Yachtsmen report that schools of swordfish were seen disporting themselves recently not far from Chester. This ferocious looking inhabitant of the sea has a substantial commercial value, especially in the United States' market. Upwards of a hundred cases, each containing a sword fish have been shipped to Boston within the last fortnight. An interesting contrast could be seen this morning at Boutilier's wharf, on the deck of a newly arrived supply craft, one immense sword fish encumbering the whole deck space of the two masted skiff. This monster with his vicious looking prong weighed five hundred pounds, and close by on the cuddy was a "baby" sword fish of seventy rounds. At Wilson's fish market a sword fish nearly five hundred pounds in weight, was landed early this morning.—Echo.

MISSION AMALGAMATION

IS NOT YET SETTLED Matter Must Again Come Before the New!

Brunswick Association—A Stiff

Brunswick Association—A Sliff

Fight Anilcipated.

The amalgamation of the home mission boards of the three provinces is regarded by members of the Baptist Church as one of the most important matters of business passed upon by the convention which ended its sessions in Halifax two days ago. This will, it is understood, mean the creation of a new board with headquarters either in St. John or Moncton, it being arranged at the convention that the office should blocated in New Brunswick.

Some ten years ago the provinces decided to worle independently in theirhome missions. The separation, in the opinion of many, has not been entirely successful and at the meeting of the New Brunswick boarl a month or so ago a resolution was adopted after a hard fight favoring amalgamation. A committee from New Brunswick met a similar committee from Nova Scotia at Wolfville recently and prepared a report which was later adopted by the convention. This approved the amalgamation of the boards if a satisfactory but is of settlement could be arranged.

The report will come before the New Brunswick is selected him in a very drunk and McCollum swore to having arrested him in a very drunk on Brussels street. He gave the arrest on Brussels there chances to go home but finally had to lock him up very drunk and McCollum swore to having arrested him in a very drunk and McCollum swore to having arrested him in a very drunk and McCollum swore to having arrested him in a very drunk on Brussels street. He gave the anilogace and moth of a new board and the creation of a new board. It is beling arranged at the convention will appoint the new board. It is however, anticipated that a stir fight will take place in the New Brunswick association next year and on it a recommendation will be made to the Maritine convention. If this suggestion is tavorable to amalgamation, the convention will appoint the new board. It is however, anticipated that a stir fight will take place in the New Brunswick association before the material stir fight will take place in strong campaign .

The yacht is only ten tons register, of a splendid model and is fitted up-to-date. The Katrina may go up the St. John river.

Last night in a very interesting game the Violets defeated the Maples by the score of 6-5. Batteries for the Violets, Pratt and Lawson; for the Maples, Elhiott and Cunningham. Elliott was hit very freely and a costly error by M. Howard on third base lost the game.

This afternoon local lodges 'of Knights of Pythias conducted Memorial Day services over the graves of deceased members in Cedar Hill the Methodist ourying ground and Fernhill. Flowers were placed upon the graves of ledge Members with the following tribute:

"In fulfilment of the promise made at thy open grave and because we have a kindly remembrance of thee, in the name of Pythian friendship we bestow these symbols."

The suit is for $335.26 for goods sold and delivered. The defence having failed a set off the case came to trial. When the court arose at one o'clock argument was being heard. Mr. J. Three drunks occupied the prisoners' bench in the police court this morning. Harry McDonald pleaded not guilty to the charge and Policeman McCollum swore to seeing him fighting another man on Brussels street. He was very drunk. Since making the arrest the officer learned that McDonald had used indecent and obscene language to women on Clarence street. His Honor remanded the prisoner until further particulars could be ascertained about the language.

Something interesting is expected to develop at the second trial of George Merrisses this afternoon. The case will be resumed at half past two o'clock, and after the selection of a jury most of the evidence given in yesterday's and after the selection of a jury most of the evidence given in yesterday's trial will be repeated. But there are new facts to be adduced relating to the prisoner's business connection with Free Sucech.

In Bruce McDougal!'s house in Moncton, among the large number of letters seized were several which were apparaths distrated by Merrisses though the seized were several which were apparently dictated by Merrisses though the actual writer is as yet unknown. These related to the disbursement of various sums of money to local correspondents of Free Speech, the money evidently being paid on instructions from McDougall. Merrisses during the first trial control over the business affairs. The paper is, of course, conducted by the publishing company and not by the denomination, and hence the appointment is a matter in which the convention has no authority.
