"Tut About" is the Very Latest—It Has Captured London and will, it is Expected, Succeed Bridge.

London, May 1.—Tut About — or too tattoo, as the name of the new card game is often misspelled—has arrived.

"I am afraid it is going to be the death of bridge," said a master of the game, in discussing the new game. "People, I know, said that of auction bridge. But auction never really caught on because there is too much of the gambling element in it for the keen bridge player and not enough for the poker player. But Tut About is something entirely new in card games of the whist group. The problems that arise in it are utterly unlike those in any other game. And it is absolutely fair. Clear reasoning, quick deduction and clever play count for more proportionately than in any other game, and luck of the cards for less."

What is it? Briefly, it is played exactly as bridge, except for the scoring and the trumping. As its name implies, every suit is trumps. Instead of "no trumps," it is "all trumps." Of course they are not all trumps simultaneously, but in turn, in the order of their precedence at bridge.

Thus, if hearts are first trumps in a hand, they remain trumps only while there are still any hearts to play. The moment the last heart is out, diamonds become trumps, after them clubs and then spades.

There are two chief variations in the game. In its original form there was no preliminary declaration at all, hearts being always first trumps. But in its latest version, and as generally played now, the dealer has the option of declaring which shall be the first trumps or of leaving the decision to his partner, the other suits following as trumps in their due order. All this sounds as if there were a very little difference from bridge. But in play the two games are utterly distinct. Complications arise that are unknown in bridge, and the method of play that is contrary to every recognized standard.

Thus at the outset a dealer with five hearts to his suit, one small diamond, three clubs to knave, four spades to ace, king, does not declare hearts but spades, for if he declares hearts he will have only one trump suit, as spades will never come in as trumps, and he has no diamonds to count; whereas declaring spades he has two hot lots of trumps—the spades first, followed by the hearts when spades are exhausted—and the chances are that diamonds will never be reached as trumps.

THE RIVER STEAMERS.

The river steamer Elaine left Indiantown yesterday morning with a large freight for Fredericton.

The Champlain arrived from Belle Isle about 1 o'clock. She had on board a small cargo of country produce.

The Bluenoses and Majestic arrived yesterday afternoon from Fredericton. There were no new developments in the Star Line wharf case. Mr. Purdy stated yesterday that he had taken no action in the case, but would look to M. D. Austin, from whom he leased the wharf to hand it over to him.

L. A. Curry stated that he would retain the wharf until moved by the sheriff. He stated that he has a lease of the wharf and will remain there.

Indiantown Wharf Award.

The arbitrators appointed some time ago to decide on the award to be paid by D. J. Purdy to Miss Porter, in connection with the taking over of Star Line wharf at Indiantown, have made their decision, and they name $7,500 as the amount to be paid. The award is signed by the three arbitrators, D. C. Clark, F. Roberts and Isaiah Holder. The old award was for $2,550 and it was set aside on the ground that the wharf was never valued, as it should have been under the terms of the lease. Dr. L. A. Curry, K. C., appeared for Miss Porter, Basil Bull, Esq., for the Star Line, and Recorder Baxter drew up the award for the arbitrators.
