A gentleman may be merely a lady man who has money.

Early likes an extravagant young man—if she isn't going to marry him.

The Mysterious Nerves.
How like electricity is the mysterious nerve force which courses through the body controlling the movement of every muscle and the working of every organ. The secret of keeping the marvelous nervous system in health and vigor is found in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorative.

It isn't how far you get on in this world, but how well you cover the distance you do make.

Some people get credit for being patient when in reality they are too cowardly to start anything.

"Doctor, I'm afraid I have a bad case of influenza." "Not at all, sir. You couldn't say influenza if you had."

Take a Cold Seriously.
The possibilities of every cold are dreadful to contemplate. Bronchitis, pneumonia, consumption usually begin with simple cold. Why not fight the cold from the start and ensure success by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Turpentine. It stays inflammation, keeps the cough free and loose and protects the bronchial tube from danger.

Kicker—Before he was married he called her his queen.

Bocker—Now he says she is a ruler of a South American republic.

Lady—My husband gives me a piece of jewelry every birthday.

Friend—You must have quite a collection of them now, my dear.

Mr. Silenus—Every time I read a newspaper I get some new thoughts.

Miss Caustique—Indeed! I don't suppose you find time to read very much.

When you go to the country take a tin of Davis' Menthol Salve along. It is unequalled to relieve earache, sprains, burns, cuts and bruises. 25 cents.

Bones—I suppose Colonel Bluegrass has been in many a tight place.

Guzzler—Yes, it is his proud boast that he has been in every bar from Louisville to Boston.

PILES
Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain cure for hemorrhoids. It is a certain cure for itching, bleeding, and all other troubles about the rectum. Get your money back if not satisfied. Sold by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Husband—I have paid your dressmaker who has been dunning you.

Wife—Oh, then I must go and order a new frock, or she will think I am offended with her.

"Did you ever get bunked?"
"Once, but I suppose it was my own fault."

"How was it?"
"I gave a preacher $50 for marrying me."

Some time ago I had a bad attack of Quinsy which laid me up for two weeks and cost a lot of money.

Flinding the lump again forming in my throat, I bathed freely with MINARD'S LINIMENT, and succeeded in curing it with the liniment left in my throat.

Next morning the swelling was gone and I attributed the result to the use of MINARD'S LINIMENT.

"Gracious!" exclaimed the foreman. "Do you know what happened years ago? There was an explosion, which blew up a dozen men."

"That couldn't happen here," returned Pat, calmly.

"Why not?"
"Cos there's only me and you," was the reply.

Black and Green Tea.
MAY BE MADE INDISCRIMINATELY FROM EITHER PLANT.

Early writers speak of tea as having two varieties. One, Theobomb, they supposed to be the source of the black and the other, Thea viridis, of the green tea. But Robert Fortune established the fact in 1843 that while these two varieties existed, black and green were made indifferently from both.

The tea flower is small, single, white and has no smell. The seeds are three small nuts, like filberts, and have an oily and bitter taste. The leaves only are used.

In China there are about three crops annually, the first being gathered as soon as the leaves break in the spring, April to May, and the latter as new flushes (buds), are made by the plants which have been stripped of their leaves, this harvest beginning in June or July and lasting as late as September or October.

An almond eyed Oriental, Lo Yi, the earliest Chinese writer, pronounces this eulogium on tea:
"It tempers the spirits and harmonizes the mind, dispels lassitude and relieves fatigue, awakens thought and prevents drowsiness, lightens and refreshes the body and clears the perceptive faculties."

Sentence Sermons.
Most of our irritability comes from hunting the rough places in the road.

That is a dangerous religion which would not be known but for its label.

No amusement can be healthy that does not give us a better heart for living.

If your virtues are writ in heaven they will be visible on earth without a telescope.

Much so-called religious effort is an attempt to make others feel as bad as we do.

It is better to help one lame dog than to waste all your powers talking about loving everybody.

The thing that worries some saints is that God seems to be doing things without consulting them.

The people who cry for practical preaching are the first to demand the simple gospel when they get hit.

Many a saint would have less trouble wrestling with the devil if he would get out and wrestle with a ball for an hour or two.

Do you know that croup can be prevented? Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It is a so certain cure for croup and has never been known to fail. Sold by Rand's Drug Store.

A Profound Secret.
The first time a man speaks in public he probably suffers more agony in a shorter space of time than at any other part of his career.

Young Frankington felt the truth of this very keenly the other day, when he found himself facing an audience of free and independent voters at an election. He had prepared a very fervid oration in support of his father's candidacy, but for the first few moments he could do nothing but gasp. Then in response to an encouraging cheer, he began to speak.

"Mr. Chairman," he stammered, "when I—when I left home this evening, only two people on the earth—my father and myself—knew what I was going to say; but now—now—well, only father knows."

An attack of the grip is often followed by a persistent cough, which to many proves a great annoyance. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been extensively used and with good success for the relief and cure of this cough. Many cases have been cured after all other remedies had failed. Sold by Rand's Drug Store.

Home.
A happy home is the brightest spot on earth that the eye of God looks down upon. Love and peace in his home sends sunshine around the walls, wherever he goes; disorder and trouble there is misery everywhere. There are a few worries of life which a man cannot now and then shake off, but who can shake himself free from the skeleton in the closet, from the worry of the household, a blot on the heart. A day will tell how many a man carried that with him without a wincing down to the grave. When husband and wife are helpmate to each other in the best sense; when order and love and goodness prevail in the house then the man who has a hard battle in life to fight can leave his struggles behind him when he enters there. With all our faults we are the most home loving of people and that is the reason why we are the greatest of people. Whatever helps home life is a national blessing; whoever hurts home life is a national curse, and the greatest curse that can touch these blessings is what would trample with the peace and blessedness of our homes.

An Ancient People.
RECENTLY DISCOVERED FACTS ABOUT THE HITITES.

Some interesting details are given by Prof. John Garstang of the ancient race of people mentioned in the Bible as the Hitites. He said there could be nothing more romantic than the finding of the Hitites' country in Southern Syria. A few years ago the surface of this once famous city which belonged to the great Hitite king who fought the Pharaohs.

The land of the Hitites had been discovered by the finding of a whole series of monuments, carvings, and rock sculpture. As early as B. C. 2000 they were a force in Southern Syria, and we could learn that they were an extremely mixed race, with a touch of the Mongolian.

About B. C. 1300 the Hitite, Babylonian and Egyptian people held the balance of power in Western Asia. One thing of striking interest was the recent discovery of a message which the King of Babylon sent to the King of the Hitites, which read: "I hear you are carrying on with the King of Egypt. What does this mean?"

The Hitite king then made an extract from the treaty he had just concluded with a Pharaoh and sent it to the Babylonian king, at the same time keeping a copy of his letter. That copy had now come down to us. Other letters, too, had been found.

A few minutes delay in treating some cases of croup, even the delay of times it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. Sold by Rand's Drug Store.

A little chap was offered a chance to spend a week in the country, but refused. Caxing, pleading, arguing, promising of untold wonders alike brought from him nothing but the stubborn ultimatum: "No country for me!"

"But why not?" someone asked finally.

"Because," he answered, they have thrashin' machines down there an' it's bad enough here 'where it's done by hand."—Cleveland Leader.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Ten years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's carbolic and relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is the best medicine for the largest number of actual cases of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country. It is a voluntary testimonial. I am now cured from almost every form of female complaint, inflammation, ulceration, dysmenstruation, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such sufferer who owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Children's Skin Troubles, Cuts, Etc.

Every healthy child gets them, and every mother has to "put something on." What do YOU put on?
When you put an ointment on to a child's skin it gets into the blood through the pores just as surely as if you put it into the child's stomach. Did you ever think of that? How important, therefore, that the salve or ointment should be pure!
Zam-Buk is absolutely pure; contains no animal fat; no mineral coloring matter; no acid astringents; no burning antiseptics—yes it is antiseptic! It is purely herbal, and it meets all the needs of the skin in that superior and all-powerful way in which nature alone provides.
Children like Zam-Buk best because as soon as applied it stops the pain and the smarting of the injury or sore place. Healing then comes immediately.

Cigarette Slavery.
"The one thing that has impressed me most about cigarette smoking is the slavery of it. A man of some means, as I in my presence, that he would give every cent he had for a cigarette if he could not get one in any other way.
"A friend of mine was one evening in a Toronto church. Going out before the service closed he was followed by a young man, pale as death, who from pure weakness was compelled to sit down for a while on the church steps. When somewhat revived he pulled a cigarette out of his pocket, saying, 'That is what makes me so miserable.' He lit it as soon as his weak spell passed off, and went down street smoking it.—Rev. D. S. Houck, Tweed, Ont.

A Demonstration of Cigarette Facts.
"You smoke thirty cigarettes a day."
"You don't blame them for your fendered condition?"
"Not in the least. I blame my hard work."
The physician shook his head. He smiled in a vexed way. Then he took a leech out of a glass jar.
"Let me show you something," he said. "Bare your arm."
The cigarette fiend bared his pale arm and the other laid the leech, leech upon it. The leech fell to work busily. Its body began to swell. Then, all of a sudden, a kind of shudder convulsed it, and it fell to the floor dead.
"That is what your blood did to that leech," said the physician. He took up the little corpse between his finger and thumb. "Look at it," he said. "Quite dead, you see. You poisoned it."
"I guess it wasn't a healthy leech in the first place," said the cigarette smoker, sulkily.
"Wasn't healthy, eh? Well, we'll try again."
And the physician clapped two leeches on the young man's thin arm.
"If they both die," said the patient, "I'll swear off—or, at least, I'll cut down my daily allowance."
Even as he spoke the smaller leech shivered and dropped on his knee, dead, and a moment later the larger one fell beside it.
"This is ghastly," said the young man; "I am worse than the pestilence to these leeches."
"It is the emphysematic oil in your blood," said the medical man. "All cigarette fiends have it."
"Doc," said the young man, regarding the three dead leeches, thoughtfully, "I half believe you are right—West Virginia School Journal.

British Columbia.
The temperance people of British Columbia endeavored to get local option legislation. Large petitions were presented to the Government and Legislature praying for it. The Government agreed to submit the matter to the electors. At the general election a few weeks ago, the question was voted on. It was stipulated that to succeed those voting in favor of a local option law must equal fifty per cent of the total registered vote. The result of the voting, just announced, shows that, while local option had a majority of 3,000 of the votes polled, not having secured fifty per cent of the total vote, no district in the Province will be allowed to say whether it wants license or no license, but must submit to the legalized iniquity in its midst. Just as more than fifty municipalities in Ontario, which gave large majorities in favor of local prohibition, are left in the grip of the licensed drink traffic because they failed by a few votes to get a three-fifths majority, so the British Columbia people, with a majority of 3,000, there.

"I wish to express my sincere appreciation of the great benefit I received from taking 'Fruit-a-lives.' I suffered from Biliousness and Dyspepsia for fifteen years and I consulted physicians and took many kinds of ordinary medicine, but got no relief. I was in miserable health all the time and nothing did me any good. I read the testimonial of 'Fruit-a-lives' in the 'Acadian' and I decided to try 'Fruit-a-lives.' I have taken a number of boxes of 'Fruit-a-lives,' but before I had taken one box I felt better and now an entirely well. 'I am thankful to be well after fifteen years suffering, and I am willing to have this statement published for the sake of other sufferers, and to them I strongly recommend 'Fruit-a-lives.'" are denied the right to choose local prohibition in such districts as want it, because they did not outvote all the dead and absent and indifferent in the whole Province. We wonder how many members of the recently chosen legislature failed to receive fifty per cent of the registered vote of their districts. And will one of these refrain from taking his seat on that account? The injustice of the scheme which the temperance people have been defeated will not prevent them from trying up for another fight. And next time they are likely to win in spite of the unfair handicap. There is no discharge in this war' against organized and legalized vice.
