

immortal interests, merely to gain popularity, will not stand the review of the dying hour.

Obituary

THE LATE MRS. JORDAN. In the obituary of last week was registered the death of Mrs. Jordan, wife of the Rev. Joshua Jordan, presiding at Truro, but the death of so rare and excellent a Christian demands something more than such a notice.

The deceased lady, Jane Ann Hawkins, was the daughter of the Rev. R. Hawkins, Wesleyan Missionary, and was born in the island of Nevis, where her father was then labouring.

She was married to the Rev. Joshua Jordan, and was his companion and helpmate in Antigua, Tortola, St. Kitts, and Nova Scotia.

Her husband was a man of great piety and devotedness, and she was his faithful helpmate in all his labours.

she has forever departed. 'Tis nothing new Myriads of quivering lips have uttered the same language before. Ever since the hour when our first parents stood over the lifeless form of their beloved Abel, and with tones tremulous with emotion exclaimed, "he is gone," sorrowing hearts have found utterance in the same word, and to-day the echo rings out as clearly as ever, and a voice stealing as it were through the dim aisle of the shadowy past, whispers "gone."

But other scenes were dawning upon her mental vision. From the outer world and its gay objects she turned to watch the approach of death. In a letter written some two months previous to her death she says, "I have suffered much. I do not think I shall ever recover, but to die would be gain."

At length the weary wheels of life stood still, and the spirit released from its earthly tenement bore its immortal race upon the untrodden shores of eternity. Wreathed with the garlands living hands had made, they laid her to rest in the wild damp earth. She will not return to us but we will go to her. In a little while too shall be gathered with the sleeping dead, but if Christ be ours we need not fear to enter the dark valley and shadow of death, for He who has passed through its gloomy portals before us, will preserve us from all evil.

Wesleyan, Oct. 11, 1865. Major M. PARKER, of GRANVILLE, N.S. Died in December 1863, at the residence of his father in Granville, County of Annapolis, N.S. Major M. son of Mr. Samuel Parker, in the 26th year of his age.

to say much in praise of the institutions and the amazing resources of that noble Province. We were greatly pleased with Montreal, though we saw much less of it than we could have wished. Its whole appearance, with the exception of the narrowness of its streets, impressed us most favourably. Its numerous splendid churches and other public edifices, and its palatial private residences, are indicative of much wealth and refinement.

Canada in the first place is a great country, a large country. It contains one hundred and twenty millions of acres, while Nova Scotia contains but thirteen millions of acres. Its population is 2,500,000, while that of Nova Scotia is 350,000. Its settled lands are less thickly populated than ours, having about fourteen inhabitants to the acre, while we have about eighteen to the acre; but they have a greater number of more populous cities and towns, which are centres of industry and progress.

Canada-What it is. The invitation extended from the sister Province of Canada to the Maritime Provinces, on the occasion of the late Provincial Meeting, has been accepted. Montreal, notwithstanding the information which called for so much admiration, is not so much as it is generally supposed to be.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11, 1865. Personal. After a fortnight's absence, the Editor of this Journal is again at his post. A few observations on his recent hasty trip, may not be out of place.

and with pretty villages, all indicating thrift and wealth. Montreal we reach at night and remain but an hour as we are one of the party who are pushing forward to the Agricultural Show at London, E. W. Of the attractiveness of the Exhibition, so well as the subsequent one at Montreal, and their great superiority in most respects to our own, I have not essayed to do more than say; but what is Canada?

Canada is not only an extensive, but a prosperous country. This idea we have premised on the opening of our paper. We have referred to her as a source of pride and glory to the British Empire, and we have seen in her the signs of a new era of progress and civilization.

From our English Correspondent. The month of September and October are the best months for a visit to Canada. The weather is pleasant, the scenery is beautiful, and the people are hospitable.

Sympathy with Liverpool. We are glad to learn that the Rev. D. D. Currie's application in Halifax, St. John, and elsewhere, has resulted in a liberal measure of sympathy being shown towards the friends of Liverpool in the severe loss recently sustained.

at present we have three ship-yards in full operation, each preparing a ship for their work on the great waters. Two of these yards are owned by Moehrs, and the other by Harris & Co. The works that have been carried on have served to increase the wealth, importance, and number of their inhabitants, as well as to establish the conviction that had been for some time gaining ground, that they must have more mineral labour in this part of the Circuit.

At the last Conference they asked for a minister and a place on the list of stations, which was granted. They had now to provide for a man and his family, as the Mission House was situated in the other part of the Circuit. Finding it impossible to purchase one that would in any way answer their purpose, they resolved to rent one for the year, and to erect a parsonage in the centre of the village.

Avondale Circuit. Mr. Editor, Avondale is found for the first time in the list of Conference appointments; and to answer the question that has been so often asked since the station sheet appeared, "Where is Avondale?" I request a small space of your valuable paper.

Avondale was formerly part of the Newport Circuit, and received about one-third of the ministerial labour. During the last few years the people of Avondale have been extensively engaged in the building of a new church.

at present we have three ship-yards in full operation, each preparing a ship for their work on the great waters. Two of these yards are owned by Moehrs, and the other by Harris & Co. The works that have been carried on have served to increase the wealth, importance, and number of their inhabitants, as well as to establish the conviction that had been for some time gaining ground, that they must have more mineral labour in this part of the Circuit.

At the last Conference they asked for a minister and a place on the list of stations, which was granted. They had now to provide for a man and his family, as the Mission House was situated in the other part of the Circuit. Finding it impossible to purchase one that would in any way answer their purpose, they resolved to rent one for the year, and to erect a parsonage in the centre of the village.

At the last Conference they asked for a minister and a place on the list of stations, which was granted. They had now to provide for a man and his family, as the Mission House was situated in the other part of the Circuit. Finding it impossible to purchase one that would in any way answer their purpose, they resolved to rent one for the year, and to erect a parsonage in the centre of the village.

At the last Conference they asked for a minister and a place on the list of stations, which was granted. They had now to provide for a man and his family, as the Mission House was situated in the other part of the Circuit. Finding it impossible to purchase one that would in any way answer their purpose, they resolved to rent one for the year, and to erect a parsonage in the centre of the village.

tendency to break down and fall in the school, so that many teachers themselves almost being in need of instruction, it is not to be wondered at that the minister who is a strict disciplinarian, and who comes unpopulated, that the old system is not to be maintained, and that the new system is to be introduced.

Our Missionary Meetings. An essay on "HOW TO MAKE OUR MEETINGS MORE ATTRACTIVE AND SUCCESSFUL." The object contemplated by these meetings is certainly to be successful in order to make them so successful as possible; that object being attained, the universal diffusion of the Gospel of the blessed God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, to the ends of the world, is the result.

Our Missionary Meetings. An essay on "HOW TO MAKE OUR MEETINGS MORE ATTRACTIVE AND SUCCESSFUL." The object contemplated by these meetings is certainly to be successful in order to make them so successful as possible; that object being attained, the universal diffusion of the Gospel of the blessed God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, to the ends of the world, is the result.

Our Missionary Meetings. An essay on "HOW TO MAKE OUR MEETINGS MORE ATTRACTIVE AND SUCCESSFUL." The object contemplated by these meetings is certainly to be successful in order to make them so successful as possible; that object being attained, the universal diffusion of the Gospel of the blessed God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, to the ends of the world, is the result.