

THE GERMANS CONTINUE TO GAIN HERE AND THERE

ENEMY REACHES VIGNEMONT, SIX MILES FROM US START

French Launch Counter Attacks on Left of Line, Which May Be Indication That They Have Reached the Front Where They Will Make Final Stand—Battle Enters Critical Stage and Allied Lines From Oise To Marne Seriously Threatened.

Moving with steadiness, in spite of the frightful losses inflicted upon them, the Germans in their plunge southward on the line from Noyon to Mont Didier continue to gain here and there in the centre of the line, where their greatest efforts have been exerted, and where the French resistance might have been expected to be most stubborn. The enemy's greatest advantage is at Vignemont, six miles from the line as it stood last Saturday.

The French have launched counter-attacks on the left of their line, which may be an indication that they have reached the front where they will make their final stand. The line seems to be along the Arende river, a small stream flowing west and northwest from the Oise and roughly paralleling the line of the advance.

Limit of Advance.

The Germans, according to the official statement issued by the French war office, reached the vicinity of this stream. This marked the limit of their advance, however, and the French immediately attacked and drove the enemy back to the line passing through Belloy, south of St. Maur, south of Marquennes and Vandeleucourt. The village of Mory, west of Belloy, was retaken by the French on Monday night.

This part of the battle front, however, is apparently not the most menacing to the French. It is further east that the Germans seem to be making their most telling gains. Here along the right bank of the Oise, which flows through Anteval, a village which lies on the crest of the hills above the important town of Ribecourt, the French have been unable to prevent the Germans from crossing the Oise south of Compiègne.

French Strong Points.

This movement has not resulted, as yet, according to reports, in the withdrawal of the French lines east of the Oise from the Ourcamp and Carlepout forests, strong positions from which the French defended their positions in the earlier attempts of the Germans to cross the Oise south of Compiègne.

The battle in the new area may now be considered as having definitely entered its critical stage, as in the Somme, Flanders, and Alsace combats the third and fourth days of offensive were most menacing to the Allies. It is operation in which the Germans are now engaged constitutes a very serious blow at the Allied lines from the Oise to the Marne, as well as threatening the level country in the rear of the present battle lines.

More Resistance.

Before that can be reached, however, the Germans may encounter even greater resistance than they have overcome since their offensive began on Sunday.

The only other operation of significance was carried out by Australians on the British front at Morcourt, east of Amiens. Here the British advanced to a depth of half a mile over a front of a mile and a half. More than two hundred prisoners were captured by the British.

BLINDED BY INDIGESTION

And Tortured by Headache—Spells Became More and More Frequent Until Cure Was Found.

Ingonish Beach, N. S. Mar. 27—Chronic indigestion is hard to get rid of because the treatments used aim to relieve rather than at removing the cause. This letter shows how the trouble develops from constipation until the digestive system is upset, the food ferments, and headaches and blinding dizzy spells result.

In this case cure was effected by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Mrs. Donovan writes that she has never had a headache since. This seems to be conclusive evidence of the thoroughness of the cure.

Mrs. John J. Donovan, Ingonish Beach, N. S., writes: "I wish to speak a word or two in praise of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I was troubled for years with sick headache and constipation, and was so bad that when the pain would attack me, I would get blind, would have to drop everything and go to bed. These pills used to come very frequently—sometimes as often as twice a week. I read in Dr. Chase's Manual of his Kidney-Liver Pills, and decided to try them. I hadn't used this medicine long until I was completely cured. I have never had a headache since, and feel that I cannot speak too highly in praise of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. You cannot expect such results from substitutes and imitations, so be sure to see the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., on the box you buy.

CONGRATULATE SIR DOUGLAS HAZEN ON KNIGHTHOOD

Chief Justice Makes Happy Reply To Barristers At Session of Appeal Division of the Supreme Court.

Federickton, June 11—The June sitting of the Appeal Division, supreme court, began here this morning. On account of the recent change in the order of business there was a large attendance of barristers.

W. A. Ewing, K. C., president of the Barristers' Society congratulated the chief justice, Sir Douglas Hazen, who, with Judge White and Judge Grimmer, was on the bench, upon the honor of knighthood being conferred upon him.

Mr. Ewing made reference to the illness of Lady Hazen and expressed the hope that she soon would be restored to health and long spare with Sir Douglas the honor conferred upon him. Sir Douglas thanked the barristers for the kind sentiments expressed. He greatly appreciated the feeling referred to by Lady Hazen. He was pleased to be able to say that she was rapidly recovering. He hoped that she and himself would long be spared to enjoy the honors recently conferred. His relations with the members of the bar always had been most cordial and he was pleased to hear the expression of good will towards himself. He had received congratulatory messages from within the province, from other parts of the Dominion and from outside Canada but that which came closest to him was that from the members of the profession with which he had been identified all his life. He hoped the bar would continue to give him the assistance which it had in the past and that the cordial feeling would always remain.

The business of the court was then taken up. In the King v. Robert Kierstead, crown case reserved. Fidelity morning at ten o'clock was fixed for argument, on motion of the attorney-general.

GERMAN CAPTAIN SPARES WHALERS

Captain of One American Schooner Makes Strong Appeal and U-Boat's Commander Decides Not To Sink Vessels.

New Bedford, Mass., June 11—Three New Bedford whaling vessels have escaped being sunk through a strong plea of Capt. Gonsalves of the schooner Nicholas.

"The submarine glided alongside the schooner Nicholas," said Capt. Gonsalves, "and then shot across my bows. I gave him the American flag but he didn't answer, and submerged."

"I had not sailed very far when up came the submarine again, and I gave him the American flag again. This time the submarine gave me back the German flag with another flag underneath it, and ordered us to heave to at once."

"He gave us a gun across our bows and we were not long in going into the wind and dropping our boats. We put all our crew, 25 men, into two whaleboats and, according to instructions, pulled alongside the sub, after pulling alongside our vessel for some time."

Talks With The Captain
"The submarine steamed alongside my boats and her captain sang out, 'What is your vessel doing?'"

"Catching sperm whales," I replied. "Catching any other fish," he asked me, and I told him we were not. "For God's sake, captain," I said, "don't sink this vessel! I am a poor man and it will ruin me, as I am a big owner in her."

"With that, the officer laughed, and said he would report to the captain. He saluted another officer, who proved to be the captain, who hailed me and said, 'Don't you know it is a poor time to buy vessel property when people are at war?'"

"I bought this craft before the war started," I answered. "The German captain caught sight of the Ellen A. Swift, whaling a little ways from me on Hatteras ground and he asked me what the craft was and what she was doing. I told him it was a whaler, like us, and he waved his hand at me and said, 'You get aboard your vessel and get home as quick as you can and tell the other vessel to join in with you, and don't you let me catch you out this way again.'"

BIG MACKEREL CATCH

Special to The Standard.
Yarmouth, N. S., June 11—There was a good catch of mackerel today and it is said the fish is appearing in large numbers all along the shore from Fort Maitland eastward. The traps had about 300 barrels and the local netters and seiners all made good hauls. On account of the poor shipping facilities a large portion of the catch is being salted.

FREE LOVE DOCTRINE PREVAILS IN RUSSIA

Mrs. Pankhurst Tells of Regulations Bolsheviki Have Put in Force.

New York, June 11—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, now in America, states that all parties in Russia except the Bolsheviki are in favor of joining with the Allies.

She had come directly from France and had with her a copy of La Liberte of May 2, giving quotations from the Bolsheviki organ, the Ievrestra, upon the party's work in the "socialization of women." This has already been carried out in Saratov, and is being organized in other places. It provides, she says, that all girls of 18 and over are public property and are compelled to register in the free love department of the Bureau of Public Assistance, where they may choose a mate from among the citizens of 18 to 50, or they themselves be chosen by men having the same privilege, regardless of previous marriage.

"VENUS" COTE WHO DRESSED AS MAN NOT A MARTYR

Was Not Sent To Penitentiary For Appearing in Male Attire, But Got Five Years For Being a Thief.

Kingston, Ont., June 11—It transpires that the Cote girl, popularly known as "Venus" Cote, is not serving two years in Portmouth Penitentiary for wearing male attire, as was first reported. The story was that she was sent to the penitentiary for two years for posing as a man while working as a log driver on the Restigouche River and on the strength of this, application has been made to the Department of Justice for her release.

The facts of the case are that the girl was sent up for five years for theft, she having broken into a house and stolen a quantity of silverware, clothing, etc. In addition, she broke jail after her arrest, and was not captured for several days. At present she is confined at the Women's Prison at Kingston, and she seems to be very quiet, for one of her peculiar disposition. She will be taught to sew and do other female work, but at the present time she scarcely knows what a thimble is for.
