Notice to Subscribers.

We have received several communications asking why receipts for subscriptions have not been sent. In reply we wish you to look at the new method of mailing we are using which gives your name and the date up to which your paper is paid.

Editorial Notes.

The failures in the Dominion last week numbered twenty-seven, against fifty in the corresponding week last year.

After thirty-six days of meeting the Local Legislature was prorogued Friday afternoon. Eighty-one bills were passed during this session.

The Advocate's suggestion that the town have all the lamps lighted on dark nights has been promptly acted upon and it is hoped this will be a permanent and not a temporary improvement. Newcastle looks much brighter with all the street lights burning.

Last week the Editor called the attention of the reader to the formation of a Newcastle branch of the New Brunswick Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and in another column he mentioned several letters received. Others interested in this noble cause are asked to send their names to this office, so that a nucleus for organizing a society here may be secured as soon as possible.

It does not seem fair that trains scheduled to leave stations at certain times should be delayed five hours as on Saturday. The express from Halifax was detained that length of time, awaiting the arrival of the English mail and consequently passengers all along the line were put at a great inconvenience. Some better understanding ought to be made at once.

The despicable and discouraging action of the Boston Custom House officials in charging three hundred and eleven dollars duty before allowing the New Brunswick exhibit to enter into the Exhibition has been severely criticized. After asking and encouraging this province to take a part in the Sportsman's Show it seems outrageous that the collection could not pass without such contemptible, childish play being called into service.

The St. John Sun last week quoted verbatim the editorial of the Advocate relating to the Intercolonial increase of local freight rates and seems to think that the many influential and wealthy citizens of the North Shore talked with the traffic manager simply for honor and not for their own interests. It seems to think that Mr. Harris will not keep his promises. In reply the Advocate must call the attention of that popular paper to the potent fact that this high official of the Canadian System of railways has already put into execution part of what he agreed to do and that he fulfills all his promises. The Editor refrains from judging too harshly. The Advocate has at least the future progress of the business of the Miramichi, regardless of political prejudice and ready understanding the attitude of the Sun.

The Editor wishes to thank Superior Nun St. Antoine and Father Dickson for their courtesy and kindness in allowing him to visit on Saturday last the Convent Building. He was permitted to visit all the rooms in the edifice, which for modern conveniences cannot be surpassed. The bath, and music rooms, dormitories, the parlour, chapel, office, and all the other departments of the building show neatness, comfort and everything necessary to the welfare of the occupants. The whole structure is lighted by gas. At the present time there are twenty-three boarders from outside of Newcastle and eighty-seven pupils from the town, thus making a total of about one hundred and ten pupils who attend this institution of Notre Dame. There are seven nuns, who do everything possible for the advancement and progress of those who are sent to receive instruction. The Editor wishes the learned Father, teachers and pupils the success which they merit.

More Information From A. E. Harris, Relating to I. O. F. Freight Rates.

The following telegram was received on complaint of Newcastle paying five cents per barrel more freight on four than other towns at a greater distance.

H. HARRIS, Pres. Board of Trade, Newcastle, N. B., Mar. 16, 1898.

Have telegraphed our western connections to have rate from Tilsonburg to Newcastle brought into line.

A. H. HARRIS, Dear Sir:

I telegraphed you that the subject matter of your letter of 15th inst. would receive early attention, and when the new tariffs are published in the Spring, the anomaly referred to by you will be wiped out.

Yours truly,
P. HENNESSY, Esq., President Board of Trade, Newcastle, N. B.

Now In The Senate.

TOWN CONTRACT IN THE RED CHAMBER.

(Special to Advocate.)

OTTAWA, Mar. 21.—The Town of Newcastle in the common law case of the Town of Newcastle v. the Board of Trade, have now an opportunity to show their courage and wisdom. The committee stage was short. Sir Charles Tupper explained that the Opposition was not there to obstruct and that he and his friends, having condemned the measure by their speeches and votes, and discussed it in all its details, were not disposed to waste any more time over it. Mr. Blair brought in the amendment which opposition criticism had forced upon the government, and they were incorporated into the amendment. The third reading followed in due course, when Mr. Kaulback of Nova Scotia, who had last his chance when the debate was on, put in his protest, and Mr. Quinn of Montreal offered as a final amendment, a proposition that the stock of the contracting company should be offered to the people in small holdings, which was defeated by a bare majority of two.

Then Dr. Montague who said that the bill did not accomplish anything as it stood offered an amendment to give it value. He proposed to amend the bill, so that all the people, domestic or foreign, printed or purporting to be printed on Sunday. The measure went to a third reading in that form, and if passed, will drive the New York and Boston Sunday paper from our news stands.

AFTER THE OIL STAINS.

Mr. Moore, of St. John's, and Mr. Davin of the North-west, reminded the Ministers of their pledges. Mr. Moore is pressing for the reduction of oil duties to three cents, and Mr. Davin wants the house to resolve that good faith on the part of the government with the people of the west requires that farm machinery should be limited free. Both the members want the party in power to do as it promised. Mr. Moore has already read in the house the declaration of Sir Louis Davies, Dr. Borden, Mr. Mulock and other ministers. Mr. Fielding had the subject postponed, and found a little fault with members for bringing tariff reform to the fore.

The Postmaster General and minister of Marine had got out of the house before this condemnation of their past behavior was offered.

NOTES.

Mr. Lister's committee of inquiry into the Drummond Railway matter is making some progress. It has heard the declaration that no corrupt transaction took place in connection with the sale of the road, and is collecting evidence as to the cost of the railway and the financial history of the company. When Messrs. Gorden, Borden and Powell have a disposition to be dangerously inquisitive, Mr. Lister and the majority of the committee rule the questions out.

DEATH AND DEPARTURE.

One front bench on the opposition side is vacant. On Monday it was covered by a beautiful wreath, the gift of Mr. Dupont's friends. No member of the house had more or deserved more of them. He had strong convictions, and expressed them forcibly, but never offensively, and when in the house, always in his mother tongue. In French he was one of the most effective speakers in the Commons. Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Adolphe Caron briefly referred to the loss of the house and sustained.

Three days later the Chamber nearly lost another man. Mr. Brunson, the member for Richibucto, is a well known good liberal member who is not satisfied with the course of his leaders. One day last week his displeasure passed the point of highest endurance. He concluded that he was going to get out of the house, and accordingly wrote his resignation. The state provides that a member may resign by sending to the Speaker a notice of intention signed by two members. Mr. Brunson found his witnesses and put his resignation in the common Post Office. It reached the Speaker's office in due time, but before it had been opened Mr. Brunson had changed his mind. So it came about that the resignation was never received. Mr. Brunson had the right to give Mr. Brunson an official communication which belonged to the house and the country. But this matter will be further investigated, for Mr. Brunson has called for a committee of the house to determine whether Mr. Brunson has resigned or not. A third vacancy is impending for it is understood that Mr. John W. of East Prince is going to the Senate as soon as he has finished his work in the West Prince campaign now impending.

A TEST QUESTION.

In the Commons a bill passed three readings and committee in one day last week, and passed the Senate the day following with the same celerity. This was the Minister of Agriculture's measure to have off the San Jose Scale. As the farmers know, this pest is destructive to fruit trees and shrubs, and Mr. Fisher, having traced it to the United States, proposes strong legislation against it. His bill prohibits the importation of nursery stock from all countries where the scale exists, the United States being one of them. To prevent the tree men in the States from rushing their stock over the line before the law passed, Mr. Fisher asked that it be hurried through both Houses. Mr. Charlton of Ontario and Mr. Ellis of St. John were the only objectors. Mr. Charlton declared that Rochester, New York, was free from the evil, wherein he was contradicted by the Minister. Mr. Charlton begged the House to sleep on the matter and to remember that the United States might retaliate. He and Mr. Ellis saw in the bill a disposition to protect Canadian nursery men. This objection did not commend itself to the Opposition members who were disposed to commend the national policy even when applied by piecemeal and under disguise. Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. McNeill, Dr. Montague, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Craig, Mr. Henderson, and Mr. McLeod, accompanied the Minister and rebuked Mr. Charlton for defending a vicious insect, who works on Sunday and disregards all Mr. Charlton's moral codes. The San Jose Scale, like Mr. Charlton, is a native of the United States and therefore will not want a friend in the Canadian Parliament.

NO MORE SUNDAY PAPERS.

One thing Mr. Charlton does not want Canada to borrow from the United States, and that is Sunday papers. He has refused to draw the line at peffers.

ous insects he draws it at the Sunday newspaper habit. For the last decade the member for North-Norfolk has never come to the session without a Sunday bill in his pocket. The bill this year forbids Canadians to read the Sunday papers. The people are not making them, except in British Columbia where they prepare the Sunday issue on Saturday, and do not publish on Monday. Mr. Charlton does not intend to interfere with this business, but claims to be only administering the ounce of prevention.

Mr. McLeod who prints the Toronto Sunday World on Saturday protested against interference with the freedom of the press, and begged Sir Wilfrid to defend popular liberty. The premier responded to the extent of saying that the proposed legislation did not commend itself to him, but that since Sir John Thompson had consented to a similar bill, he would follow the example. Dr. Montague vainly implored Sir Wilfrid to follow Sir John Thompson on other things. A motion that the Committee rise, which would have ended the bill, was defeated by a bare majority of two.

Then Dr. Montague who said that the bill did not accomplish anything as it stood offered an amendment to give it value. He proposed to amend the bill, so that all the people, domestic or foreign, printed or purporting to be printed on Sunday. The measure went to a third reading in that form, and if passed, will drive the New York and Boston Sunday paper from our news stands.

Lost Among the Fairies by the little ones, was one of the features of the evening. The Queen of the Fairies was Miss Marion Doyle. The acting and enunciation of those taking part was near perfect, for which they received round after round of applause.

Music by the orchestra was then rendered with excellent effect by the pupils.

Good Night, Solo and Chorus accompanied on piano by Misses Minnie Dalton and Mary E. Ferguson; organ, Miss Carrie Wheeler and solo by Miss Mary Kough was noteworthy of mention and praise.

This grand and successful entertainment closed with the National Airs, Misses Helen Black and Mylie Hennessy, piano, and Miss Carrie Wheeler, organ.

The affair was a most creditable one and the pupils and teachers of the congregation of Notre Dame are to be congratulated on the successful ending of one of the most interesting social functions ever given in Newcastle.

Service to the Memory of Francis B. Willard and Neal Dow.

After the regular Sabbath evening worship at the churches, the Christian Endeavor Society united its meeting with the special memorial service of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Mission Hall. Mrs. S. McLeod, president of the branch of this grand organization in Newcastle, opened the meeting and for fifteen minutes, hymns of praises were given with choir.

The P. R. W. then sang, "How Firm a Foundation," at the conclusion of which Mrs. McLeod read the 146 Psalm, the words of which have been so many times read by the W. C. T. U. everywhere. An appropriate prayer was then offered by Rev. E. C. Baker, who was also of a humorous turn of mind and had a happy disposition. In his official capacity as surgeon in the Police Department, those who knew him well say he was fair to all.

The funeral took place last Wednesday afternoon at the late home of the deceased and was largely attended by relatives and influential friends. Many beautiful wreaths of flowers were sent to the home. Messrs. John Morley and Donald Doyle were present at the funeral, leaving Newcastle Monday and arriving in New York Wednesday.

The living members of this family are Misses Mrs. John Quinn, Newcastle, and Mrs. Anne Clark, Waterbury, Conn., and his brothers, Patrick F. Morley, now teaching in Gloucester county, N. Jersey, Newcastle, Ed. A. Morley, Sumner City, Washington, and Frank Morley, New York.

Black Brook Notes.

The Judge spoke at some length on the growth and progress and the principal of the I. O. F. throughout the world. He concluded his remarks with great applause.

During the evening excellent music was furnished by White's Orchestra and the following programme was successfully carried out:

Solo—Thomas Murray.

"Mrs. H. Patten."

"Mr. Miller."

The meeting closed by all singing God Save the Queen, after which light refreshments were served to the members.

There was a large congregation at St. Luke's Methodist Church last Sunday evening, when the pastor Rev. George Young preached very eloquently, a memorial sermon on the late Francis Willard, taking his text from Mark XIV. 8. "Such hath done what she could." The reverend gentleman spoke in glowing terms of the birth, life and death of the great leader of reform. In the course of his remarks he touched very feelingly on the noble deeds of the late Neal Dow. Mr. Young told his congregation of the many good and charitable turns the late Miss Willard had performed. He told how the angel of death so beautifully came to her bed side, and how she calmly and bravely met her conversion, and spoke of the many thousands of people this wonderful woman had addressed; told of her extensive travel in the interest of temperance work and moral reform. It was a splendid sermon and the reverend gentleman held the most earnest attention of his congregation throughout the able discourse. The singing was a feature of the service, being especially chosen for the occasion. The hymns sung were favorites of the late and beloved woman of women, and many of them were sung at the grave side of the deceased, thus fulfilling her dying request.

There was a large congregation at St. Luke's Methodist Church last Sunday evening, when the pastor Rev. George Young preached very eloquently, a memorial sermon on the late Francis Willard, taking his text from Mark XIV. 8. "Such hath done what she could." The reverend gentleman spoke in glowing terms of the birth, life and death of the great leader of reform. In the course of his remarks he touched very feelingly on the noble deeds of the late Neal Dow. Mr. Young told his congregation of the many good and charitable turns the late Miss Willard had performed. He told how the angel of death so beautifully came to her bed side, and how she calmly and bravely met her conversion, and spoke of the many thousands of people this wonderful woman had addressed; told of her extensive travel in the interest of temperance work and moral reform. It was a splendid sermon and the reverend gentleman held the most earnest attention of his congregation throughout the able discourse. The singing was a feature of the service, being especially chosen for the occasion. The hymns sung were favorites of the late and beloved woman of women, and many of them were sung at the grave side of the deceased, thus fulfilling her dying request.
