Financial Bulletin

New York, Sept. 30—The policy of bullish specialty operations in a sluggish but regularly improving market seem to be likely to be maintained for the present according to information from the manipulative sources responsible for the exhibition of underlying strength. It may be significant that the market advances on bad developments. We continue to suggest that the operation be conservatively followed. Bullishly inclined daily traders may buy on little recessions with stop orders protection, favoring the railroad list, and taking moderate returns on the major portion of holdings on demonstrations of strength.

Political news this morning shows nothing of interest from Rochester and very little is noted from elsewhere. The market seems disposed to ignore the political situation for the present and may have entirely discounted it. We recently called attention to the fact that a dull market discounts much as well as a declining list. The outlook for the bank statement is not good and the money situation may be a little strained for a short time but we think nothing alarming need be expected. Later we should have cheap money and to discount it and good crop advices from the government on October 8 some improvement may be deemed advisable in the stock market. The decline in the price of grain affords a confirmation of the crop conditions which seem to have relieved themselves so as to snatch victory from defeat. The powers do not seem to be doing much. We infer this from the nature of the news, but they are not in opposition to conservative bull work along specialty lines, according to our deductions.

Gibson's Letter

New York, Sept. 30—The technical situation is getting so mixed that it is hard to make anything out of it, but there are two or three indications which point to a decline before the real upturn begins. The possibility of a cut in steel prices and the fear of adverse decisions in the railroad cases are working against prices. Technically the introduction of a great many stop orders on the bull side is a bad factor and from the manipulative point of view some important bulls and bears are working together to bring about a decline. The advantage lies with the bears but if they fail to drive the market down with the ammunition they may want to change before long. No change of position. Would like to buy Con. Gas, Beet Sugar and W. U., against sales of such stocks as St. Paul, Union and B & O. Taking the list as a whole, I think we may expect lower prices. Reading will sell higher before long, but the stock is over played and is not safe just yet. Wheat and corn are good buy on declines. Cotton is a sale on the rallies.

POLICE SHAKE UP IN FREDERICTON

George Foss' Teom of Service Ends Tonight—Man Dead as Result of Kick from a Horse

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 30—(Special)—There has been another shaking up in the Fredericton police force and this time Policeman George Foss is the man to go. He was appointed in April last and was recently promoted to sergeant. It is understood that he objected to serving with A. D. Gunter, a recent appointment, and was asked by the police commission to hand in his resignation. His term of service ends this evening.

John A. Gould, of North Lake, aged thirty-seven, died last week from injuries caused by a kick from a horse. He was a son of Joseph L. Gould, and unmarried.

Miss Lillian M. Pond, daughter of Henry Pond, of Durham, leaves this evening for New Westminster, B. C., where she will be married next week to Roy G. Bird, a former New Brunswicker.

FISH ARE HIGH

Prices For Export and Local Consumption Have Advanced Lately

The failure of the Labrador fisheries has probably been responsible for the high price now obtained for salt fish for export. The Labrador condition has affected the market to such an extent that high prices are paid for export which has forced up the local market. There has been a good supply of all kinds of salt fish except pickled herring and smoked herring and pickled shad. The shad caught are shipped to the United States on account of the high prices that obtain there. Hake fishing has been better in Nova Scotia and Grand Manan, though it has been poorer about Beaver Harbor, and there was not the usual quantity of pollock caught at Campobello this year. Cod oil and hake sounds are high. This latter is sold to the isinglass manufacturers in the United States.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Edward T. Holmes, of Gulfport, Miss., met with a painful accident at the Cushing Mill about 10.30 o'clock this morning. Mr. Holmes, who represents lumber interests in Mississippi, arrived yesterday from Nova Scotia with Mr. Pickles, a Yarmouth N. S. lumberman. They went to the Cushing Mill to look over some lumber and Mr. Holmes was passing from one lumber pile to another on a staging about twenty feet from the ground, when the staging, for some unaccountable reason, collapsed precipitating him to the ground. He was picked up in a partly conscious condition and Dr. M. L. MacFarland, of Fairville, summoned. Though no bones were broken it was found that Mr. Holmes was badly bruised besides receiving a severe shock.

HAS LOCAL COLOR

This week's Canadian Century contains a well written article by Stanley K. Smith, of the Standard staff on New Brunswick as "a happy hunting ground." The article is well illustrated, and is of the sort to make the hunter yearn for a tramp in the forests of New Brunswick. The same issue contains a short story by a writer who signs himself Marvin Leslie, and which deals with an entertaining incident in the life of two St. John newspaper men.

Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Davis returned this morning on the steamer Calvin Austin from a trip to New York.
