The liberal convention held at Hamp-ton Saturday afternoon accomplished nothing further than the appointment of a small committee to confer with a similar representation from the liberal party in Albert, as to a joint conven-tion and the adoption of an address to Senator Domville, the president of the Liberal Association of Kings. Sena-tor Domville issued the call for the con-vention, and it' read substantially as follows:

The liberals of the county of Kings, duly assembled in convention that any wish to extend to you their hearty bled in convention this day, wish to extend to you their hearty congratulations upon your appointment to the senate of Canada. We feel that in tendering you the appointment the government duly considered the many valuable services which you have ren-dered the county during your long career as a public man. Not only as a member of the house of commons have your services been conspicuous, but we appreciate your worth as a citizen and one who has always endeavored to promote the growth, happiness and prosperity of the community. That you possess the confidence of the party, as expressed by their selection of your-self to fill the late vacancy in the sen-ate, is an evidence of the desire of the rank and file of the party, and thus to express the good liberal principle that
