

Bruno was condemned by the Church, expelled from the sanctuary, and ostracized by all decent society. And yet Sir Edwin Arnold, the lofty-souled, pure-minded poet, has the audacity to sing the praises of "the gentle and wise" arch-southern. Bruno was the man whose soul was so impure, and whose heart was so corrupt, that he preached and taught the infernal doctrine "that women were only fit for man's pleasure."

PERSONALS.

EARLY SUTON CLOSING.

The following letter has been addressed to the City Clerk: DEAR SIR,—I have the honor to forward herewith the following copy of resolution adopted unanimously at the annual meeting of the St. Patrick's T. A. & B. Society of this city.

LOCAL, CHURCH AND SOCIETY NEWS

Forty Hours Devotions. Yesterday the services of the Forty Hours commenced at St. Marguerite de l'Acadie; to-morrow they open at St. Clet, and on Saturday at Cote St. Paul.

Sunday's Feasts. Next Sunday, the 15th May, will be the feast St. Isidore as well as that of St. Hermas. It will also be the middle of the month of Mary, a day when many Catholics, who make special devotions to the Mother of God, during her month, receive the sacraments of penance and Holy Communion.

Confirmation. To-morrow, at two o'clock, p.m. confirmation ceremonies will be held at St. Vincent de Paul of Montreal; and at half past three o'clock, the same afternoon at the Academy of St. Louis de Gonzague. On Saturday, the 14th instant, the Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered at St. Charles of Montreal at two o'clock p.m.; and at three the same afternoon at St. Gabriel's parish, Montreal.

An Action by the Parish Priest of St. Gabriel.

Rev. Father O'Meara, of St. Gabriel Church, has taken out proceedings against Ald. D. Tansey and Messrs. Joseph Phelan, W. Wall, Jas. McNamara and Thos. McConomy, trustees of the new parish church now in course of construction. The action has been taken out on account of a statement they made to the Archbishop reflecting, he thinks, on his administration of the temporal affairs in connection therewith, which he considers is likely to injure him in his present position.

The Island Park Scheme.

The proposal to open St. Helen's Island Park at night is likely to meet with determined opposition from a number of aldermen as well as from the clergy. The Cure of Notre Dame, it is said, intends taking a very firm stand against the suggestion. He believes it would have a demoralizing effect on some members of his congregation. The present rule of closing the Island Park at dusk will be insisted on by the upholders of morality. It is further stated that the Dominion Government will take the Island out of the hands of the city, should any attempt to keep it open at night be made.

Death of La Salle Commemorated.

The anniversary services commemorating the death of La Salle were held last week in St. Michael's Cathedral Toronto, under the direction of the Brothers of La Salle. The church was crowded before the children of all the schools entered singing. Vicar-General McCann's celebrated High Mass after which Peter's Mass in "D" was sung. The Archbishop delivered an address dealing principally with the benefits of education. The children sang a very beautiful setting of the offertory sentences. The whole service was one of the most beautiful that has been held in the city for some time.

Union St. Joseph.

The Union St. Joseph held their annual meeting last week. The half-yearly statement, ending April 30, showed the receipts to be $10,240.52 and the disbursements $2288.54. During the past half year $4120.50 was paid to sick members, $1330 to orphans and $3100 to widows. The following officers were elected: President, J. B. A. Robichaud; assistant recording secretary, Octave Rollin; corresponding secretary, Joseph Contant; treasurer, Alphonse Gosselin; assistant treasurer, Alphonse Laurin; collectors, Joseph Corbett, A. A. Raymond, J. A. Thibaut, Z. Normandin, O. Gosselin and Edras Vignault; marshals, Clovis Beauchamp and A. Mireault.

FOUR NOTRE DAME HOSPITAL. A Grand Tombola Being Organized to Pay for the New Wing.

The directors of this Institution have decided to organize a grand tombola, for which purposes they have called a meeting of their life governors for Thursday next, at four o'clock. The tombola will be held under the immediate patronage of the life governors and the numerous lady patronesses of the Institution. Notre-Dame Hospital was organized in 1850, by placing about 50 beds at the disposal of the maimed and poor, and after twelve years of good work, the Institution has today 150 beds and our leading specialists at the head of the several departments, for the relief of outdoor as well as indoor patients. During the last eight months, Notre-Dame Hospital, has received over 1000 sick and attended 8000 outdoor patients, of all creeds, making frequent calls on each of these. The Institution having no endowment relies upon public charity for its maintenance. To meet a public necessity, the directors have this year gone to a very large expense; an amount exceeding $25,000, being spent in the purchase of a new building, to increase the capacity of the Institution, and they have no other means of meeting this outlay than by a special call on public generosity. The administrators of the Hospital confidently rely upon the citizens of Montreal, especially upon the manufacturers, merchants and shippers to help them in their good work, by furnishing the capital prizes of the tombola out of their respective lines of business.

A PLEASANT EVENT.

Presentation to Mr. T. J. Coggins Esq.—President of the C.Y.M.S. A deputation of the Catholic Young Men's Society waited upon Mr. & Mrs. Coggins, at their residence on Sherbrooke St., last Thursday evening, immediately after they returned from Ottawa, and presented them with an address and a beautiful parlor lamp, as a token of their esteem for Mr. Coggins, who was once the president of the Society, and to mark their appreciation of his good taste in selecting such an estimable young lady for his wife. Mr. J. J. Ryan, president of the society, read the address and made the presentation, after which the host replied in a very suitable manner. When he had finished, Mrs. Coggins rose and in a calm, dignified and eloquent style, warmly thanked the young men for their disinterested kindness and magnificent token of regard. The gorgeous "spread" prepared for the occasion was then done full justice to, interspersed by many pleasant toasts.

WILLIAMS—COGSWELL.

The Bishop's Palace was the scene of a happy event on Thursday, 5th inst., at 5 p.m., in which Mr. John P. Williams, of the firm of McIntosh, Williams & Co., son of the late Honorable Chauncey K. Williams of Rutland, Vermont, and Miss Elizabeth, daughter of the late T. J. Cogswell, Esq., of Jamaica, New York, were the interested parties. The ceremony was performed by His Reverence Bishop-elect Emard, in the presence of their relatives and a few intimate friends. The bridesmaid was Miss Williams, sister of the groom, accompanied by the maid of honour, little Miss Anna Victoria Ouillette, of Amherstburg, Ont. The bride was given away by Dr. L. D. Mignault of this city. Mr. J. H. Sheard, junior member of the firm, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. De Lotbiniere McDonald and Mr. Tancrod Pagnuelo, both of this city. After the ceremony, they, with their immediate families, repaired to their new home, 78 St. Luke street, where a delightful collation was partaken of, together with the usual toast-making, etc.

The presents from their numerous friends in the United States and Canada were costly and beautiful. The happy couple left at 8.30 for Chicago, en route to the Pacific coast. They will visit the principal cities of the West, returning by the C. P. R.

THE FREE CATHOLIC LIBRARY.

An Earnest Appeal and the Benefits it Points Out.

An earnest appeal was made, in the pulpit of the Gesù, on Sunday morning, in behalf of the Sacred Heart Library, by the local director of the League, Rev. E. J. Devine, S.J. The library, which has been open for a few years, has seen out the first year 5,000 volumes, the number being much increased in the succeeding years, 1,000 volumes are at the present moment in circulation. These figures indicate the want which the library is designed to fill. Therefore, it is proposed to extend the work, making it a free, public, Catholic library, which, without any parochial or other limits, shall be for the advantage of the people at large. All the best Catholic and miscellaneous literature, all the writers are there represented. Works of fiction, lives of saints, with other religious publications, are mingled with standard historical, descriptive and miscellaneous literature. But all of it is safe, and such will serve to antidote the dime novel and other trash, which abound in our own day.

The remarks of the preacher brought home to his listeners the necessity for such undertakings. They are being set on foot to-day in all the great cities of the Continent, and are being generally anxious for their multiplication. There is no means, perhaps, by which a man blessed with wealth can do more good, lasting good, than by spreading and bestowing books. He can make himself a veritable apostle, and invest a splendid capital in the other life, away from the moth and the rust, which all other investments are liable to be preyed upon, will be a new gem in his crown. Surely all who put their money to such a use must have a share in the promise, that God will instruct the ignorant shall shine as the stars.

It is no small matter to put a good book into a home, especially a poor one, where the surroundings may be equally evil, perhaps, debasing. Better for them food or raiment. For the young, especially, will too often read what is bad, and thereby incur the stigma of the struggle to keep up the League Library has been a severe one, and this despite the truly noble generosity displayed by certain gentlemen, and many devout Catholics.

It would be a noble work for some rich man to endow such an institution, a free, circulating library, from which nothing could be taken, and which would be open to all, growing and flourishing, a mighty power for good, a splendid bulwark against evil. But even apart from this, the work in which all can have a share, some giving little, others much. In this way its success can best be ensured. Now that the League is making such strides in the north, and in the west, and being affiliated to the head centre at the Gesù, the associates, by interesting themselves, might put the library upon a solid and extended basis. Surely it is something worthy of their zeal.

Donations for the Library Fund may be sent to Miss M. Gethin, president of the library committee, at St. Mark street, or to Miss Anna C. Sadtler, secretary, 80 Osborne street, or to the Sacred Heart office, 141 Beuvery street, Montreal.

FROM "LA SEMAINE RELIGIEUSE."

His Grace the Archbishop has appointed Rev. Mr. Santore parish priest of Ste. Cecile de Valleyfield and the Rev. Mr. Neveu pastor of Huntingdon. Rev. Mr. Roussin, pastor of St. Henri of Montreal to undertake the work of erecting a new parish.

The Papal Bulls relating to the erection of the new parish of the Holy Spirit, of the Archbishop's palace. They are dated the 5th April, at Rome.

On Thursday last, at Albany, in the State of New York, the Archbishop of New York, assisted at the consecration of Bishop Gabriel, lately called to the bishopric of Ogdenburg. From Albany His Grace went on to proceed to Hartford, Conn., to be present at the dedication of the recently constructed Catholic Cathedral.

The opening of the month of Mary took place on the 24th April, at Notre-Dame de Bonsecours, with the usual solemnity, amidst a large concourse of clergy and the faithful. The sermon was preached in French by Rev. Mr. S. G. G. who unfolded the beautiful text, "all the nations will call me blessed." The Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by the Archbishop. A choir of boys, organized by the Congregationists, gave zeal to the ceremony with their beautiful hymns.

His Grace Archbishop Fabre arrived in Chicago the evening of the 4th April. Over 2000 persons, including many who had come to the station, where prolonged cheers greeted His Grace. A delegation of the Catholic clergy and of the laity, headed by Rev. Mr. Valparaiso, met His Grace. On arrival in Chicago the Archbishop was conducted by an imposing procession to the Notre-Dame presbytery, beside the new church that he had come to consecrate. The streets were decorated with French flags, and the Church and presbytery were beautifully illuminated. The ceremonies of the blessing were magnificent. During his stay in Chicago Archbishop Fabre attended a grand musical and dramatic entertainment given in aid of the Society of the Holy Family of Notre-Dame University, and which was a brilliant success for the students.

Rev. Abbe L. A. Paquet publishes, in the Semaine Religieuse of Quebec an interesting article on the subject of the Holy Spirit, and Bishop of Chicoutimi. "Bishop Labreque," he says, "is the founder of the Œuvre des Cœurs, that has for object the aiding of poor seminarians and the work, it is said by him, readily succeeded happily in his hands. When, on Wednesday, the gentlemen of the Seminary learned the glad tidings of the honor that had been conferred upon their beloved director, they proceeded to offer him their congratulations. His Lordship answered them in terms filled with sympathy and affection, and through the fact that the Pope confirmed his appointment upon the day of the Passion, he stated that a bishop should be ever ready to take up his cross, and to follow it, even in a diocese like Chicoutimi, where the clergy and faithful go hand in hand, the episcopal charge is a cross. But by a cross, he meant a cross of charity, lightness, and weight, and he who bears it cannot fail to feel the liveliest consolation in seeing with his own eyes the benefits that it brings to all the souls it touches. These are the consolations and sweet joys of the soul that, with all our heart, we wish Bishop Labreque, and that we are sure Divine Providence will reserve for him."

OBITUARY.

Death of Mr. Casimir F. Papineau.

Mr. Casimir F. Papineau, senior partner in the firm of Papineau, Morin & Morin notaries, died at his residence, 72 Berri street, last week at the age of 86. He was one of the leading notaries in the province and had been a notary for forty-four years having been admitted on January 14, 1848. The deceased gentleman was born at Papineauville and was a nephew of the Hon. Louis A. Joseph Papineau, a brother of Hon. A. C. Papineau, retired judge of the Superior Court, and a cousin of Mr. Amadee Papineau, ex-Prothonotary of Montreal. The late gentleman graduated at St. Hyacinthe College, and in his early years was one of the editors of Le Pays, and was at all times an ardent Liberal of the Dorion, Lafontaine school. For many years he was a member of the Chamber of Notaries. Madame Papineau died some years since. Two daughters survive, one of them being the wife of Prof. Couture. Mr. Papineau had been ill more or less for some years past, but only became dangerously ill about a week ago.

Mr. Phillip Hebert.

On the 28th April last, at St. Patrick's Hill, Tigewick, death visited the family of a much respected and highly esteemed merchant of the place, and carried off the head of a household, in the person of Mr. Phillip Hebert. The deceased was born in 1811, at St. Gregoire, and when of age, in 1830, came to reside at Tigewick. He was an honest and most industrious man; as an evidence of his faithful attention to business his establishment was known far and wide as one of the best for cloth and kept in the Eastern Townships. He was only nine days ill. The funeral was grand and imposing. A large concourse of friends attended, and a Requiem was chanted by the Rev. Father Juras, the worthy parish priest, assisted by Rev. Messrs. Belzere and Hamel as deacon and subdeacon. The church was heavily draped for the occasion. The interment took place in a vault, made for him, under the church. The deceased leaves a widow and three children, two daughters and one son, to whom we tender our sympathy in the hour of their great sorrow. R. J. P.

A SACRED RELIC.

Vicar-General Farley and Mgr. Bernard O'Reilly, the biographer of Pope Leo XIII., saw the relic on Wednesday. On Sunday there was to be special services in the church. Mgr. O'Reilly was to preach a sermon in French in the morning at 11 o'clock, and in English in the evening at 7.30. On Monday night Mgr. Marquis intended starting for Canada with the relic.

So large a crowd visited the church yesterday that the relic was exposed all day. It will be exhibited every day from now till Monday. Father Tetreau said yesterday that his church is to receive a small fragment of the arm from Rome shortly, and that he will expose it for the veneration of devout Catholics in the chapel in the basement. Father Tetreau told a Sun reporter that last Monday morning a woman entered the church on crutches, hobbled to the altar, kissed the relic, and touched it to the part of her body affected. Then she knelt in prayer for a long time. When she picked up her crutches she found she was able to walk without them. She left the church, he said, praising God and completely cured.

Last Sunday evening the relic was exposed at vespers. The church was crowded. Father Tetreau invited the people to step up to the altar rail and kiss the relic. A line was formed, and men, women and children walked up the middle aisle to the rail. When fifty people had kissed the casket, which Father Tetreau held in his hand, a weak looking young man stood at the altar rail. Just as he was about to press his lips to the relic he fell to the floor in what appeared to be an epileptic fit. Men and women crowded up to the rail. Father Tetreau told them to go back and they went. The priest sprang over the altar rail, with the relic in his right hand. The man on the floor was shaking convulsively. Father Tetreau took the man's right hand in his left hand and touched the relic to it. It is said that the man's convulsions ceased at once, and that he immediately became himself. The young man was Pacific Charbonneau, the 21-year-old son of Amable Charbonneau of 185 East Eighth street. Mr. Charbonneau is a member of St. Jean Baptiste's church. Nine years ago, when the church was established, he was its sexton for a few months.

"My son," he said last night, "has been subject to epileptic fits for nine years. He usually has one every week, and often twice a week. Ordinarily he is prostrated for a long time when he has a fit. On Sunday night he recovered as soon as the relic was applied to him. Whether a permanent cure will be effected I cannot say yet. To-night he had another fit, but it was a comparatively mild one. I believe it was brought on by medicine which he took. I have great faith in the relic." Sunday night's incident has occasioned a lot of talk among Father Tetreau's parishioners. They believe the relic restored young Charbonneau. Father Tetreau himself will not say that he believes the incident was miraculous.

ST. BASIL'S NOVITIATE.

The New Building Which is Ready for Opening Next Month.

The 8th of May was a red-letter day for Catholicism in Toronto, for the cornerstone of St. Basil's Novitiate was laid in St. Claire-avenue, between Spadina-avenue and Bathurst-street, just outside the city limits. St. Basil's Novitiate is to contain a community of English-speaking priests to train them to community life and to the active duties of the priesthood.

The building will be a plain solid structure, able to contain about 20 novices and provided with a chapel, which will serve as a parochial church for the Catholics of the neighborhood. The dimensions are 92x44 feet, with extension 36x24 feet. The architects are Messrs. Post and Holmes.

The services took place at 3.30 p.m. Sunday, May 8, which His Grace the Archbishop performed the ceremony. This is an important event for the Catholics of Toronto and there was a large assemblage to witness the service.

At 2 p.m. the crowd began to gather in St. Joseph street and in the green opposite St. Michael's College. Three bands were present, playing from time to time; uniformed societies were drawn up in order, women and children where there in large numbers, and numerous carriages were drawn up in the street and opposite the college. It was closed upon 3 p.m. when the procession started in the following order:

St. Michael's College students and band. Knights of St. John. St. Alphonsus Society. I. C. U. B. and band. Emerald Beneficial Association. Catholic Order of Foresters. O'Connell Band.

City Board Ancient Order Hibernians. Divisions 1, 2, 3 and 4 of the A.O.H.

There were about 1200 men in line, the Hibernians alone turning out 575. Accompanying the procession were carriages containing the following gentlemen: His Grace Archbishop Walsh, Bishop O'Connor of London, Rev. Fathers Dumouchelle, Welsh, Hayes, La Marche, O'Donoghue, Ryan, Frachon, Grandtief, McBrady, Walsh (of the Grove), Teefy, Vicar-General Rooney, Vicar-General McCann, Flannery (of St. Thomas), Marjion (Provincial of College St. Basil's), Krein, Guinane, Brennan, Murray, Cassidy, Cherrier and Messrs. Macdonnell and Cushing.

The procession over, the Archbishop addressed the people at considerable length. He expressed his thankfulness at this fresh advance and at the number of people who had come so far to witness the ceremonial. He then alluded to the purpose of the new building, that it is to be a house of prayer and study for young men who are about to enter the priesthood. He then considered the question of education, pointing out that there are two theories, the secular and the religious. Under the former the state takes charge of education and can impart no religious training, and the system is accordingly godless, bringing forth frightful fruit in the Anarchy and Socialism that now scourge Europe. Education should be religious, and the Church has always diligently fostered it. Attempts have been made here to deprive her of her privilege, but were they to be successful every priest would have his own parish school built and his children gathered into it.

A collection was then taken up, the people responding liberally. While it was in progress, the audience was addressed by several speakers. The first was Rev. Father Flannery, who gave an interesting account of the beginning of St. Michael's College, 40 years ago, he being interested from the commencement. He was succeeded by Dr. O'Sullivan, one of the earliest pupils, by Rev. Fathers Brennan and Cassidy, and Mr. James Foy, Q.C., who all delivered interesting addresses.

King Humbert Undecided.

ROME, May 6.—The Marquis Di Rudini, the Prime Minister to-day tendered to King Humbert the resignations of all the members of the Cabinet, due to the refusal yesterday of the Chamber of Deputies to adopt a vote of confidence in the Government's financial policy, which included a heavy reduction in the credits to be devoted to military and naval expenditures. The King has not yet accepted the resignation of the Ministry and he is undecided what course to take in the matter.

SATISFACTION IN FRANCE.

PARIS, May 6.—The newspapers hail the Italian crisis with satisfaction, holding that it will break the triple alliance.

DIED.

WARREN—Died in this city, on the 28th inst. Sarah Warren, widow of the late James Warren, contractor, aged 84 years and 9 months. Funeral place from her son's residence, No. 14 Mayor street, on Thursday, the 6th inst. at 7.45 a.m., to St. Patrick's Church, thence to the B. C. Cemetery.

History of the Angelus Bell.

The custom of ringing the Angelus bell in the middle of the day is due, in part, to a remarkable event. In 1458, the city of Belgrade, on the Danube, on the frontier of Turkey, was besieged by the Turks, who kept battering its wall for four months without avail. The Sultan, desperate at seeing so many efforts remain unfruitful, resolved to make a general assault. For twenty hours they fought with unequalled fury, and those who defended the city were exhausted and overcome by a long and obstinate resistance. At that moment there was seen advancing a pious and courageous Franciscan, St. John de Capistran. He presented himself to the soldiers, crucifix in hand, and prayed God and the Blessed Virgin to come to their assistance. This was his prayer: "Alas! powerful Queen of heaven, wilt thou abandon thy children to the fury of the infidels, who never cease to insult and outrage thee? Divine Son? Where is now the God of the Christians?" And praying thus he shed a torrent of tears. Animated by the prayers and tears of the holy man, the Christians darted with prodigious impetuosity on the Turks, who were a ready penetrator into the city, massacred several thousand of them and put the rest to flight. The victory, as glorious as it was unexpected, could only be attributed to the assistance of heaven and especially to the intercession of Mary. At the news of his success Pope Calixtus III. ordained that in all the churches of Christendom solemn thanksgiving should be made to God and the Blessed Virgin. To perpetuate forever the memory of this great benefit, and to inflame more and more the courage of Christians, the same Pope ordained that, in all Catholic countries the bell should be rung for the recitation of the Angelus between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the time when the victory of Belgrade had been obtained over the Turks. In after times the signal was transferred to the hour of noon, the better to divide the day, but the memory of the miraculous protection of the Blessed Virgin was ever associated with it.

"What made Samson weak?" asked the Sunday school teacher. "A homemade hair cut," replied a boy in the front row.

Have you ever noticed the striking obedience of church bells? They always chime when they are tolled.

Mr. Milo Gilson.

A stalwart tinker in the employ of the Glens Falls, N. Y., Lumber Company, says that both he and his wife highly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla.

That

Hood's Sarsaparilla. She failed to gain strength after a severe illness, felt miserable, could not sleep, and had no appetite. When she took Hood's Sarsaparilla she began to pick up, and was soon all right. Her own experience was that in the spring he was all run down, had weakness and distress in the stomach. Hood's Sarsaparilla brought him round all right, and he is now better and heavier than for years past. Thousands, yes almost millions of people, testify to the wonderful value of Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling or weakness of mind, nerves or body. It is the helping hand which restores full health and strength. Mr. John J. Scully, President of the Seamen's Union, 250 Catherine Street, Detroit, Michigan, voluntarily writes as follows: "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. 'Gentlemen: I feel in duty bound to tell of the benefit I derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have been troubled with nervous dyspepsia, was tired and languid, with no ambition to work; my sleep was irregular. So I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. From the very first it seemed to be just the thing for me. The nervous dyspepsia has now entirely gone, my appetite is excellent. I can eat heartily without distress after work; my sleep is regular; I sleep well, and can now go about my work without that tired feeling so frequent before I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have taken six bottles and recommend it as the King of Medicines.'"
