

But many a child has prized them, now grown a stalwart man,

And many more, whose lives were o'er before our lives began;

Then prize you them, dear children, tales told and ballads sung.

In times long past—the old, old days, when grand-mamma was young.

BILLY AND NANNY ; OR, THE TWO GOATS.

These two goats are named "Billy" and "Nanny," and they belong to Ned Baffle's uncle. Billy is a noble fellow, with long bent horns, all rough with wrinkles; while Nanny is smaller, and has short straight horns.

* Observe that when the consonant is doubled, the preceding vowel is pronounced, and is similarly placed in the book, as intended to be pronounced and explained by the pupils before commencing the lesson. They are not designed to constitute an exercise in spelling.—(See Preface.)
