Many Petitions and Counter Petitions About Sidewalks.

Some Want Permanent Improvements-Others Object.

Board of Works Hears Both Sides-Claims for Damages - Bell Telephone

The board of works met last night. with all the members present, and outside of their special duties regarding sewage disposal, an unusual grist of ordinary business was up for consideration. Many petitions for and against the construction of artificial stone walks in certain localities have recently come before the board, and the granting of the petition either for or against depends upon the frontage and the number of ratepayers represented. Neighbors do not always agree on these matters, and there seems to be contests about sidewalks waging among the ratepayers of individual blocks in several parts of the city. Messrs. George Taylor and others petitioned against the construction of an artificial stone walk on the north side of Dundas street, between English and Elizabeth streets.

Ald. Dreaney said there had to be a sidewalk of some sort put there this Mr. Taylor strongly protested against the laying of a permanent walk, and the committee will recommend the granting of the petition. Mr. Alex. Johnston requested pernission to lower the road in front of his property on the Pipe Line road. Mr. Johnston is willing to do the work at his own expense.

The matter was referred to the engineer and Ald. Greenlees, with power. Complaint was received of a defective sidewalk on the west side of William street, between Princess and Dufferin avenues. The engineer and Ald. Cooper will look at the sidewalk. Mr. Wright asked that a fence on Ann street, adjoining his property, removed. The engineer said he thought the petitioner was raising a "tempest in a teapot." The fence had been put up by a ratepayer to protect his trees. The matter was referred to the engineer with power. The petition of Dr. Cl. T. Campbell and others against the laying of an artificial stone walk on the south side of Queen's avenue, between Waterloo and Wellington streets, will, if sufficiently signed, be granted Catharine Keenan, of West London aged 70 years, claimed damages for injury caused by an alleged defective sidewalk in front of Hyman's tannery She was on her way to the train recently, and fell, owing to the sidewalk being in bad shape. Her arm was broken, thus for a time cutting off her means of making a livelihood by nursing. The petition was referred to the engineer and chairman. The committee were not long in filing M. F. O'Mara's letter asking damages for raising the street in front of his property, Dundas street, West London. He wanted a new sidewalk and $1,100 as compensation. The request of George Olmstead for permssion to put down a mosaic walk on Ridout street, west side, between Dundas and Carling streets, was granted, providing the work is done under the supervision of the engineer, and that the walk be guaranteed for five years. A report of the Boiler Inspection Company, recommending that new boilers be put in the city hall, was filed The assessment commissioner reported several local improvement petitions sufficiently signed, and they granted.

The sidewalk on the north side of King street, between Ridout and Thames streets, will be moved in line with the other walks on the street. The Bell Telephone Company asked for permission to trim trees where their wires run; offering also to trim the city's trees at the company's ex-pense, the work to be done under the supervision of the department. The request was granted.

SYPHON CONTRACT

Awarded to Messrs. Harding &

the Estimate-The Work Vill Complete the System to the "Farm" -Contractor Grant To Be Paid in

The special sewer committee of the council, last night awarded the contract for section "B" of the new sewer system to Messrs. Harding & Leathorn. The section is the syphon line extending from the west end of Evergreen avenue to the site of the proposed filtration beds, 3,500 feet. It is to be of steel pipe for 300 feet, and the balance of cast-iron pipe. The suc-cessful tender was $1,239 below the estimate of the engineer, who placed the cost of the work at $14,985. Only two tenders were received. J. H. McKnight, of Toronto, tendered at $14,545 and Messrs. Harding & Leathorne, of this city, at $13,746, which was accepted. E. Leonard & Son of-per running foot.

The engineer was instructed to notify all sewer contractors to put street crossings torn up by them in proper repair within reasonable time. If they do not, the work will be done by the city and charged against the contrac-

fered to supply the steel pipe at $1 76

Solicitor George C. Gunn asked that his client, Contractor W. F. Grant, be allowed the $88 deducted from the amount of his contract on the Evergreen avenue sewer. Mr. Grant lost $2,000 on the job and had saved the city a great deal of money, said Mr. Gunn. The council will be asked to allow the sum. F. Wright, an unsuccessful tenderer, was present, and said such action would be unfair.

Detective Dougherty Believes Pare's Testimony Will Be a Surprise - Says the Right Parties Are Under Arrest.

Toronto, July 28 .- Detective Dougherty, of New York, assistant superintendent of the Pinkerton agency there, is in the city. He spent the greater part of yesterday with Mr. R. D. Gamble, general manager of the Do- Edison. minion Bank. Mr. Dougherty states that he has no intention of making any arrests in Toronto, and is confident that the right parties are under arrest at the present time. "When Pare gives his statement at the preliminary investigation, it will be a revelation to everyone," said he, "and I do not think anyone will have room for doubt that he is telling the truth.' Mr. Dougherty also intimated that Mackie's name was not so new in connection with the case as the public imagines. He says that Ponton was asked questions about his relations last fall, and that such queries embarrassed Ponton very seriously. In connection with the abuse which has been meted out to detectives in connection with this case, Mr. Dougherty says that the Dominion Bank, for which he has been acting, is performing a public duty in bringing to jus-

Some of the Best Ideas Come to

One While Half Asleep.

Place for Restful Toil-Campbell's Poem of "Lochiel" Was Written in This Way and There Are Other Cases.

Most people, if asked the question, would say that "bed" was the place to rest in, not to work. And though this is true of the great majority of people, there is still a decent modicum left who find "bed" a very congenial place in which to do their work, or a great part of it, and who, in fact, do not disguise the truth that they can work there very effectively. This plan was followed by the great poet Campbell, who tells us that he lay awake thinking of his projected poem "Lochiel," when there came into his mind, with other poetic thoughts, the idea of the shadows in the room 'showing up" as the day began to break, and he at once jumped out of bed and wrote down what has since become a world-wide proverb: "Coming events cast their shadows before.' Many writers owe much of their suc ess to clever plots and articles which have been begun, worked out, and finally set into proper form during the time that their authors lay cetween the blankets. The writing afterwards has often been merely mechanical, and even much of that was done in bed; the setting of the plot and the dialogue was the chief thing, as most writers know too well.

"I trust you'll excuse me," said celebrated doctor lately, to a friend who had to see him early, and who,on being asked to go up to his bedroom, found the physician still enjoying the comfort of the sheets. "Kindly sit comfort of the sheets. down, my boy, for a minute, till I've reward his toil. done answering these letters. I have my letters brought up immediately when they arrive in the morning, and I go over them in bed, and put down the replies in pencil on the back of them. Then when my secretary arrives at 9, he has nothing to do but go and answer them. As you know, I am kept busy from 10 o'clock, when I first appear down stairs, till late at night, and this plan, you see, saves me nearly an hour's work with him." That students often "burn the midnight oil" in bed is a fact commonly known, but few are aware length to which this is carried out, especially in colleges. I know a college in London where any night one could find 30 or 40 men all working in bed, with notebooks, manuals, pencils and all in full rig-out, many of the men having their writing desks before them on the bed. The contrivances for turning out the gas, without getting out of bed, when work is done. would do credit to the ingenuity of an

"In bed, old fellow, in bed!" said he. "I used to lie awake in the morning for an hour before getting up, and em ployed the time in thinking over the Euclidian 'riders,' and 'conic' asked questions about his relations lems that had puzzled me. Almost inwith Mackie at the time of his troubles variably I worked their solution out in my brain, without paper or pencil, vhile lying in bed. And every night, before I went to sleep, I went over so many dozen Greek verbs and Latin annotations, till they were all just like the multiplication table to me." There is another class of men who work much in bed-viz., the legal fraternity. Not very long ago a leading tice an employe whom, there is reason Q. C. in an important case only got his brief delivered the night before the case came on for trial at Manchester

Assizes, and yet, to everybody's aston-

GLADSTONE'S GUIDE

His Tender Words in the People's Bible History-Faith in Scripture,

In his introduction to a "People's Bible History," published in the United States three years ago, Mr. Gladstone leaves on record words which may be accepted here as a farewell message from the lips of a great man who had no guide through life or hope in death that was not grounded on the "impregnable rock of Holy Scripture."

"'Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away. As they have lived and wrought, so they will live and work. From the teacher's chair and from the pastor's pulpit; in the humblest hymn that ever mounted to the ear of God from beneath a cottage roof, and in the rich, melodious choir of the noblest cathedral, 'their sound is gone out into all lands, and their words into the ends of the world' (Psalm xix., 4). Nor here alone, but in a thousand silent and unsuspected forms will they unweariedly prosecute their holy office.

'Who doubts that, times without number, particular portions of Scriptures find their way to the human soul, as if embassies from on high, each with its own commission of comfort, of guidance, or of warning? What crisis, what trouble, what perplexity of life has failed or can fail to draw from this inexhaustible treasure-house its proper supply? What profession, what position is not daily and hourly enriched by these words, whose repetition never weakens, which carry with them now, as in the days of their first utterance, the freshness of youth and immortal-When the solitary student opens all his heart to drink them in, they will "And in forms yet more hidden and withdrawn, in the retirement of the chamber, in the stillness of the night season, upon the bed of sickness, and in the face of death, the Bible will be there, its several words, how often winged with their several and special messages, to deal and to soothe, to uplife and uphold, to invigorate and stir. Nay, more, perhaps, than this, amid the crowds of the court, or the forum, or the street, or the market-place, when every thought of every soul seems to be set upon the excitements of ambition, or of business, or of pleasure, there too, even there, the still small voice of the Holy Bible will be heard,

LIFE SAVED .- Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.
