ST. ISIDORE, GLOUCESTER. connecting with Pacquetville Settlement, which was opened last year. He speaks very highly of the work done by Mr. John Young, the Commissioner, for this settlement, and is gratified at the progress made by the settlers. Since his first visit large clearings have been made, the houses presenting a neat and comfortable appearance. Notably among fortable appearance. Notably among the many farms is that of the Collector of Customs of Tracadie, who resides in the settlement, which, with its neat buildings, is a credit to the locality. The people have erected a neat Chapel, their Pastor being the Rev. Mr. Gaynor. The Surveyor General has a very high opinion of this settlement, looking upon opinion of this settlement, looking upon the settlement the settlement at loss as regards what course we should pursue respecting the object referred to.

Many of us who have spent much of our time in the woods among the lumbers of the inhabitants and horrifying the public with their profanity as they pass along the street, then abolish the office and away with the policeman, and let the people find some means of protecting themselves from the rowdy sm which is a disgrace to our community.

A heavy storm of wind, hail, thunde and lightning visited Chatham between 11 a. m. and noon on Saturday, which fortunately was only of very short duration-lasting some four or five minutes. The previous day had been exceedingly New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, by hot, and on Saturday morning the air counties, is as follows:was sultry and oppressive—the burning rays of a flerce sun flashed upon a river whose surface was almost like glass, so free was it from a ripple, in the absence of a breeze. About 11 o'elock the first indications of an approaching storm were seen-dark clouds soon enveloped the sky, and about I1.30 heavy rain and hail (some of the stones being as large as marbles) commenced to fall. This was accompanied by a gale which almost amounted to a hurricane during its brief continuance, and was followed quickly by a loud crash of thunder and vivid flash of lightning. The steamer "New Era" was just then lying at Senator Muirhead's wharf. She was lying with her bow down stream, and the Captain and hands were seated in the stern, nearly opposite the centre of the large freight shed on the wharf. Captain Call informed one of our staff who was in Chatham at the time that the electric fluid descended in the form of chain-lightning, and striking the river obliquely, glanced therefrom and struck the roof of the freight shed in three places, at the eave, about the centre and at the top near the saddle-board, and entering played some pranks among the rafters, and spent its Cumberland......27,36 force on the further wall, which was immediately in a blaze. A revision of the standard of the Church, the confession of faith, and the Westminster catechism are the subwith the doctrines of infant dampation, election, predestination, and ver-bal inspiration of the Bible, while the orthodox factions hold that these doctrines should be preserved. At the Syned of Ministers of the Free Church the discussion rose to such a pitch that Rev. L. MacAskaill seized WacArthu by the throat and almost strangled Mill and Machine Oils at James Fish's him. The combatants were separated June 8-tf. | with great difficulty.
