

A View of Guelph from Homewood

A VIEW of Guelph from the Homewood lawns makes two things at once apparent—the apparent nearness and the real distance of the city, owing to the course of the River Speed, which holds the grounds of the Homewood inviolate from the steps of the would-be intruder. It would be impossible to secure a more complete privacy, or a more pleasant seclusion than is enjoyed amongst the grassy slopes, shaded walks and the lovely lawns of the Homewood Sanitarium. Here you feel the perfect charm of refined seclusion; here you feel that while the world is near, you are sheltered from its grosser side. It is perfect peace, perfect rest. It is the Homewood.
