

higher there is a
the Bay kill the
the foreland hand
are low toward
it full as those on
scape of this Nor-

the River of the
which fought against Tadousac; and

who drinking
his wood there
upon their Nations
to of the dead, to
great fault among
with their ships
Chinamen of danc
n a Sagamo wh
and another, wh
felous to fight in
they made man
moner, as they
then stripped the
their Canoes the
one another with
they whistled Commendity the
the French.

the said moneth
which come from Sagamos had to be
monstrous, for
small like aban
tion, and when the
vehicle is a few
be very valiant
Sagamos de par
re part then, I
ry high Mount
; and there is a
the foot of a
ababrow if did
pe-dollre legent
work a little way
to of a black p
in the said Myne
which another
they whistled in
monstrous that
to play: and the
of another deap
presented to
the the miry
and we can see
the vessel they
in the Myne
the few
to be in motion in
the Riders, wh
and shirre in
the River, and
and there are
small Rivers

goth toward the Mountaine of the painting. All these Rivers fall into the said Bay on the South-east part, nere about the said Ile which the Sagamos say there is of this white Metall. On the North side of the said Bay are the Mynes of Copper, where there is a good Haven for ships, and a small Hand at the mouth of the Hauens the ground is Oze and Sand, where a man may run his ship on shore. From the said Myne to the beginning of the mouth of the said Rivers is some six or eight leagues by Land. But by the Sea Coast, according to my judgement, from the pidge of the Ile of Saint Lawrence and the Penne Land, it cannot be past six or sixtie leagues in the said Myne. All this Countrey is exceeding faire and flat, wherein are all sorts of trees, which we saw as we went to the first Sault up the great River of Canada, very small store of firre-trees and Cypresses. And this of a truth is as much as I learned and heard of the said Monsieur Priour.

A good Haven
at the Copper Mynes.

Before we departed from Tadousac, to returne into France, one of the Sagamos of the Moun-Dayners named Techourat, gave his Sonne to Monsieur du Puy to carrie him into France, and he was much recommended vnto him by the Great Sagamo Anadabijou, praying him to vse him well, and to let him see that, which the other two Sagamos had seene which we had brought backe againe. We prayed them to giue vs a woman of the Iroquois, whom they would haue cam: whom they gaue vnto ys, and we brought her home with the foresaid Sagamo. Monsieur de Priour in like manner brought home foure Sagamos, one man which is of the South Coast, one woman and two children of the Canadiens.

Their returne:
chap. 13.

The foure and twentieth of August, we departed from Jacques, the ship of the said Monsieur Priour and out. The second of September, we counted that wee were as farre as Cape de la. The fift day of the said moneth we entred vpon the Banke, whereon they vse to fish. The moneth, we were come into the Sounding, which may be some fiftie leagues distant from the Point. The twentieth of the said moneth we arriued in New Haven by the grace of God to all contentments, with a continuall favourable wind.

Cape de la.
The Banke.
The sounding,
Point.

