The congregation of Queen square Methodist church last night held a reunion in the church school room. The pastor, Rev. G. M. Campbell, presided and short addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Heartz, of Nova Scotia; Rev. Dr. Wilson and others. A solo was sung by Miss Maud Scott and a most enjoyable evening was brought to a close with the serving of cake and coffee.

The York cotton mill was a blaze of lights last night, its new electric light plant being in working order for the first time. This contract, like the previous work in the Conwall mill, was carried out by Frank E. Jones, the son of John B. Jones, liquor license inspector. The contract, which was last night to a score with the serving of cake and coffee. The committee of management of the Glad Tidings Hall has received from the executors of the late Mrs.
