When Queen Victoria was made Empress of India by Parliament it was on the understanding that she should never permit herself to be called Empress, though it was thought wise to have the title on record. Similarly it is possible that the title of Emperor may be bestowed on King George, though he should continue to be referred to by the shorter, and not uglier, word. The proposed new official title is as follows: "Our Sovereign Lord George, by the wish of his people, Emperor of the British, and
