WEDNESDAY EV'NG, OCT. 28, 1872.

EAST NORTHUMBERLAND ELECTION TRIAL.—This case closed on Tuesday, when Mr. Biggar was unseated and the seat declared vacant, through bribery by agents; the respondent to pay part of the costs, but exempted from payment of the rest, on account of the faultiness of the particulars. The personal charges of bribery by Mr. Haines were dropped.

The writ for the Lincoln election has been issued, and will probably be in the hands of the Returning Officer in a few days.

The Reform Association of the in a few days.

The Reform Association of the the County of Monck met at Welland-port on Tuesday, when Dr. Haney, the present member, was then unanimous choice as candidate for the Local Legislature at the next election.

Mr. Blake and the Reform Party.

Mr. Hake and the Referm Party.

(From the Halifax Recorder.)

The Express pretends to think that the Reform party is alarmed lest Mr. Blake intends to desert from its ranks. But, here is just where the shoe pinches, Gladly, indeed, would they see the great Reform champion desert his colors—gladly would they see him give the lie to his past life and ruin his position and prespects; but the real trouble is that Mr. Blake remains in thorough accord with the party with which he has ever associated—whose principles he has assisted to form, and whose success he has helped to achieve. Doubtless, there was faint hope in the breast of theses fortern dismembered and demoralized. Tories, that the Reform press would take issuewith some of Mr. Blake's utterances; but it was a mistaken notion. The great beauty and glory of the Liberal party of Canada is found in the fact that they are not tied down to any stern dogmas. They are ever ready to progress with the wants and enlightments of the age. If Mr. Blake or any other respectable Reformer propounds any sound doctrine, the Liberal party is not afraid to accept it because it is novel and advanced. The whole Reform press of Canada has with one voice endorsed Mr. Blake's advanced ideas, and never before—not swen when his thrilling elequence and irrestible logic gave the death blow to "Twenty years of Corruption"—did Mr. Blake stand so high in the confidence and esteem, of the Reform party. False hepe! The Reformers have not given up Mr. Blake, and Mr. Blake stand so high in the confidence and esteem, of the Reform party. False hepe! The Reformers have not given up Mr. Blake or any respectable man whom they dare ask the people of Canada to support—with the few men of ability they had hopelessly tainted with carruption—the Tory remnant may well envy the Beformers the possession of such a man as Edward Blake. But their envy will at injure mannor illumine by a single ray the deep gleom which over shadows their can dark and dismal condition.

A Temperance Hotel.

SIR:-We have been watching with interest and pleasure the efforts of the Temperance men of Guelph. which have been put forth from time to time for the advancement of the public good, by removing the temptation from the weak, and by suppressing the sale—at unlawful hours and places—of intoxicating liquor. With your permission I would like to call the attention of the different organizations of a philanthropic nature, to the necessity of opening a Temperance Hotel necessity of opening a Temperance Hotel in Guelph. For a long time we have been pained to listen to the complaints of Lodges of Good Templars and Sons of Temperance, whose members have been overcome by the influences brought to beer against them while in town, being compelled by necessity to frequent places where the temptation was too strong for them to resist. Several cases are now fresh before our minds, in which, men who have risen from habits of intemperance to respectable citizenship, and even to official positions in churches, have been overcome by the influences of their former habits.

who have risen from habits of intemperance to respectable citizenship, and even to official positions in churches, have been overcome by the influences of their former habits.

Now Temperance men are both able and willing to pay for all the accommodation they receive, and it is this willingness that sometimes leads them from the right track whereby they are imposed upon with $\int_{\text{off}} \text{Stuf}$, which is a greater enemy to Temperance Societies than pure old Rye itself. We fully appreciate the services of the Y. M. C. A. by furnishing reading rooms free to all, where one may while away a pleasant and profitable half hour while waiting for a train. We are also pleased to hear that the Good Templars purpose building a new Hell, to cost $7,000, but we would like to see them baild a Temperance Hotel, with a capacicus half to accommodate the Good Templars and the Sons of Temperance, with rooms for the Y. M. C. A. and kindred Societies, for they are so closely allied that they should not be separated. Let us then have one large building where the reformed drunkards may be free from temptation; where young men who have not become drunkards may be free from temptation; where young men who have not become drunkards may be free from temptation; where young men who have not become drunkards may be free from temptation; where young men who have not become drunkards may be free from temptation; where young men who have not become drunkard may stop with no danger of doing so.

A County which has fifteen hundred members of the Independent Order of Good Templara besides Sons of Temperance and British Templars, with a great many sympatisers who are not members of any organization, ought to be, and is able to support a Temperance people of Guelph and surreunding country take the inatter into consideration, and express themselves pro or con through the inacting you for the insertion of the above,

I am faithfully.

A TESTIMONIAL.—The Globe takes n stee of a very handsome French china pitcher displayed in the window of a Klork street store and intended as a gift to Mr D. Wyie, of the Brockville Recorder. On one side is an excellent likeness in colors of the genial face of that gentleman—"The Father of the Canadian Press"—as he is called; on the opposite side is a representation of Niagara Falls. The painting and decoration of the pitcher were done by the gentleman by whom it is being presented to Mr. Wyhe, Wr. E. Tatter, now of Trenton, N. J., but I rmerly of the establi-hment of Messrs. Hurd & Leigh, Toronto.

Rev. D. Ander. awill deliver a lecture in the Presbyth inst—Thanks giving day—on "Man's h sponsibility, specially for his Belief." A collection will then be taken up in aid of the Building Fund of the Church. Afterwards an effort will be made to organize a Young Men's Christian Association, or a Literary or Mutual Improvement Society.

The new Presbyter on Church, in this Young Men's Christian Association, or a Literary or Mutual Improvement Society.

The new Presbyter of Church, ir. this willage, was opened for Divire, service last Sabbath. It is of store, 40 x 50 ft., and two stories high. The upper story is completed with 'ine exception of the painting, and will be used for ordinary Sabbath servires. The ceiling is 14 feed high at the sides, and rises from the base of 'ine rafters, forming an angle in the centre, where it is about 21 feet high. The windows are large and give plenty of light. The seats are plain but comfortable. The pulpit is also plain. A spire, which is sixty-mine feet in height, surmounts the building and gives it a fine appearance. The basement ceiling is about ten feet high. When completed it will be used for facture room, Sabbath School room, &c. The cost of the building is about $3,000.

Three services were held in connection with the opening, the first at 10.30 a.m., by the Rev. J. McMillen, of Mt. Forest, who preached from the 2nd verse of the 122th Pealm at 2.30 p.m., Rev. R. J. Forman (Wesleyan), of Drayton, preached from the 22th verse of the 73rd Pealm, and at 6.30 p.m., the Rev. J. McMillen again preached, his text being the 20th and following verses of the 73rd Pealm, and at 6.30 p.m., the Rev. J. McMillen of Luke. All the semanns were able at each service, but especially in the carry five hundred people in the church, although it is only intended to seat about three hundred. The collection amounted to 887.
