Showed Benefits of Technical Training.

Yarmouth, March 10.—Dr. J. W. Robertson, chairman of the late commission on technical education, arrived here this afternoon by the Dominion Atlantic express and registered at Grand Hotel.

This evening at a public meeting in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, under the auspices of the local school board, Dr. Robertson addressed a representative audience on the value and needs of technical education as shown by the work of his commission. Mayor Hood presided, and in well chosen remarks introduced the speaker. On the platform were members of the school board and town council, with Supervisor Kempton and others. The evening technical schools were closed and the students attended in a body.

A FIVE ADDRESS.
Professor Robertson in the course of one of the ablest and most interesting addresses ever delivered from a Yarmouth platform, dealt first with the ideal of developed intellectual and moral power to match the material progress, showing that the development of the people of Canada themselves should come along with the development of the country. The speaker then went on to discuss the need of vocational education and explained fully the nature of such. Turning then to the work of the commission itself, he described first its inquiry in Canada, and briefly outlined the evidence gleaned from the fifteen hundred of men and women examined. He then gave examples of the great work along vocational lines as accomplished in other countries, and drew the lesson for Canada to learn from their efforts.

BENEFITS WHOLE COUNTRY.
Professor Robertson emphasized the plain duty of the Dominion Parliament in this great work. He felt that such education benefits the whole country, so the central authorities should shoulder the expense of developing this work. His commission recommended a grant of $350,000 annually to be paid to the several Provinces, pro rata, to be used in establishing pre-vocational education, or for those under 14 years of age. This would be followed by a grant of $3,000,000 annually to assist the Provinces in providing industrial training and technical education for the young people of the Provinces over 14 years of age. He showed that Nova Scotia could out of these funds draw about $198,000 annually, and that Yarmouth's share of this would figure out at about $9,200.

In closing he urged the assuming by the Dominion Government of the responsibility that rests upon it in this new and very important national movement. In the course of his remarks, Dr. Robertson praised the good work already done along these lines by the Local Government, and said we should feel well encouraged by the results already accomplished

Monday.

On Monday, after Sabbath rest, a man should go to work with vim, roll up his sleeves, pull down his vest, and show there are no flies on him. If happy fortune be deigning to serve him, he will say, "Now, watch my services, and mark the swiftness with which I shall move." Get started right on Monday morn, nor pause with grumblings to console; go, paint the fence or shill the corn, and work merrily in your

MEXICO CITY, March 15.
General Alarista, commanding a thousand men at Joyutla, was killed yesterday by his own men, who mutinied. The uprising was led by four lieutenants. Most of the higher officers of his command escaped massacre and went to the neighboring villages, where they mobilized a force to return to Alarista. Meanwhile followers of the Rebel Zapata joined the mutineers. But, despite reinforcement, the mutineers were whiplashed by the loyal force. The War Department says that the majority of the mutineers were captured and executed.

NEW YORK, March 15.
A cable from London says that the Irish Party leaders are determined that the Home Rule Bill shall go through without further concessions to Ulster, whatever happens. T. P. O'Connor sends the following message to the New York American: "All is over but the shouting. There will still be a good deal of shouting but this will not matter. The Government has said its last word. The Tories may take it or leave it. I think they will take it." Devlin in a spirited letter in a local newspaper says: "The Carsons will not be reconciled at any cost. The Home Rule Bill will be carried as it stands, and the Government must take responsibility for enforcing the law against the aristocrats who are plotting rebellion." Devlin is now regarded as the most powerful influence in the Irish party, and great weight is attached to his manifesto.

B. I. S. Meeting.

St. Patrick's Day Parade Will be an Historic One.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Benevolent Irish Society was continued yesterday, Mr. J. C. Pippy, 1st Vice-President, in the chair. After routine matters were disposed of, arrangements were finalized for the St. Patrick's Day parade, which takes place to-morrow. The members will meet at their hall at 9 a.m. and a half hour later, accompanied by the C.C.C. and City Bands will proceed via Theatre Hill and New Gower, Hamilton and Patrick's Streets to St. Patrick's Church and attend High Mass, during the course of which the Rev. Fr. Conway will deliver a panegyric on the life of Ireland's Patron Saint. After Mass the Society will visit the Denary and pay its respects to the Rev. Mons. Roche, V.G., representing His Grace Archbishop Howley. Again reforming ranks the body will march down Water Street, up Cochrane Street to Government House where the compliments of the Society will be extended to His Excellency the Governor. Return to the hall will be made via Military Road and Queen's Road. This time-honoured parade promises to be a success unprecedented in the history of the Society and there is every indication of the largest turnout on record. Following an interesting discussion on the Home Rule Bill, which is at present the universal topic of comment, the meeting adjourned.

The Judging of John.

An affectionate bride once hit upon the original idea of expressing her husband's perfection in terms of chocolate cake; when he was good he was "chocolate cake three layers deep," when he was very good he was "four layers deep," and so on up the scale.

One day, however, the system broke down. The bride's mother dropped in, and noticed that her daughter looked vexed at something.

"How is John to-day?" the mother asked, pretending not to notice the bride's vexation. "Chocolate cake four layers deep?"

"No."

"Three layers deep?"

"No."

"Two?"

"No."

"Then what is he?"

"Dog biscuit."—Weekly Scotsman.

HEALTHY AND UNHEALTHY LIGHTING

Gas, it may be said, vitiates the atmosphere. True. But it also helps to purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not vitiate, nor does it purify. Hear what three eminent men have said:—

Muel, evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting efficient ventilation. It is for this amongst other reasons that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experience with the electric light.—Dr. Jamieson B. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of their meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that had taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and the new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginald Duffield, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health.

I have in my mind's eye, at the moment, a hall which, in the old days was lighted by gas, and in which a large audience could, with comfort, sit through an hour's lecture, or with pleasure through a three hours' dinner, but which, with the march of civilization, had its illumination changed from gas to electricity, the latter being applied with all the latest refinements to effect the lighting under the best conditions, with the result that any large gathering within its walls leads to a state little short of asphyxiation.—Vivian B. Lewes, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich.—nov8/14
