Arrest Expected in Mailing of Deadly Fudge to Chicago
Hospital.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Miss Helen Rosenfeld, nurse at the West End Hospital, who with five others is in a serious condition from eating candy poisoned with cyanide of potassium today gave postal inspectors the name of a man in Italy, the candy. Postal inspectors admitted they had information that will lead to an arrest.

The sending of the candy with a note anonymously signed "From an admirer" recalls the address as 125 South Union street, a lumber yard. He was fired and discharged.

Later, Frank Bregl, proprietor of a restaurant, received a letter offering $10,000 to him if he would kill the doctor's wife. Bregl gave the letter to the police, who have been searching for the anonymous author.

Postal authorities believe a man was the sender, because it is said the drawing address on the package is of a masculine hand. Police believe the theory of the revengeful candy is not in the section of the candy.

The theory advanced by Dr. Breakstone is that Miss Rosenfeld was an Austrian refugee and at one time a captive of the "Reds" there, and some one had followed her to America to seek her life. Miss Rosenfeld, however, was not an Austrian.

The nurses who were poisoned were Alma Dorfman, Daisy Casey, Theresa Anna Ruble, Helen Rosenfeld and Helen Leslie.

Traffic Cases In Police Court

Another "traffic law session" was held in the police court Saturday morning. There were five cases before the court, one was dismissed and the others were postponed.

A case against Royden Thomson, charged with exceeding the speed limit, was dismissed as the defendant was unable to establish the fact that his car was in the section of the city where the alleged violation occurred, at the time stated in the report.

A case against O. W. Wood, charged with driving a taxi as a jitney, was postponed to enable the license to be produced.

A case against Eric Thomson for exceeding the speed limit on Prince Edward street, was reported by Sgt. McEwen. Mr. Thomson pleaded not guilty and his case along with that of Charles Bishop charged with not having a proper license, was allowed to stand till Monday.

Two trunks were brought before the court by Trust Officer McMahon, and were allowed to go after a severe reprimand.

Afternoon Tea Largely Attended

A largely attended and very delightful afternoon tea was held on Saturday by the St. Andrew's Church Ladies Benevolent Society in the Lecture Room of the Sunday School. Here, Mrs. Robert A. Watson, president of the society, presided over the tea.

The St. Andrew's Sunday School orchestra were present and rendered many pleasing selections during the afternoon.

Obituary

Mrs. Mary E. Pardy.
The death of Mrs. Mary E. Pardy, widow of Dr. Simeon Pardy, of Anaheim, took place suddenly early yesterday morning at the residence of Mrs. F. Watson, 129 Charlotte street, after a long illness. She was 78 years of age and was a native of New York. She was married to Dr. Pardy in 1880 and they had three children. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. H. H. Flood, who is at present in Anaheim on a visit. A short service was held last night at the residence conducted by Rev. J. V. Young and the body will be taken on the early train this morning to Anaheim for burial.

St. John High Won U.N.B. Rugby Team From Fredericton Defeated Moncton

Hard Fought Football Game
Played at Rothesay Resulted in Score of 6-0.

With cheering and jubilation the St. John High School football team, accompanied by a frenzied band of red and grey cheerleaders, swept into town Saturday evening after defeating Fredericton High School by a score of 6 to 0 on the college field at Rothesay.

St. John was back at her old place at the head of the Inter-School football game, and her supporters, confident she will remain there for the rest of the season, celebrated the fact right royally. Headed by the traditional jazz band of brass, tin whistles, and harmonica, with cow-bell and horns, the team, the cheerleaders, and the line and headed for up-town, where after a triumphant march they rounded up at the "imp" for the second half.

There the rest of the playgoers were let know in no unmistakable fashion the fortunes of the day. As is witnessed by the score, the game was a hard fought one, and it was largely due to the superior combination of her half line, and some stellar kicking by Fraser at full back at critical moments, that the St. John boys won out.

The first scoring was made within a few minutes of the opening play, when McInerney blocked a kick from Currie of Fredericton on the twenty yard line, and in a brilliant run took the ball over for St. John's first try.

The position was a somewhat difficult one, and the try, unconverted, was fairly even during the rest of the period neither team being able to score.

The second half was marked with considerable kicking into touch by both teams, but Fraser outshined the rest of the field in this department. St. John was up on their opponent's five yard line twice but failed to go over.

The Fredericton team showed to advantage, and the St. John team, roller squad, weakened by the absence of Fox one of their star forwards, with but two minutes to go, the capital boys had the ball on the St. John five yard line, and with every eye on the machine working well, all things pointed to a tie game.

The ball came out of the St. John end of the scrum however, and was passed to Murphy who made a brilliant twenty yard run, then passed to the other halves, St. John's combination was working fine and the second touch of the game was made with the ball going from Murphy to Williams, to McInerney, who again scored for his team. The position was a difficult one, and Fraser failed to convert, the whistle blew for time, thus ending the game. N. R. Desbriay referred to the satisfaction of both teams.

The line-up of the two teams follows:
St. John Fredericton

Fraser	Full Back	Hickson
Murphy	Half Back	Wilson
McInerney	Quarter	Curry
Campbell	Forward	Dumpley
W. Williams	Forward	McCauley
Williams	Quarter	McCordick
Walsh	Forward	Davidson
Wilson	Forward	Daggot
Burns	Forward	McLennan
McMurray	Forward	Stirling
McInerney	Forward	McInerney
Love	Forward	McInerney
Atkinson	Forward	McInerney
Ellman	Forward	McInerney

Spares for St. John: Peter Watson, Fred McInerney, and Fredrick Blinn. Osham and Watson.

League Standing

Team	Won	Lost
St. John	3	1
Fredericton	1	2
Rothesay	1	1

St. John will play Rothesay next Saturday, in the last game for the season of the St. John team. If she wins the game she takes the league. Rothesay is to play a return game with Fredericton at the capital on the 4th or 5th. Should Rothesay team defeat St. John, but lose to Fredericton, the league will be tied. If both the coming games go to the white and blue, then the trophy will take up its abode on the college hill.

Canadian Games Played Saturday

Toronto, Oct. 23.—The University of Toronto British rugby team defeated the McGill (Montreal) fifteen Saturday afternoon by a score of two tries, six points to nothing in the first time and some series between the two universities.

Arguments on Tigers 18
Hamilton, Oct. 23.—In a match that was not only closely contested from the start, but was one of the roughest matches of the rugby season, thus far, the Argonauts, of Toronto, yesterday defeated the Tigers of this city, by a score of 19 to 12.

Ontario, Oct. 23.—Ottawa Senators defeated the Montreal A. A. rugby team here yesterday afternoon by the wide margin of 28 to 7.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—The Quebec college rugby championship bubble was exploded at the McGill Stadium Saturday when McGill University smothered the Presbyterians under a score of 35 to 0.

VICTORY FOR BLUENOSE IN FIRST INTERNATIONAL RACE

Completed Fifty Miles in Four Hours, Thirty-Three Minutes
Five Seconds—Gloucesterman Twelve and Half Minutes
Behind—Elsie Lost Foretopmast—Canadian Skipper
Showed Sportsmanship by Evening on Sail.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 23.—Canada won the first race of the series of two out of three to decide the ownership for the coming year of the Halifax Herald's International Fishermen's trophy, Saturday afternoon, when Blunose, Captain Angus Walters, her seamen swept across the finish line before a twenty-five knot breeze with the American defender Elsie, Captain Marty Walsh, her foretopmast gone but still doggedly lunging her stay-sail three miles astern.

Averaged Eleven Knots.
The challenger had maintained an average speed of eleven knots in order to turn the trick, having completed the fifty mile of actual water race through in four hours, thirty-three minutes, five seconds. The Elsie required just twelve minutes and thirty seconds more time to finish. Tomorrow the Gloucesterman, fitted with a new maintopmast and her original foretopmast which strangely enough happened to be in Halifax, replacing that which went by the board Saturday, will attempt to even the series with the larger and more powerful boat.

Saturday was Blunose's day. It was a smothering western tide at one time registered about thirty knots that drove the bigger and beamier Lunenburg schooner to victory.

Each skipper worked his ship for the last inch of speed that was in her. The difference was in the schooner's and as Marty said himself, after the race, the best boat in the weather of the day won.

Good Windward Work
As usual, it was windward work that told the tale. The first three legs gave a reach, a run and another reach. The down-homer, with larger sail spread and longer water-line, though the better of it off the wind, though the schooner maneuvered her ship as to threaten for a while to make up for this disadvantage. On the wind, for the fourth leg of the course it was a different story.

Here the Canadian vessel, though kicking up her customary high haycock of foam forward and heeling sharply to the wind, was in her element. She life into the wind in surprising fashion and demonstrated a marked superiority over the defender on the point of sailing in this kind of weather.

While Blunose, under four towers, had her lee scuppers decidedly awash, the Yankee fisherman, with more proportionate ballast was stiff as a house.

Lost Foretopmast.
All of which explains Elsie's mishap the loss of her foretopmast on the third leg to windward. Realizing that his vessel could comfortably carry more sail than usual, he hit the schooner with all the sail she wanted. The boat took it kindly and valiantly bore the spread of canvas. But there was a weak link in the rigging. As a schooner the port foretopmast stay, an aged wire, snapped.

Under four towers and maintopmast, the boats thrashed to windward, and there was no doubt of the superiority of the Blunose in a strong breeze and with a moderate sea. The Blunose now stood up stiffly and boldly, and the schooner, though the wind closer than her rival, in the windward work the Blunose increased her lead by eight minutes, passing the inner automatic time minutes ahead of the schooner.

Once around this buoy, the schooner had an easy reach up the harbor, the Blunose crossing the finish line 12-13 minutes ahead of the Gloucesterman.

The official time at the finish was: Blunose, 1:33:05; Elsie 1:45:55.

Big American College Games

Chicago Beat Princeton; Yale Won from Army; Harvard Tied Penn—Other Results.

New York, Oct. 23.—The big three Harvard, Yale and Princeton, engaged in bitter gridiron struggles yesterday, and for the second time this season the last mentioned came to grief. Princeton presented a weak defense and a poor offensive against University of Chicago and lost 9 to 0. It was the first time in Eastern football history that an opposing team from the west had triumphed over one of the big three.

Some 70,000 spectators at the Yale Bowl saw the Bulldog turn back the Army 14 to 7. The first three-quarters of this game was all Yale, but in the final period, with French in the back field for the Army, Yale was compelled to fight to hold its lead.

Harvard found a mighty foe in Penn State and stood off defeat by a hair, the game ending 21 to 21. The stadium at Cambridge was filled for the occasion and the crowd saw a gruelling battle. Penn State's plunging, tricky eleven gave the Crimson a fight and was working for victory when the final whistle sounded.

Pittsburgh surprised Syracuse by its offensive and won 36 to 0, and Cornell ran true to the dope against Colgate, winning 31 to 7.

From Cow-Puncher To Leading Jockey

Laverne Fator Learned the Art of Riding Aboard Range Ponies in Idaho.

Four years ago a lean kid of 17 was punching cattle on the Idaho plains. Today that same kid is the talk of the turf. You can't talk horses for five minutes before the kid's name is dragged into the conversation.

Laverne Fator's the boy. His great riding this year has won recognition for him as one of the best jockeys on the track. He rode three winners to the wire in a day and thinks nothing of it.

Most of the classy jockeys are graduates of race horse stables, inculcated early with racing atmosphere and carefully developed by stable owners. This is a raw cowboy steps in and with only a short training camp in the gravel.

Fator, however, comes by racing naturally. Both his father and grandfather were jockeys.

Stuart Polk, the Montana horseman, "discovered" Fator. He saw that the boy, although raw, had the makings of a find in him and offered him $10 a month and his board to go to Cuba and ride for him.

Fator snapped it up, of course. That thirty bucks looked like big money to him.

His first mount fell in a race—a disappointing start. But he soon got to be going and won nearly a score of races in Cuba.

Polk's horses weren't fast enough to furnish competition on the eastern tracks, but he realized that Fator had the goods and didn't want to hold the boy back. So when S. C. Eldridge, owner of a stable of topnotchers, offered 15,000 berries for Fator's contract, Polk agreed. That was in 1918.

Just to celebrate the change of employer, Fator a few days afterward won three races in one day, one the Mount Vernon handicap, for $3,000, on Lucille.

Fator says the old cow-punching days were largely responsible for his success.

"Thinking clearly and quickly is one of the jockey's greatest needs," he says. "And three years on a cow pony's back gave me a mighty clear head."

"In the Hildreth stable I got a chance on the best horses in training. I'm satisfied, and have just renewed my contract for several more years."

Babe Ruth with Baltimore wasn't a success.

Games Played In Nova Scotia

Caledonia Defeated Dominion—Wanderers' Senior and Juniors Won.

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 23.—Caledonia of the Cape Breton football league, defeated Dominion No. 14—0 Saturday at Dominion No. 6.

Games in Halifax.
Halifax, Oct. 23.—Wanderers' senior and junior rugby teams defeated the Crescents' teams here yesterday 15-0 and 12-0, in the second afternoon's play of the Halifax city rugby league.

Dalhousie University team defeated a picked fifteen from the Canadian Navy 11-0 in a game played as a feature of Dalhousie field day.

great star. He didn't shine especially in the National League, for his batting average there was only .231. It wasn't until he began to put in a lot of deep study on the psychology of hitting some runs that he really began to get some place. And now, Well, two world records for home runs in two consecutive seasons is not so bad.

You'll find it true of all the rest of those who head the survival of the sports fittest list. Look Jim Barnes, winner of the national open golf championship at Washington last summer, never had an easy time with a maul. He has chased championship matches for years, and never won. But in between he hunted up the keenest of competition and gradually built himself up until he copped. Dan Ghea is much like Barnes. He worked hard, and here there at this and at-and finally grabbed off the Championship of the Dueschbols, or all-round track and field athlete title.

It's the same with 'em all—Mrs. Mollie Burstedt Mallory at tennis, Jack Dempsey in the ring, or even the trotter, Peter Manning, on the track. Champions are born, yes. But not born champions.
