Breaking and Entering.

This is a true story of a man and his wife who went to a party, and drove home at two o'clock in the morning. The husband had, of course, a latchkey, and had told the servant not to sit up. It was a cold night, and when they reached the house he said to his wife:

"You sit in the carriage while I run up and open the door."
He hurried up the steps and felt for his key. It was gone, or rather as it proved afterwards, he had never taken it at all. So, after fruitless searching, he began ringing the bell. He rang it for five minutes for ten. No one came. He was slowly congealing, and his wife, in the carriage, began to shiver.

"It's no use," he called to her, finally. "You sit still, and I'll go round the back way and break in."
He sought the dark alley at the back and with Spartan disregard of his party clothes, scaled the high board fence and dropped into his own yard. He smashed a pane of glass, lifted the window and crawled into the dark kitchen. Not familiar with those lower regions, he stumbled about, hitting the wall like a beetle in a summer night, but finally found the back stairs, and mounted them to the hall above.

"Saved!" he muttered, for he had reached the front hall and the front door. He opened the door.

"All right," he called cheerily to his wife, ran down the steps to help her out, and banged the door behind him! Then a wiser man, he began at A and did his burglarious work all over again.

The Young Man's Chances To-day.

"A young man of capacity, industry and integrity has a field for individual effort such as has never before existed in this country," writes Edward Bok of "The Times and the Young Man," in "The Ladies' Home Journal." "And success is neither harder nor easier than it ever was. Success never yet came to the lagard, and it never will. Let a young man be capable; have enterprise, be willing to work, and carry himself like a man, and he goes where he will. His success depends upon himself. No times, no conditions, no combinations of capital can stop a young man who has determination to honorably succeed, and who is willing to work according to the very utmost of his capacity and sinews of strength. The real trouble is that the average young man won't work. He has gotten the insane notion into his head that success comes by luck; that men are made by opportunities which either come to them or thrust upon them. And he waits for luck or a change to come along and find him. Instead of taking a sane view of conditions and seeing with a clear mind that as trade widens opportunities increase, he takes the mistaken view that the rich are getting richer and the poor poorer. These are the conditions of mind and life which are keeping thousands of young men down. The times are all right. It is the young man who finds fault with them who is not."

A Plethora of Shirts.

An Irishman, who had but recently arrived in this country, applied to a Scotchman for a job. The Scotchman decided to give him a trial—also a little advice. "It will be your own fault if you don't get ahead in this country, Pat," said the Scotchman. "Twenty years ago I landed in New York with but one shirt to my back, but since then, by my own exertions, I have managed to accumulate a million shirts!" "Faith, an' O'd loike to be ather knowin' what my man wants with a million shirts!" exclaimed Pat. "He can't wear more than two at a time, begorra."

Taking No Chances.

"Yes; he has proposed by letter," she explained. "Now, do you think I ought to mail my answer immediately or keep him in suspense for a while?"
"Mail it!" exclaimed her dearest friend in a tone that had a trace of spitefulness in it. "If I were you I'd telegraph it, and there were emphasis put on 'if I were you' that came near breaking a friendship that had extended for several years."

How to Beautify the Neck.

Absolute cleanliness is one of the requisites of a pretty neck. A thorough soaking in warm water and a pure soap should be given at least once a day, then a rinsing in cold water to close the pores. Tincture of benzoin added to the water will have a whitening effect on the skin.

Causes of Comfort.

Pettied Wife—This old-fashioned chair is delightfully antique, but very uncomfortable. I don't see how your mother could like it.
Husband (mildly)—I presume she was usually tired when she sat down.

Peace Offering Expected.

Mrs. Newell—I feel sure that Alfred will bring me a lovely present from the city to-day.
Miss Constance—An anniversary or birthday, dear?
Mrs. Newell—Oh, dear, no! But we had such a dreadful quarrel this morning.

By Her Own Hand.

Mamma—What did you learn at cooking school to-day?
May—There wasn't any session to-day; teacher was sick.
Mamma—The grip, I suppose?
May—No, ma'am, indigestion.

Circumstances Altered Cases.

Freddie—Say, dad, would you call it a sensational story, if the hero killed 20 men?
Cobwigger—That depends, my boy, on whether it is a historical romance or a time novel.

Her Idea.

Mrs. Jackson—She is foolishly in love with him.
Miss Oldmadye—Isn't "foolishly in love" tautology?

Why Catarrh is Fatal

Because it pours a flood of poisons into the circulation that saps digestion and strength so materially as to render the body incapable of resisting disease, and consumption is the result. Catarrh is quickly cured by Catarrhose, a fragrant, germ destroying vapor that goes to the root of the disease. It soothes and heals the inflamed mucous surfaces, clears the head and throat, and positively never fails to perfectly cure Bronchitis, Catarrh or Asthma. Nothing is so good for diseases of the respiratory organs as Catarrhose. Large outfit $1. Small size 25c. Druggists or by mail from Robson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE Materials used in "The D. & L." Emulsion are the finest the market affords regardless of expense. Taken in cases of wasting diseases, loss of weight, or loss of appetite, with great benefit. Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd., manufacturers.
