CHRISTMAS SALE AND BAZAR A GREAT SUCCESS

St. Louis R. C. Hall Scene of Most Pleasing Event.

WILL CONCLUDE TO-NIGHT

St. Louis R. C. Hall was the scene of an immense gathering yesterday afternoon and evening, the occasion being a Xmas sale of useful Christmas gifts, homemade baking etc. and the spacious hall was packed to suffocation with a crowd of eager buyers and the heavy of young ladies in the different booths had a real busy session of it indeed. From the time the doors opened until late in the evening the crowd jostled one another good naturedly and there were few indeed, who returned home without some of the good things offered for sale. On glancing around the hall one could not help but be struck with the artistic ability of the ladies who had the affair in charge.

Tastefully arranged along the side were to be seen beautifully decorated fancywork, refreshment, home-made baking, flowers, candy, Xmas gifts, 10 cent articles, and vegetable booths and it was a tired but happy bunch of clerks when the proceedings were concluded. On the stage were toys, dolls, teddy bears, fancy cushions and other articles arranged in shelves and the turning of the wheel of fortune designated the lucky ticket holder. Back of the stage, the two school rooms were utilized as dining-rooms, and the excellent menu provided could not help but please the most exacting. The ladies having the affair in charge are to be congratulated in their great success, and no doubt a large crowd will be in attendance this afternoon and evening when the pleasing function will conclude. Tonight the prize drawing for a beautiful Xmas table donated by J. Leto and Son will take place.

It is hard to figure out anything but a high market for steel products for some time to come. Everything has pointed that way for some time back and things are working out true to form. Production is not at the same stage of efficiency as before the strike. The individual effort on the part of the employee is not the same. In many cases he has been given employment for the moral effect of the employment upon the strikers. He has been spoiled as a good producer.

Again, although the Steel Corporation may set its face against a higher price schedule there is nothing to hold back the jobs. The premium business is beginning to flourish now, and by the spring it seems certain that it will be flourishing still more. Some of the dealers also have a suspicion that certain mills will not be inclined to ship as rapidly as they might in the hope that prices will be on a firmer level later on, and they may be able to retard their outgoing material to get caught in this favorable tide.

As far as Canadian industry is concerned the situation is not favorable for the immediate future. There are many places where there have been no shipments coming in for the last six weeks. Dealers contend that they have retired from the market in certain much-wanted lines, but the effect is much the same. They are so hopelessly overbooked that their delivery schedule swings away into the second quarter of next year in many cases.

Machine tool dealers face much the same situation. With them it is largely a matter of getting the goods they can sell. There are special machines being bought out and out on the market in the States which are well suited for work that is being done in this country, but there is no chance at all of the Canadian dealers getting any of them because the capacity of the plant making them is in many cases sold out for a year in advance.

Coppers are weaker this week, and so is brass. Other lines in the scrap metal market are fairly firm but there is not much business moving. The Christmas season is always more or less dull with sales away off, and this year is no exception.

Defendant Presented His Case

When the charge of assault and taking $5 from Richard Trupp, preferred against David Bush, several weeks ago in Trupp's livery barn, was heard in police court, the defendant as on the last occasion denied that he was guilty of the charge. The same substance of the defendant's evidence was the claim that the Trupp owed the place a rug and that he (Bush) asked for this rug and to be paid for it. The accused after some argument paid him $5. Bush had also stated that he had made up his mind not to let Trupp out and he had tied him to a ladder, later releasing him.

NOT WORRYING ABOUT SEATS

Drury Denies Rumors of Negotiations For Withdrawals of Members.

(Special to Record.)

Toronto, Nov. 27.—"I have not approached any one with regard to securing seats for myself, Hon. Manning Doherty or Hon. W. E. Raney," stated Premier Drury to-day with reference to various reports that offers had been made to Liberal and Conservative M.P.'s in order to have them withdraw from the legislature. No advances have been made either to Mr. Doherty or Mr. Raney.

The Premier added that Mr. Doherty was not put to the necessity of such negotiation as had been reported in order to secure a seat. He stated that the Minister of Agriculture had for some time at his disposal offers of certain U. P. O. seats which could not but be considered safe. Seats had been offered all the ministers who are not at present M. L. A.'s he stated. Mr. Doherty himself considers the reported Muskoka and Durham offers, made by him or on his behalf, as a joke. "The newspapers are searching all over the country to find me a seat," he laughed. "If they never get any closer to the mark than they have up to the present, I won't have any cause to worry."

in the middle, the Yale eleven didn't know what to expect. Suddenly the two Harvard groups started to run at top speed for a distance of twenty-five yards in the direction of the Yale center. The ball was concealed until the wedge cut a wide gap in the Blue line, when it was passed to the lone back, also speeding straight ahead.

It was a spectacular play and created a great deal of discussion at the time, but never proved a winner.

In its fifty years of play, football has endeared itself to every college student. With the absence of professional football, the love of the game has become a school sport.

Deland planned the "flying wedge" with much secrecy and when Harvard players were assembled two groups on opposite sides of the field, with one man standing
