To the person who handed in my sunglasses to the front desk at the library on Monday. Thank you, Judy Maillet.

To the mystery pianist at James Dunn Hall: At or around 11 PM on Monday night I was cursing my workload and praying for relief. Then you started to play. For the half-hour you played I was whisked away from my troubles and was able to study with a smile on my face. You sound great! Keep up the good work. Thank you for sharing your gift with me and anyone else present on Monday night. I only wish I could play the bass as well as you play the piano. . .
