The Hon. G. W. Lascelles Discusses Exhibition of Hawking at Juvisy.

IT IS TIME NOWADAYS FOR ANCIENT SPORT

Occasionally, He Says, Does He Find Young Men with the Genuine Spirit in Them.

(Special Dispatch) LONDON, August 2.

ASKED if the exhibition of hawking at Juvisy, France, described recently in the European press, indicated revival of the ancient sport of falconry, the Hon. G. W. Lascelles, Deputy Surveyor of the New Forest, a royal domain at Lyndhurst, and himself a keen falconry enthusiast, said that modern conditions were all against any considerable development of falconry, but that it still had a certain number of enthusiastic devotees who had an intention of letting it die.

"If you seek to know if falconry is likely to become a common, not to say commonplace, form of sport, as it once was, I can say positively that such a thing is impossible.

"The general enclosure of the whole of England, save only the various tracts of open country, renders it impossible to practice falconry except in a few parts. The man who wishes to delight in this sport, and also to live in a country where they are able to practice it, are few, while those who are so fond of it as to leave home for certain seasons and go to a suitable country for falconry are fewer still.

"Moreover, in these days of hurry and hurry, the man who has the time and the money to spend on a hobby which requires time and patience, and is one of the most difficult to succeed in which man has ever attempted, is not in accord with the prevailing temper of the modern sportsman, who wants everything made easy for him and looks for large results in a brief time.

"It is only occasionally that I meet young men who have the genuine sporting instinct in them and will spend time, good temper and patience in falconry, though those who can succeed will deem it a noble sport, in which man has ever indulged. Unfortunately, the men who could succeed are generally those whose occupations are such that they cannot devote the necessary time to it.

"For all things falconry, being a purely wild sport, lends itself least to exhibitions of any kind. It is a sport, such as that recorded in the newspapers, that is the account of what took place is enough to damn the whole performance in the eyes of any genuine sportsman. To fly hawks before an astounded crowd is a practice which is not only a disgrace, but is just what is needed to ruin the sport. It is an enlarged fox by a pack of dogs around a doghouse would be a genuine exhibition of fox hunting as followed in this country.

"The expression 'revival of falconry' is absurd. Falconry has never died, and need not die. It is a sport which can be followed only in a few places, and consequently is followed by only a few men. But it goes on, and always has gone on, as the favorite pursuit of a certain small number of persons who are fortunate in having the facilities for it.

"FOXGLOVE YEAR" THE FLORAL DESIGNATION

(Special Dispatch) LONDON, August 2.

They are calling this "foxglove year" in England in honor of the unpretentious beauty and the magnificent blossoms which these flowers have attained this season.

Foxgloves in New Gardens are eight feet high and Lady Darnley has one which measures ten feet three inches. This year this is below the record of a plant in the garden of A. Wiggins, in Bishop's Cleeve, in her description of it in a letter to a London newspaper is to be credited. Her foxglove, a variety of white variety, has a stem sixteen feet in height, carrying 200 blossoms and feet of leaves.

It is estimated that the unusual winters of the foxglove 1910 summer are due to perfect conditions for the last two years. The foxglove is a biennial, and the warm, sunny summer of 1911 caused its complete and extensive fertilization by the humble bee. The cloudy, wet season of 1912 offered the best possible conditions for the development of the seedlings, while the mildness of last winter allowed them to grow on unchallenged, bringing them into blossom at their usual time this summer.

LOCAL OPTION NOT CALLED OFF BUT APATHY REPORTED

Mr. T. L. Wood, president of the local option committee, gave an official denial this morning to the rumor that the proposed local option campaign in this city had been called off. "It is true," said Mr. Wood, "that no work has been done which could be called work by the executive committee. The reason is that this is the holiday season, and it is an extremely difficult matter to get anybody to do work."

Mr. Wood said he had heard of no suggestion to call the proposed campaign off.

From other official sources a Courier reporter was informed that there was considerable apathy in connection with the proposed campaign. "There is no question about it," said one strong member of the executive, "the intrusion of Rowell into the temperance arena has done temperance an immense amount of harm, as witness North Grey. Politics and temperance don't mix whatever, and the fact that the Rowell platform is what it is has dampened the ardor of thousands of temperance workers—Conservatives, of course—all over the province. In fact, it is openly stated that it is having a serious effect in Brantford."

FOUR LIVES LOST IN RED RIVER IN AUTO ACCIDENT

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 4.—That four lives were lost in the Red river yesterday, when an automobile with its top up rolled off a ferry boat, is reported by O. Roy, proprietor of the Roblin Hotel, who returned from Joliet, N.D., last night. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Dryden, N.D., and Mrs. Anderson and her 12-year-old son were those drowned. Stewart saw his wife dragged into the swirling current and leaped after her as the canvas top disappeared beneath the surface. He was not seen to come up. His chauffeur went down with the car, but managed to extricate himself and swim ashore. He later recovered the body of Mrs. Anderson. Anderson was saved because he had descended from the car before it took the plunge.

A Little Girl Badly Burned

Maggie, the seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ward, 32-1-3 Marlboro St., had her right arm severely burned last night. Her sister, a few years her senior, was lighting a lamp and threw the lighted match thoughtlessly toward her little sister, which unfortunately struck on the sleeve of her blouse and in an instant the sleeve of the child's blouse was in flames. The little one ran screaming to her father, who picked up a rug and wrapped it around her. The skin on parts of the child's arm was horribly burned. Dr. Wiley was summoned and attended to the child.

HALF OF THE VILLAGE OF HARRISBURG WIPED OUT

Fire Believed to Have Been of Incendiary Origin Caused Much Damage Early Sunday Morning—Old Hotel Building Gone—Families Escaped.

Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin destroyed the half of village of Harrisburg at an early hour on Sunday morning. The half destroyed consisted of the old Braithwaite hotel, occupied by two families, B. Dunham and J. Buckborough, and owned by the former, and a barn owned by J. Vrooman. A bucket brigade formed in the village had a hard time saving the house of Mr. Vrooman.

Shortly after two o'clock Sunday morning, smoke was noticed issuing from the rear of the hotel. An alarm was raised and the families in the house escaped with safety. It was not the building and willing hands commenced to get out the household effects. This they succeeded largely in doing. The fire raged fiercely and spread to the barn of Geo. Vrooman. Precautions had been taken by Mr. Vrooman, and he had removed his horses and effects from the building. Shortly after part of his house caught ablaze and it required strenuous efforts to save the house. The loss is estimated will be around $3,000. He

GRAND RIVER TAKES ANOTHER YOUNG LIFE ON SUNDAY

Albert Killingley, Age 21 Years, Was the Victim—He Got Cramps and Sank Immediately in Treacherous Waters Below Wilkes' Dam.

Another life has been added to the annual toll of the Grand River. On Sunday morning shortly before noon, Albert Killingley, a bright young Englishman, sank in an eddy just below Wilkes' Dam in the presence of numerous bathers. Killingley went down only once. Having cried for help and despite the hurried efforts to reach him made by several bathers, it was impossible to effect a rescue. It was fifteen minutes before the body was recovered by Mr. Fred Nicholls, Lawrence street, and his wife was called. Coroner Fissette was called.

The unfortunate young man was not a good swimmer. He was only able to take a few strokes and he had consequently stayed in shallow water. Just below the dam, however, there are numerous back currents well known to swimmers and it is thought Killingley was carried by one of these towards the dam where the water is deep. As soon as the young fellow got beyond his depth, the water being of a lower temperature caused him to take cramps. When his body was recovered it was found doubled up. The drowning was of a very sudden nature, and those round about were scarcely able to comprehend what happened. The body was at first removed to the fire hall, the lifeboat having been summoned.

Young Killingley was a likeable chap and was greatly esteemed at the Slingsby Mill where he worked. He came from Norfolk, England, two years ago and had since resided in Brantford. He boarded with Mr. J. James, 124 Spring street. His brother Robert, arrived from Lyrell, Ont., and has taken charge of the remains. A sorrowing mother and father at home in Norfolk, England, also surmised the sad fatality will cause heart-movements among a wide circle of friends which the young man made while in the city. The funeral takes place to-morrow from the residence of Mr. J. James, 124 Spring St., to Mt. Hope cemetery.
