Holunger Hits the Bumps.

There was a sharp recessionary movement in Hollinger, but this was about the only material indication of weakness in the list of either the high or low priced issues. The selling was attributed to a bear raid by interests who were gunning for some stock, and the vulnerability of the security was demonstrated by the manner in which the quotation was reduced under the rather light selling.

The loss incurred by Hollinger ran into 40 points, and an even greater reduction in price was shown in the closing call, when the shares were on offer at $10.18, with the best bid eight points below that quotation. This is the lowest figure reached since the first week in September.

MEANINGLESS HYMNS, the average hymn book must agree that there are too many vague and meaningless verses set to music that is about as destitute of merit as the words themselves and often hardly a single remove from ragtime. Congregational hymn singing has declined in many churches, and the praise part of the service is becoming little mere than brilliant exercise for the choir, in which the congregation has no part. We have sat in churches where more than one half the service was musical and all the congregation had to do was to recite the Lord's Prayer and the cred and join in the doxology. It is a matter for regret that in many denominations the old-style hymn singing has been practically discontinued. Praise should be an important part of worship and the people should have an opportunity to "lift their voices," even if it should involve the sacrifice of a few showy selections by the choir. There is nothing that warms up an audience like ing that warms up an audience like good congregational singing. We believe that more souls have been won by the power of sacred song than most pastors seem to be aware of — "hitstian"

Capt. C. G. Rawling, a member of the British expedition that recently explored Dutch New Guinea, describes what may be the greatest unbroken precipice in the world. It runs, he says for a distance of eighty miles from Mount Carstenz westward to the Charles Louis Mountains. Its greatest sheer height is at Mount Leonard Darwin.

The explorers were never in a position to measure with the theodolite a sheer height of this immense precipice exceeding 6500 feet, but from many views obtained of it while he was climbing Capt. Rawling has no hesitation that the greatest pertion in stating that the greatest per-pendicular height is not less than 10,509 feet or almost exactly two miles.
