THE PORTLAND VASE.

A Masterpiece That Long Puzzled Antiquarians of Europe.

The workmanship of the Portland see and the material of which it is composed long exercised the ingenuity of some of the greatest antiquarians in Europe. Breval believed it to be chalce dony; Bartoli, Montfaucon and others, sardonyx; Count Fezi, amethyst; De la Chausse and Misson, agate, while Venuti decided that it was paste. Wedgwood's examination of the vase wedgwood's examination of the vase proved the last opinion to be the cor-rect one. A layer of white glass had been fused on a dark blue body, the exquisite figures being afterward pro-duced in this layer by cutting down to the blue by the gem engraver, after the manner of real cameos. Wedgwood also discovered that the vase had at some time been broken and repaired. It was his opinion that the head which formed the bottom of the vase was a plece of some other work that had been cut down and inserted in the place of the original bottom, which had probably been destroyed at the time the vase itself was broken. By the autumn of 1789 Wedgwood, after many failures, had succeeded in his ardious undertaking, and the first perfect copy, made in the famous jas-per ware, was finished. Several more copies were subsequently made, though the exact number does not seem at all certain. These were of var ious degress of perfection and varied in size and color. Originally sold at from 30 to 50 guineas each, according to excellence of finish, time has, of course, considerably enhanced value, and some years ago, at the sale of the Martineau collection, one sold for £294.

In 1810 the Duke of Portland placed the vase in the British museum, where some thirty-five years afterward it was wantonly broken to atoms by a drunk wantonly broken to atoms by a drunk-en visitor. After being skillfully re-paired it was placed for additional safe-ty with the gems. Authorities are by no means agreed as to the subject of the bas-relief, though various explanations have been though various explanations have been offered. According to the museum catalogue, the composition represents on the obverse Thetis consenting to be the bride of Paleus in the presence of Poseidon and Eros; on the reverse, Paleus and Thetis on Mount Pelion, and on the bottom of the vase (now

"Sister 'll be down soon, Mr. Swilligin," she said. "Say, can you tell me when a door is not a door?"

The young man looked surprised at the ancient conundrum.
"That's a chestnut," he said. "A door is not a door when it is a jar or a "That's right," said the young sister

Prevents Rolling of Ships. A German engineer, Otto von Sch lick, who has been studying for many years the prevention of ships rolling believes the solution lies in a gyros believes the solution hes in a gyroscope. Herr Schlick proposes to steady ships by mounting the gyroscope in the hold, and his first experiments on a large scale have been undertaken with an old torpedo boat. In this craft a gyroscone with a disk weighing 1,036 pounds was mounted with a steam turbine which could rotate it at a speed of more than 2,000 revolutions a minute. The oscillations and pitching of the vessel were carefully easured before the steam was admit ted to the turbine, and then when the turbine was put in revolution the mo were these experiments with the sixty tion practically ceased. So ton torpedo boat that it has been de cided to proceed with a larger craft.

The pain caused him to drop his razor, which fell on his foot and cut off a portion of his big toe. He promptly picked up the two fragments, applied them, still warm, to the open sores and bound them up. A forinight later on removing the handgoes he discovered to his horthe bandages he discovered, to his hor-ror, that he had made a mistake. He had put the toe in the place of his nose, and vice versa. Chew Your Food.

Chew Your Food.

Eat slowly, masticate thoroughly, are two cardinal rules for the dyspeptic. Generally the sufferer will find relief if taking solids and liquids at separate times, for fluid dilutes the already weakened gastric secretion, and so diminishes the digestive powers. An excellent simple treatment is as follows: Take a tumbler of hot water on rising in the morning, a second at 11 o'clock, and another half an hour before bedtime. If a little bicarbonate of soda, enough to lie on a sixpence, is added to the hot water, a further beneficial effect will be obtained.

Slaves to Rheumatism

Freed by "Fruit=a=tives"

"Fruit-a tives" cure Rheumatism and Rheumatic pains by removing the poisons which cause the disease. Rheumatism means poisoned blood. Too much urea or tissue waste is retained in the blood, owing to defective action of the bowels, kidneys or skin. The retained area becomes uric acid, which inflames nerves and joints and thus rheumatism is produced.

MRS. R. H. DENNIS, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., writes as follows: "I think 'Fruit-a-tives' are fine. I am using them for rheumatism, and have not felt it since I started to take them,"

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Rheumatism by greatly stimulating the action of the liver, kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" make each of these vital organs do its share of nature's work properly. "Fruit-a-tives" rid the system of excessive urea and uric acid-and so purify and enrich the blood and build up the general health, that there can be no rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices, concentrated and combined by our discovered process, which makes them much more powerful medicinally. Then tonics and internal antiseptics are added and the whole compressed into tablets.

If your druggist does not have them, don't take substitutes. Sent prepaid on receipt of price—50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50.

The British Anthem The whirligig of time has brough changes of its own into the British national anthem. In 1745 it began: God save great George, our king! The king's name was again inserted in that second verse, which has been used as an argument to prove that the words were written by Ben Jonson as early as 1607 to celebrate King James I.'s escape from the gunpowder plot:

Confound their politics, Frustrate their knavish tricks; On George our hopes we fix— God save the king! The change to the present form is:

On thee our hopes we fix, where deity has been substituted for majesty. There is another rendering which the exigencies of the times ne longer demand: longer demand:
