The Gleneig School House.

The Glenelg School House.

It is now generally believed in the section that the noise in the Glenelg school house were due to the reverberation of the wainscoiling intensified by the peculial make-up of the whole interior of the built ining, and aided somewhat by the dampne of the weather. It is well known the when one strikes with the voice the not which an instrument produces, it will repond. Thus by means of the voice, bellor a pissio, or even a pot may be made to ring without being touched. The whole building the lamost all its furniture, and especially the wainscoting, seemed to be resonant, and the continuous damp weather tightened the boards of the wain-secting to such a tension that they were like the sounding-board of a piano. An ordingly, when Mr. McGuaig listened to the first morning he noticed that it hops time with the children to perfection when they were reciting the multiplication table simultaneously. As they improved in the exercise, and all spoke as with one voice, the noise became louder and more distinct. Dubbless, if the children had rendered the "Campbells are Coming" in the same pitch, the walts and floor would have reproduced it with variations, in prifect time. All "the "orying." "whitney" in gir. ""pip," "I won't," and other "camex-plained phenomena," which really ever co-coursed, can be explained by taking into consideration the floor, the wainscoting, the reflector of the iamp and the whole make-up of the building.

The Missing Boy Moran.

The Missing Bey Moran.

Waterloo, June 30.—The missing boy, Moran, who disappeared from his beame in Pilkington, was seen in Waterloo on Thuraday last. He appeared to be out of his misd and when approached ran like a deer into the woods. One of these who saw him was a son of Mr. Roos, who came across him in the woods near Waterloo. On the same day he was seen again by a lad named Masthew Jaffray, who tried to hring him into town by main fecre, but the boy struck Jaffray in the face and bounded away into the woods again and was lost to sight. 'A searching party of about 30 men was organized here Friday and soured the woods near Beagram's stables, but with no result. The search is still going on. The Graybill factory closed down Friday and the employees were sent out to look for young Moran. Other people in town have seen the boy on different occasions since his disappearance, but have been unable to capture him. As soon as he sees anyone coming he dashes away as if terrafied. A reward has been offered by Mr. Moran for any information concerning the missing one. It is quite evident that the boy is crasad with fright and hardship and unless soon found he will die of exposure. d hardship and unl will die of exposure.

Suicide at Wellesley.

Wellesley, Onk., July 1—A gloom was cost over this village when the news spread that Mr. Henry Hill had ended his life by hanging himself in his cellar. This merning about 6.30 he called the immakes of the house, and in about an hour he was found in a sitting position, life ckinot. Derangement of mind is thought to have been the cause. Mr. Hill carried on a successful shoe basiness here for upwards of 30 years, and was one of the most respected citizens. Just nine years ago his wife was accidentally killed by his horse running down embankment, throwing his occupants out, Mr. Hill and several enters in the v.hiele secaping with slight in particular.

we frogs fell into a cream crock. One immediately have up in despair, and said — There's no use in struggling; we might as well realize at once that we must die, and pass in our checks gracefully," "You may do 'as you please," replied the other, "but for my part, I shall continue to jump as long as there is life enough left in me, and perhaps something will turn up." The faint-hearted frog was impressed with the wisdom of this latter speech, and accordingly both frogs began vigorously to hop hup and down, and keep up a constant commotion in the cream crock. The result was that the cream was churned to butter, whereupon both frogs got on top of the butter and hopped out.

Moral —When you feel blue and discouraged, and are inclined to think that there is no use in wasting energy when times are dull, remember the two frogs that fell into the cream rock and keep a jumping.

This constant activity is the policy with which we have kept business brisk this season as in the past. We hear many reports of poor business, dull times, scarce money, etc., etc., but our experience has not been in accordance with this. Some lines of goods we have placed at prices that carry no profit to us, in others, we have taken advantage of the wholesale man's auxiety to unlead part of too heavy a stock, and bought at figures that mean a big loss to him, but cheap goods to you, but there is not a department in our store in which you will not find goods selling at less than the regular prices. We propose to keep business humming all summer, if low prices will do it.

Will our city customers kindly do as much of their shopping as possible before SATURDAY.
