INDUSTRIAL WINNIPEG.

The June issue of the Winnipeg Industrial Bulletin, which is published by the Industrial Bureau of that city, is a very creditable sheet. It is profusely illustrated, and contains facts and figures of Western progress which appeal to all interests. Business men throughout the continent would do well to be placed on the Bulletin's mailing list. All inquiries will be answered by Mr. Chas. F. Roland, the Industrial Commissioner.

The growth of a town adds responsibility and imposes obligation upon its authorities. This the town council of Toronto Junction seem to have forgotten in considering fire protection. The C.F.U.A., in suggesting three steam fire engines for the place, may be asking too much, but they are not asking anything unreasonable when they remind the residents of that growing place, that in view of its increased extent, its increased requirements, the supply of water is inadequate in the event of a big fire, the largest mains being only 12 inches diameter. The fire-fighting conditions now are as they were in 1904. Growth in population and extent demands that fire-fighting appliances should grow too.
