

The Patron Saint of Prisoners

Under the heading, "The Patron Saint of Prisoners," the August, 1918, number of "Good Words," which is published monthly at the United States penitentiary, Atlanta, Ga., with the approval of the Department of Justice, "for the encouragement and educational advantage of the prisoners" has a succinct and well written biographical sketch of St. Vincent de Paul, by "J. E. B." On another page under the same initials is the following beautiful poem, which is entitled "Eyes of the Dawn," but which might also be inappropriately called "The Cry of a Prisoner's Heart."

When the gray of the dawn steals into my cell,
And the night of oblivion dies,
Oh, I wish that the power were mine to tell
What my heart in its anguish cries;
For the baby lips that are pressed against mine,
And the baby hands soft on my face,
They are gone when I left my arms to entwine,
There is only—the empty space
And a sunbeam perhaps that stole through the bars
From the blue of the morning skies,
But the sun I would give and the moon and the stars
For the light in my baby's eyes.
And the memory of the pink little hand
And the baby lips, rose-ripe and red,
Is the heaviest chain in my shadow-land
When the tears of longing are shed.
And he comes to me at the dawn of each day
As he did in the past: with a smile,
When he crawled from his crib to where daddy lay
To be playing with me for a while
With the laughing eyes and the Indian yell,
He was sure I would wisely head,
When he thought it was time for the breakfast bell,
And his "tummy" was ready for feed.
When I open my eyes—it is only to find
He is gone with his baby prate;
Between me and him are the years of grind
And the bars of an iron grate.
And never again shall the light in his eyes
Be the ray of my dawn as of yore—
When the years of my thraldom behind me lie,
He will be a baby no more.

Opportunity

(Written for "The Catholic Bulletin" by A. McC.)
Concluded
"Sure he does," n' so Bud Carey, n' Mike Gleason, n' a lot of the fellows here."
"Wall, I'll be jiggered!"
"Any time," he spluttered to himself, on his way home. "Why, it ain't America, that's what it ain't. What would be come of your Declaration of Independence, I'd like to know? A man with any pep in him wouldn't be such a worm. No, sir! No patriotic citizen would do it—but what about Mr. Wells? He's a lieutenant, ain't he? Ooah! he must have put it over on General Parshing pretty bad, I'll say. Aw, Shucks!"
Thereupon he thrust his hands deep into his pockets and walked along whistling dolefully; an unfamiliar frown rested on his smooth brow and he was very sober, indeed. Maybe, you don't know what it is for a boy steeped in hero worship to have to give up his idol. Mr. Wells believed in "confession," didn't he? Then, didn't Bill have to do the same, or lose his beloved second master?

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also. Sufferers dread to move, especially after sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in the weather.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Remove the cause of rheumatism—its outward application. Take it.
was dreadfully upset over it. He was cross at home; he took in the movies often than before, hoping to find "succor of sorrow." He skipped school, sometimes, for the purpose but on this point his conscience pricked him. You perceive he had a conscience, where it had been "trained." But he quelled it. "Aw what difference does school make, I'd like to know? Mr. Wells is an educated guy, and what's it done for him? I don't want to be educated if that's all you get out of it."

Finally, one Saturday morning, on his first run out, as he was going past the Cathedral, whom should he see entering the church but Mr. Wells the loved, lost idol.
"Who's he up to, I'd like to know? Blamed if I ain't going to sneak in and see what he's doing here!"
Sneak in he did, into the peacefulness and beauty of the Catholic Cathedral. Nobody noticed him, the few people present being attentive to their devotions. So Bill lingered for a moment and then sat down, quietly observant. He soon became completely absorbed; he forgot the flight of time, and when the people advanced to the altar rail, Mr. Wells among the rest, the movie fan crept nearer, nearer.

At Communion, when the Host was raised, Bill's attention was riveted. He gazed straight at the Sacred Host. His heart seemed to almost stop beating, then he gave a sort of jump, and a mysterious sensation surrounded him. His eyes fixed with fear. Through the mist he saw Mr. Wells receive the Blessed Sacrament and turn away from the communion rail; and as he noted the serious countenance and the really noble bearing of the young man, conviction burst upon him.
"Ge! That feller couldn't make a mistake about a thing like this. You know he couldn't! I've GOT to wise up and then you watch me!"

Transfixed he sat, even when the small congregation began coming out. Mr. Wells, coming down the aisle, halted beside the boy in extreme surprise. He saw that he was agitated, that he wished to speak.
"Who is it?" he inquired gently.

"Say, Mr. Wells, what was you doing up there in front?" he demanded. Bill, what WAS it that man gave you?"
For a moment amazement held Mr. Wells silent, but when he saw the boy's burning eyes so eagerly fixed upon him, comprehension came, and great compassion. Tenderly, reverently, with the eloquence that was his, he told to Bill the story of the Bread of Life, and the poor little street wail, fascinated and enthralled, BELIEVED!

Edifying Events Where Leprosy Claims Many Victims

Father de Hovre, chaplain of the leper asylum near Pretoria, cites some cases of edifying resignation which came to his notice in the course of his ministrations to the unfortunate lepers, among whom may be found persons of all ages and nationalities.

ALCOHOL is almost the worst thing for consumptives. Many of the "just-as-good" preparations contain as much as 20% of alcohol. Scott's Emulsion is not a drop. In fact, it has no alcohol. Scott's Emulsion is the only safe, reliable, and effective remedy for all ailments.

ALL SUMMER COMPLAINTS SUCH AS Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, etc., ARE DANGEROUS.

During the hot weather the bowels seem to be more susceptible to disease than at any other time of the year. The holiday season is on; you go travelling and change your diet and drinking water; catch cold at every change in the weather; eat unripe fruit, etc., which causes the bowels to become loosened up. To get relief from these conditions, you must take something to relieve those awful cramps in the stomach; those awful pains in the bowels; in fact, something that will in a natural and effective way stop the fluxes of the bowels as quickly as possible, and at the same time not leave them in a constipated condition.

In one of the little cottages lives a young African girl, once most attractive but now a living corpse. Her sight is gone, her limbs are wasted away to the bone; one would scarcely recognize her as a human being. And yet this poor child is bearing her suffering like a saint. She became a Catholic and since her baptism has never been heard to complain of her sufferings.

"In the very next house is to be found a little girl not yet fifteen years of age, whose face is never seen except by the nurse who visits her every day and washes and dresses her wounds. Then we have a Jewess, born in Kovono, Russia, who is said to have contracted the disease through the bite of a dog. The poor woman is heart-broken at the thought of her seven little children from whom she is separated. Among our male patients is a talented Irishman who is bravely bearing his own affliction and doing much to make the other patients forget theirs."

Announcement

For the information of our many patrons, in both town and country, we deem it necessary to announce that the Coal Business, successfully carried on in the past by the late Mr. Charles Lyons, will be continued by the Estate, under the old firm name of C. Lyons & Co.
By maintaining a high standard of service and by courteous and honest treatment of the public, this firm has, for a period of more than a quarter of a century, enjoyed a large and ever-increasing patronage; and in announcing our intention of "carrying on," we desire, most earnestly, to give expression to our appreciation thereof. We are deeply grateful to the firm's many patrons for their constant manifestation of confidence in it. In the past, and we assure them that if they favor us with a similar evidence of their good-will in future there shall be no economy of effort on our part to make our intercourse both pleasant and profitable to them.
As we possess almost unlimited facilities for supplying the coal trade, and as we are desirous of extending our already large business, we respectfully invite the patronage of new customers; and if we succeed in thus increasing our present connection, we guarantee that we shall be indefatigable in our endeavor to justify the confidence of our new friends.
We again thank our patrons for their past generous patronage, and respectfully solicit a renewal of their esteemed custom.

Canadian National Railways
OPERATING ONE HOUR EARLIER

Important Daylight Saving Change of Time at a. m. Sunday, March 30, 1919

All clocks and watches used in operation of Canadian National Railway will at a. m. Sunday, March 30th, be advanced one hour. To prevent serious confusion and inconvenience to the public the attention of all concerned is directed to the following conditions resulting from the important change of time.

If cities, towns, villages and other municipal bodies do not change their local time to correspond with the Railway time, all concerned should keep in mind that while trains continue to leave Railway Stations on present schedule, such schedule will be operated one hour ahead of present local time. Therefore any municipality where local time is not changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers must reach Railway Station ONE HOUR EARLIER than shown in current folders and public time posters.

Where municipal time is changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers will not experience difficulty growing out of the change.
