The Old, Old Question.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Is the servant question quite so terrible a problem as we have been led to think it? Some weeks ago I wrote a little article giving my opinion that it was not and that a woman who would treat those who served her reasonably and considerately need not pay exorbitant wages or change maids every few weeks. I expected nothing but criticism for this stand as the opposite has so often been claimed in women's columns and women's magazines. Therefore I was more than happy to receive the following correction of my article in a letter which evidently came from a woman of education, refinement and position. "Will you allow me to thank you for your very sane paragraphs on the 'servant question,'" writes this woman. "Between my own and my mother's houses, in winter and in summer life, in small and in large families, I have come closely into contact with many servants. And I have never known one whom I did not both respect and admire. They have been, in no sentimental way whatever, among my most loyal friends. In trouble they have helped me as no one else could, by taking all care off of me. Over and over they have shown the same self-control, the same kindly wish to be of service, the same dignity that we prize so much among ourselves. I am in a constant state of gratitude to my servants not only for their skill but for their spirit. This spirit is not due to any magical thing I do for them, but simply to their own fine character."

"Can the servant problem be so absolutely hopeless as many mistresses would have us believe when one woman has found it so very simple? "This spirit," she says, "is not due to any magical thing I do for them." Perhaps there are some women who would differ from her. Evidently she does not consider as magical or extraordinary the use of courtesy and consideration toward those who serve her, and a habit of remembering that they are human beings like herself, with good qualities that deserve appreciation.

There are many women to whom such an attitude would seem most extraordinary and magical. Such women will always have a servant problem. They will always be writing to the magazines about the rudeness, the unreliability and the inefficiency of their servants, and will never reflect that it is barely possible that these servants are a mirror of those with whom they live.

You think I am prejudiced in favor of the servant side of the question? Only as I am always prejudiced in favor of that side which has not the opportunity or the ability to speak for itself.

The Vogue For Buckles.

Just a word on buckles, for they are in demand than at any other time during the winter. The vogue for buckles to contrast with the shoe instead of harmonizing with has brought into existence the gray metal buckles set with colored stones or turquoise pearls, to be worn with black pumps, and the gilt buckles, also with colored stones, to trim the colored pumps.

One of the most practical new buckles is offered as a substitute for the old steel buckle, which will rust despite the care that may be taken of it, and which for this reason is very undesirable for the seashore or any damp place. This new buckle is made of imitation shell and is completely covered with sunken rhinestones closely surrounded by slightly projecting silver points like tiny nail heads. The topaz is sometimes used instead of rhinestones, and the points are in gold instead of silver. These buckles are very smart on tan shoes, which, by the way, are enjoying a revival of favor this season. Still a third style of buckle along the same lines of construction shows a combination of Bulgarian stones with points in either silver or gold. The color scheme of this buckle is adaptable for a shoe in any color of leather.

HAD RHEUMATISM IN ALL MY BONES

"Sometimes I Could Hardly Walk!"
 2 Boxes of Gin Pills Cured Me

I SUFFERED from Kidney Trouble for five long years. I also had Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles—could not sleep at night—and sometimes could hardly walk. I was treated by some of our best physicians but without relief. I lost over fifteen pounds, was very weak, and friends, who had not seen me for some time, were astonished. One day, I met one of our leading hotel keepers, who had been cured by Gin Pills, and he advised me to try them, so I bought two boxes at my druggist's.

Before I had used one box, I felt a big change for the better, and before the second box was gone, I was completely cured.

I assure you I can hardly believe it for if I had known what I know now about Gin Pills, I would not have spent over one hundred dollars for nothing, while two boxes of Gin Pills cured me.

Anyone suffering from Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism, should never be without Gin Pills.

 The Scottish Home Rule Bill passed its second reading in the Commons to-day, and was referred to the Committee stage. It follows somewhat the lines of the Irish Home Rule Bill, and was introduced by Henry Cowan, M.P. for East Aberdeenshire.

QUEENSTOWN, May 30.
 Several powerful tugs towed the Haverford into harbor this morning, after releasing her from her perilous position on Rocky Bay. When brought into port she was down by the bows 21 feet, with 21 feet of water in her forehold, and a considerable quantity in No. 2 hold.

LA SALLE, May 30.
 Four masked bandits held up the pay rigs of the Illinois Seince Co., five miles southeast of here last evening, killing one man and wounding three others. Cash amounting to $6,000, pay for 160 miners, was saved by the fine dash of a wounded officer under fire of the robbers, who escaped. Don Dierks, former Police Chief, who was acting as guard for the Seince Co., was killed by the bandits.

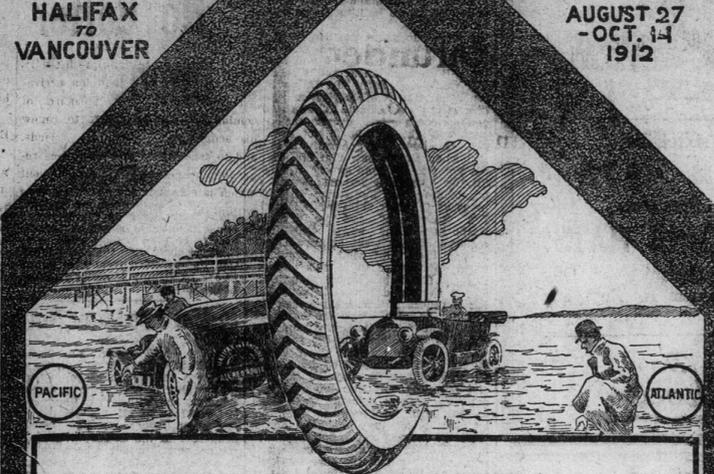

LONDON, May 30.
 Artillery fire was opened on the Greek positions in the direction of Eleuthera yesterday, by Bulgarian troops stationed at Parua, east of Saloniki. According to an Athens telegram, the Bulgarian Commander refused to enter into negotiations with the Greek Commander for the purpose of stopping the fighting. No details have arrived. Owing to this aggression a portion of the Greek fleet has been sent to Eleuthera.

TRENTON, New Jersey, May 30.
 Believing that all diseases are traceable to blood impurities, Dr. White, one of this city's foremost surgeons, and medical practitioners, announced to-day that he has discovered a solution, which, he insists, will cure nearly every known ailment. His theory is the injection of the fluid into the blood, purifying it and making germ-life impossible. He has offered to hold public clinics in the City Hall dispensary, under the supervision of other physicians. A number of private patients, he said, have submitted successfully to the treatment.

LONDON, May 30.
 Ambassador Walter Hines Page was received to-day in audience by King George, to whom he presented his credentials. He was presented by Sir Edward Grey, and His Majesty in turn presented him to the Queen. The King's reception was most cordial. Mr. Page spoke of the event as one of his most pleasing experiences. The King and Queen, he said, spoke frankly, cordially and kindly on a number of subjects. They asked after President Wilson and his family, also after the Ambassador's family.

LONDON, May 30.
 Greece, it is learned, will persist in her demand for the cession of Macedonia territory, even if occupied by Bulgarians, as in the Greek nationality it is a tradition. Greece is prepared to yield on minor points to Bulgaria, but the unalterable basis of her policy will be a demand for all territories the population of which is actually Hellenic. The Greeks weep with bitter disappointment and resentment the friendship growing up between Bulgaria and Turkey, and speak of the Bulgarians as having turned against their brothers. The Turkish-Bulgarian entente is regarded as nothing but an attempt to isolate and threaten Greece. The Greeks assert that the success of the war was due to their naval operations, and that these alone should gain them special consideration. The Grecian feeling as regards Macedonia and the Aegean Islands is strong and deep-seated, and will be the cause for the Greeks resorting to extremes.

CONCLUSION THAT CAN JUSTLY BE DRAWN FROM TRIP

HALIFAX TO VANCOUVER
 AUGUST 27 - OCT. 14 1912

THAT Dunlop Traction Tread has fulfilled all the great predictions made concerning it—as an anti-skid tire, as a puncture-proof tire, as a slow-to-wear-down tire. THAT despite the terrible conditions of our highways an automobile can cross the continent—provided it is equipped with Dunlop Traction Tread anti-skid tires. THAT there is nothing in this wide universe in the shape of a trail—boggy, rocky, hilly or holey—which Dunlop Traction Treads cannot make headway on. THAT Canadian roads are undoubtedly the worst in the world; therefore, the tires that mastered them must be the best in the world. THAT there can be no doubt if we had sent a tire expert along in the All Red Route car, the original four tires could easily have made the entire trip. Haney and Wilby say so.

THAT if Dunlop Traction Treads can endure such a test as travelling from Halifax to Vancouver, the regular everyday owner of a car is bound to get the utmost service from these tires in the lesser tests of endurance which he can give. THAT having been subjected to every conceivable kind of shock and battering—and survived everything except the damages attendant on collisions or unnatural travelling on railroad ties—Dunlop Traction Tread tires have proven themselves to be scientifically correct, masterly efficient, and superbly durable. THAT any car owner who fails now to D.T.T. his car is not the kind of man who wants facts to guide him in making his tire selection.

"I have had one illness after another, and have been quite unable to attend my parliamentary duties," he continued. "The nature of my illness is such that for months to come I cannot hope to sit in Parliament. If my constituents think they cannot wait for me, I am ready to make way for another." (Cries of "No.") Sir Max concluded with a reference to his opponent, who is also harassed by constant illness.

The Housing Problem.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir,—I notice some long-winded know-it-all in this morning's News, writing over the non de plume of 'Speys,' his views on Civic and Housing Problems, and in doing so does not forget to have a fling at the poor of the city. His references to our streets and their composition, or the use of salt water for sprinkling purposes, I will pass over, as they are not worthy of notice; but when this creature speaks on the Housing Problem and remarks that, "it is better to live in a shack well ventilated and clean than in a palace, that is poorly ventilated." Evidently his knowledge of shacks is greater than his intimacy with palaces, for there is a great difference in the two, for palaces are, as a rule, well ventilated and sewered, whereas the houses which most of our workmen live in do not contain water and sewerage. The fault does not rest with the people. The fault is in the way our Civic Government is constructed, for there is no land sufficiently severed on which our people can build a house. You take a new street, or "opening" rather, through a meadow which some day will become thickly populated if we live long enough to see it. At the start a couple of men go up there and erect a house or two, but the Council will not put the sewer in the locality until there are enough people living in the neighborhood to make it of some importance at election times. Whereas the best plan would be to sever those streets in the start and induce people to go there to build, and not have it as it is now, our people afraid to start in, because it may be years and years before other people would come up and build, simply because they cannot count on what time the place would be sewered. This plan of the Council is too slow and away behind for anything. Why not start in and sewer the streets as they are opened, this will help to draw people away from the congested districts, thereby improving the living conditions of our people. I hope the Mayor and Councillors will give this matter their consideration, and I feel sure it will amply repay any little money they may spend in this respect.

Yours truly,
 TAXPAYER.
