THREE BROOKS NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Kearney, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Mason and family, Miss Lena Jones and brothers, Miss Evangeline Edgar, Miss McGinn, Miss Jones and Flora Jones drove to Colwell River on New Year's day to visit Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Cox. All enjoyed a delightful afternoon and evening. At six o'clock they all partook of a beautiful supper served by Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Cox. The rest of the evening was spent in singing which was enjoyed by all, arriving back home at 10.30, regretting they could not have stayed longer with such lovely people as Mr. and Mrs. Cox, also Master Percy.

Rye Growing in Alberta

Amongst the Rye Fields on the Noble Foundation, Alberta.

Seventy kernels of rye on some heads, and the average with from thirty-four to fifty-five kernels, in what the Rosen rye is producing on the Noble Farms in Southern Alberta. The heads are seven inches long, with the grain bursting through the chaff, and look more like winter wheat than the coarser grain.

Just what the yield will be is still more or less of a surmise, which can only be verified after the crop is threshed. From appearances, however, thirty bushels to the acre seems to be a conservative estimate over the whole area planted. In some fields, fifty bushels appear to be nearer the mark.

In all, some 2,500 acres were seeded to this crop. Allowing thirty bushels to be the yield, 69,000 bushels will be harvested. At the present market price of $1.40 per bushel, this crop alone has a cash value of almost one hundred thousand dollars.

The growing of winter rye in Southern Alberta is more or less of recent origin, but it is rapidly becoming one of the staple crops on lands that cannot be irrigated. It produces heavily when conditions are not suited to big crops of spring wheat, and will minimize the danger of soil drifting. The Noble Foundation, farming thirty thousand acres in all, have always been among the pioneers of better farming methods. They have been experimenting with various kinds of rye for some time, and last fall obtained enough of this Rosen rye to seed two thousand acres. It is claimed that this variety will outyield the ordinary kinds two to one. Whether this be true or not, the yield was sufficiently promising to persuade Mr. Noble to make it his biggest crop this season.

He has now some twelve thousand acres in summerfallow, and eight thousand acres of this will be sown down to Rosen Rye. Naturally, this considerably reduces the area left to be seeded to wheat and other spring crops, but Mr. Noble considers he will not lose anything by the change. He has found that rye is a more sure crop, and given conditions that would produce a fifteen or twenty bushel yield of wheat, will produce twice as heavily.

The biggest advantage, though, is that all the Noble eggs will not be in one basket. If conditions are not favourable for a big wheat crop, then the chances are that the rye will make up the deficiency. It is the basis of mixed farming applied to the grain grower.

In the past there has always been a mad rush once spring opens up, to get the grain in the ground in time. It is no easy matter to seed ten or twelve thousand acres to wheat within the short period at the farmer's disposal. By putting half the acreage into fall-sown crops such as rye, the spring seeding is cut in two and more time is allowed for summerfallowing before the heaviest rains come. Mr. Noble believes that the secret of his success is proper summerfallowing and he maintains that "The summerfallowing plows should be going during seeding time if at all possible, then the work will be done by June 1, and every bit of winter moisture as well as what may be received during the summer, will be conserved. That is why winter rye is going to catch on in Southern Alberta—it will lighten the spring work and make for better summerfallowing, besides spreading the harvest season out more in the summer."

Mr. Noble's opinion carries weight, too, for he has always had the crops to back up his convictions. In 1915 he made a world's record for a thousand acre field by threshing 54,000 bushels of wheat, or an average of fifty-four bushels per acre. In 1920 the value of his crops was close upon one million dollars. Starting with a half section of 320 acres, he has gradually extended his holdings until they now total 33,090 acres, of which, 23,659 are in cultivation—a practical demonstration of the value of scientific farming.
