LOOP-THE-LOOP WILL BE PERFORMED NEAR THE GROUND

Sensational Act at King's Birthday Celebration Will Not be Interfered With by Weather Conditions.

If you are of the opinion that Lincoln Beachey's loop the loop and upside down flying feats are performed at some high altitude, and that the loop comes in some rapid whirl like the old bicycle loop in the circus, you are badly mistaken. Most persons believe that they will need field glasses to get a good glimpse of Beachey when he loops in the sky. But Beachey's great looping is done at so alarmingly low an altitude that the expression of his face is plainly discernable. Nine-tenths of the crowd panic-stricken when the first loop is being made. They cannot realize that disaster has not overtaken the intrepid fellow. A mighty shout always goes up as he is seen to be safe after making the loop. "That is nothing like I thought it was" is the comment from everyone witnessing the stunt. The astounding daring of the man, his superb courage in looping so close to the ground, is what strikes the crowd so effectively.

TRAGEDY OF MUSKOKA WILDS COST LIVES OF TWO PEOPLE

In Retaliation for Action of Son-in-Law in Preferring Charge Against Him, Wm. Ruttan, a Farmer, Near Bracebridge, Kills His Daughter and Son-in-Law—Is Now at Large With Gun.

GRAVENHURST, May 21.—One of the worst murders in the history of Ontario was perpetrated yesterday morning in the wild bush country in the Township of Hyde, 12 miles from Bracebridge, when William Ruttan shot and killed Mrs. Alfred Coutermanche, his daughter, and Geo. Coutermanche, his son-in-law.

Ruttan, who was a farmer, had been in trouble, and recently was convicted of a charge of cruelty to his wife. He was a man of 60 years, and on account of his dark complexion and hair he was known as "Black Ruttan." He has a farm, but has spent the greater part of his time in the woods as a hunter. He is known as one of the best shots in the district. Because of his excellent shooting the residents of the district fear him. A number of settlers have been sworn in as special constables, and will form a posse.

The district around Housey Rapids is rough and wild. Communication and means of transportation are bad, and the district but sparsely settled. The entire neighborhood is very excited, and many fear to venture into the woods because Ruttan is still at large. Those who know him say he will put up a fight before surrendering.

Ruttan followed his victims relentlessly, firing a shot at them when in the door and firing into the rooms they occupied. His first attack was made without warning. The horrible tragedy occupied about half an hour, during which Ruttan fired about fifteen shots, and must have reloaded the gun at least once. Apparently mad with anger, he did not quit shooting until the two remaining persons had gone from his reach. He then took to the woods.

The double murder discloses a terrible state of family affairs, and incidentally the probable cause of Ruttan's terrible deed. Alfred Coutermanche, who married Ruttan's daughter Nina, one of the murdered, a month ago, went to Bracebridge a few days ago to face a charge of incest against his wife's father. The charge was referred to the district court at Housey Rapids in connection with the preliminary in the Hayde murder case. Had they been here, it is probable that Ruttan would have been under arrest before the murder was committed. There seems no doubt but that this action enraged Ruttan so much that he was determined to do away with the entire family. Ruttan's two sons have also been in trouble, and recently were convicted of a charge of cruelty to their mother. Ruttan was shot as he stood in the yard of the home, and fell dead at the feet of his wife, who was assisting him to clean fish. The bullet went through his heart and he died instantly. Mrs. Alfred Coutermanche was struck in the neck by a bullet fired through the door of a bedroom, whither she had gone for refuge, and expired in the arms of her husband.

DOMINION MAY HAVE PERMANENT ROADS CONGRESS

"LaPatrie" of Montreal will to-day have a reference to the address of Mr. L. E. Allen, C.E., before the International Congress of Good Roads at which representatives from France, Great Britain, the United States and Canada, will be present.

Yesterday's issue of "LaPatrie" contains an excellent cut of Colonel W. N. Ponton, who represented Ontario as honorary president of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade, and with regard to Colonel Ponton's address "LaPatrie" says:

"The subject was one of those most enjoyed by the public for it went beyond the technical subjects which had been so much in evidence and which had not treated directly with the subject of this address 'Good Roads as a Factor in the Progress of Cities and Towns'." The time allowed being very short the speaker was obliged to give utterance to his address with the swift ness of an express train but in spite of that he put into it such humor and feeling that he had the most signal success. The text of his address deserves to be printed in full and proves that with a subject as broad and far reaching as that of Good Roads a man of spirit and intelligence even though he does not touch on the technical can agreeably hold the attention of an Association such as this. The Colonel demonstrated the utility of good roads for the development of commerce for the reduction in the cost of living by permitting producers and consumers to transport their products with greater facility to the centres and there to dispose of them to the best advantage. Good Roads will permit the easy interchange of intercourse between localities which would be drawn together thereby in sympathetic cooperation."

Colonel Ponton also spoke at the banquet of the Windsor.

The Montreal Star says: Lieutenant-Colonel W. N. Ponton, hon. president of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade, Belleville, gave a paper on "Good Roads as a Factor in the Progress of Cities and Towns."

He said a campaign of education and inspiration was needed to stimulate and systematize the work. He urged that the congress should be made permanent, and a consultative committee should lay before Parliament a well digested, matured plan for accomplishing the best work by the best methods. The climatic conditions of Canada were discouraging, but they should be a challenge not a deterrent to men of the northern zone.

APPRECIATIVE REVIEW OF BOOK OF POEMS

Some weeks ago The Ontario published a review of a very attractive and interesting little book of poems by Mrs. Alice Pyne McDavitt, of Foxboro and given to the world under the title "The Homesteader, and Other Poems."

In a recent issue of The Montreal Star appears the following very appreciative review of the same book, published by The Canadian Press, New York. There is the mournful strain in it of the settler who has experienced the pathos of life in a new country, especially in the poem that gives its title to this modest collection: "When the snow came down on those open plains, Till in billows high 'twas cast. As high as the tops of the sodden shacks. And still it fell, they say. As though it never meant to quit Till the end of the Judgment Day."

And the city-man settler's wife in misery "passed away one Winter's morn, and seemed not loath to go. But the sunshine of life is never far away, even the homesteader's. Then coal on his land was found And capital with its bustling ways. Was at work on the fields around."

The unassuming character of the writer shuts off harsh criticisms, and the book would prove to be a welcome guest in many a rural home. We must find roots for one acute line. His entitled "The Top" to illustrate the playfully imaginative faculty of Mrs. McDavitt.

"There is always room at the top. In silence she pondered the thought, With dreams of girlish fancies. How she might clamber aloft. When to the top she'd striven. Then the full meaning came home, Lovelorn and friendless she stood there. Away at the top—Alone!"

Magistrate Carroll deferred judgment till Tuesday, when he based his decision on the fact that Frank Comstock, who is father of Thomas, is an Indian within the meaning of the law because he is reputed to belong to a certain band, and has been in receipt of treaty money. He therefore imposed a fine of $75 and costs, amounting in all to $105.04—Gananoque Independent.
