

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

General. Perpetual Youth of Nations. Logic of Revolutions in France and Britain. Independence of the United States not a Revolution. Conservative Science. Grand Destiny of the British Aristocracy in the House of Lords as Leaders of Humanity and Social Progress: their lead now in the direction of a complete development of the Rights of Man.....

9

CHAPTER II.

General—continued. A Grateful Record, for the use of Emigrants yet to arrive in Canada, if, by God's dispensation, they need medical treatment at Quebec. A Letter to the Quebec Chronicle, June 1859, on the crisis of 1832. Letter to the Quebec Mercury on what are the functions of Conservatism.....

18

CHAPTER III.

General—continued. Military Testimonials from Spain. Bravery before the enemy a common quality of soldiers: kindness to comrades and cheerful obedience to superiors, my highest praise. Episode with Mr. Cobden. Peace Society's seditious placards, 1862-3. A delightful recollection of Mr. Bright. The contrary. Freedom of the press....

25

CHAPTER IV.

General matters continued. Extracts from letters and reviews in testimony of useful work. What I did in Britain at the expected "rising" which was to supplement and consummate the troubles of Canada in 1837-38. The Bristol riots, and crisis at Birmingham, glanced at. Present Conservatism educates itself from the facts of the past.....

35

CHAPTER V.

General—continued. First of the series of dark passages in popular agitation, leading to that in which the author saved the country. The Spafford Leaders of the People in 1816. Thistlewood, the Watsons, Preston, Hooper, Henry Hunt, Richard Carlile, Harmer of the Weekly Dispatch. Plans to revolutionize London. Plunder of gunsmiths' shops. The Tower of London summoned. The trials for Treason. The six Black Acts.....

47