid in space required to tear out the old one, thus avoiding tearing out partitions and extra expense. Old flue can be torn out and block flue built in one day—quite an item with the lady of the house. Much more can be said in favor of the blocks. In the last 15 years I have repaired 1500 brick flues. In actual experience inspection is difficult have found many fine traps where bricks have crumbled and side of flue fallen out. With good up to date blocks this could not be. The season 1924 was the best I ever had. Feel that I can do better in 1925 because of the aid these blocks will give me, as they will appeal to those who build. As to price within certain radius of home can meet Brick Prices; farther away transportation would be added. Would be pleased to give any person definite price on prospective work. Would like to hear from parties wishing work done. All materials furnished and brought to job. Yours respectively J. B. BAKER, MELVERN SQUARE, Jan 29, 1925 2tc

Jack Frost's Age

How old is Jack Frost? Why, I've known him For ever so long, and I'm six! And years before, mother had met him, And grandmother, too, knew of his tricks. He must be grown up, eYt in autumn, He waits for the pumpkins to grip them, And Chestnuts and leaves know he's coming Straight up in the treetops to nip them. He sets all your teeth in a He pinches your fingers and toes, Then skips, like a flash, round the corner To tweak at somebody's nose. He walks 'round our house, too, at midnight, His footsteps go "crack!" and then "crack!" A post-card he prints on my window To say that he'll surely come back. He froze the nice milk that I left there, And broke, too, my very best cup, He may live for years half a million! But Jack Frost will never grow up. —Christian Observer.

NINE POINTS ON CHURCH GOING BY THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

1. In this actual world, a church-community, a community where men have abandoned and so-called or ignored their religious needs, is a community on the rapid down grade.
2. Church work and church attendance mean the cultivation of the habit and of feeling of responsibility for others.
3. There are enough holidays for most of us Sunday after Sunday, other than the fact that there are fifty-two of them every year—therefore on Sundays go to church.
4. Yes, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in the grove of trees, or by a running brook, or in a man's house just as well as in church. But I also know as a matter of fact that the average man does not thus worship.
5. He may not hear a good sermon at church. He will hear a sermon by a good man who with his good wife, is engaged all the week in making lives a little easier.
6. He will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible and if he is not familiar with the Bible, he has suffered loss.
7. He will take part in singing some good hymns.
8. He will meet and nod or speak to good, quiet neighbors. He will come away feeling a little more charitable toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard churchgoing as a men's performance.
9. I advocate a man's joining in church work for the sake of showing his faith by his works.

WHAT DO YOU DO?

It is significant to observe how some men fail to know how to treat their wives and sisters when they meet them, says the Pacific Rural Press. It seems to them quite unnecessary to lift their hats, or to give their nearest and dearest the courtesy they would freely render to a woman outside of the domestic circle. This should not be, and the sooner a revelation is accomplished the better. The ablest and most persuasive treatises on the etiquette of the home will not be able by itself to work the change, although it would be helpful toward the end. What is needed is the right training of boys and girls. Courteous behavior should be enforced by parents in the same way as other good qualities are taught. One of the most successful instructors of the young in our day bears this testimony: "People complain of the way children behave and lay the blame on their behavior in the day school; but if they would only make the children do at home as they ought to do in school, matters would be different. They laugh at the child when he lifts his hat or says 'Please' or 'Thank you' forgetting that others are trying to make up for their neglect of duty. The word in season should stir up parents to a sense of the importance of cultivating by precept and example the requirements of domestic etiquette."

SAFETY ALWAYS

The common shout of nowadays is always Safety First. You'll hear the cry no matter where you go. It's just a short expression that has duly been rehearsed, and it's one that everyone ought to know. When little folks start off to school they'll hear their mother say: "Now watch your step when crossing the street. Play safety as to auto, because they take the right-of-way and it's up to you to be the one to care." And then you'll find at crossings, where the railroad trains whiz by, a warning that you must stand and stand. It's "Safety First," that greets you, where it's sure to catch the eye. It tells you of the danger near at hand. The "Safety First" idea is a good one, I'll admit, but it is weak when figured down to the letter. It seems to be much stronger and would make a bigger hit. Don't you think that Safety ALWAYS would be better?

HOME INFLUENCE

Back of every home stand the people who make it. They—these people—create its atmosphere and are responsible for its influence. It is a glorious thing to have the opportunity to build a real home and to maintain it in all its helpfulness, purity and heartening possibilities. It is a tragic thing to fail. It is a pathetic thing beyond the power of words to describe to fail utterly to catch the vision of the power and glory of a Christian home, set like a beacon on a hill. If those back of the home fail to make the product of the home fine and uplifting, and eager workers in the Kingdom, it is not the fault of the Kingdom or its gospel, but the failure of those who are back of the home, to be or to do. Time moves swiftly on and it comes not back! That is why we must build the Christian home day by day and keep its influence bright and so radiant that it will attract and cause others to long with great yearning for the same inflow of Holy Spirit which gives peace and love and power and poise. The rule of three for a successful home and its blessed influence may be summed up in a few words: First, Christian unity between the heads of the family. Second, constant spiritual enrichment. Third, learning the art of putting "first things first."—Emma Gary Wallace.

PRIDE

"Where pride cometh, there cometh shame, but with the lowly is wisdom." Pride's companion is shame. But with the lowly wisdom ever walks, a sublime figure, protecting, guiding, ing, making sweet and fruitful every succeeding hour of the day's journey. No stroke of malice, no rebuff, no defiance, the lowly is none, for wisdom instructs their feet, orders their paths. Even their enemies are forced to dwell at peace with them, for wisdom's presence subdues them.

BE KIND TO YOUR MOTHER

Honor dear old mother. Time has scattered the snowy flakes on her brow, played deep furrows on her cheek—but is she not beautiful now? The lips are thin and shrunken but these are the lips that have kissed many a hot tear from childish cheeks and they are the sweetest lips in the world. The eye is dim, yet it glows with the soft radiance of holy love that can never fade. The sands of life are nearly run out, but feeble as she is, she will go farther and reach down lower for you than anyone else on earth. When the world shall despoise and forsake you, when it leaves you by the wayside to die, unnoticed, the dear old mother will gather you up in her feeble arms and carry you home and tell you of all your virtues until you almost forget that your soul is disfigured by vice. Love her dearly and cheer her declining years with tender devotion.

WHAT'S YOUR HURRY.

At a meeting to discuss the safety of pedestrians, a witness remarked: "In the old days if anybody missed a stage coach, he was contented to wait two or three days for the next. Now he lets out a squawk if he misses one section of a revolving door." It's the truth. We are in such a hurry that half the time we don't know where we are going. We would rather stub our toes than to take the time to pick up our hats. We dodge traffic in the middle of a block rather than spend thirty seconds in reaching a stop sign. Men go from Halifax to Vancouver and write back that they made the trip in three hours less than the last time. We jump on and off moving trains. We eat fast, ride fast, walk fast, dance fast, sleep fast—on the fast. What's the hurry? There are still twenty-four hours in a day, even with day, the shortest distance between two points according to mathematicians, but why confuse life with geometry? Wait a minute.

THE RIDDLE BOX

If you saw a Johnny Dory fish asleep, what would you say to wake him? Stir John! (Sturgeon). Why should a doctor keep his temple? Because he will lose his patients (patience) if he doesn't. Why did the coal scuttle sink? Because it saw the kitchen sink. What is lengthened by being cut at both ends? A ditch. When is a window like a star? When it is sky-light. When is a bar of iron a bad note? When it is forged. Why is E one of the most unfortunate of letters? Because it is never in cash, always in debt, and never out of danger. Why is it harder to spell "violet" than "green"? Because "green" is spelt with more letters. When is a siller very wooden? When he's a boar. When is a clock on the stairs dangerous? When it runs down and strikes one. Why does a sailor know that there is no man in the moon? Because he has been to see (see). What is the most awkward time for a train to start? 12.50, as it is ten to one if you catch it. What four letters would frighten a burglar?—O. I. C. U. Why is a dog with a broken leg like a boy at arithmetic? Because he puts down three and carries one. When is your nose not a nose? When it is a pug. What tree grows near the sea? The beach. What ship never goes near the seas?—Hardship. Why are dogs like trees?—Because they produce a bark.
