Disastrous Railway Accident in Prussia

A Circus Train Wrecked and a Number of Mres Lost.

Berlin, May 23.—In collision yesterday between a passenger train and special train conveying Carre's circus troupe at Kirchlengeren, near Osnabruck, a number of persons were killed, including Madame Carre, the wife of the proprietor, and her daughter. The engineer and fireman of the circus train and two guards were also killed, and twenty persons were seriously injured. The trains came together with a frightful shock, and three carriages were telescoped and smashed into fragments.

Mr. Allen also asked what was the name of the present sub-collector at Pelee Island, the date of his appointment, whether he had continuously discharged the duties of his office, whether anybody else had been appointed sub-collector or had been in any way instructed to discharge the duties of that office during the present year, and if so what was his name, the date of his appointment, the amount of his salary, and was he still in the employment of the Government? DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, May 21.—Mr. Wood, of Brock.

OTTAWA, May 21.—Mr. Wood, of Brock ville, introduced a bill to further amend the act respecting the Electoral Franchise the act respecting the Electoral Franchise Act of 1874. His purpose was to limit the persons entitled to vote to British subjects. The particular grievance he had in view was the fact that people came from the United States at election times who were American citizens and voted nere.

Mr. Allen asked whether it was the intention of the Government to build a dry dock at Amherstburg; whether there had been any survey made or estimate of the cost of such work, and whether it was the intention of the Government to proceed with the work during the present year. Sir Hector Langevin replied that nothing had been done with reference to the petition beyond a very cursory examination, which had proved that a very careful survey would have to be made before the site for the dry dock could be decided upon.

Mr. Allen also asked what was the name of the present sub-collector at Pelee Island, the date of his appointment, whether had continuously discharge the duties of this office, whether anybody else had been appointed, whether anybody else had been appointed, whether had continuously discharge the duties of that office during the present sub-collector was Mr. McCormack, that he was appointed in December, 1888, that he had not continuously discharge the duties of that office during the present sub-collector was Mr. McCormack, that he was appointed in December, 1888, that he had not continuously discharge the duties of that office during the present sub-collector was Mr. McCormack's returned he had been retained in the office at a salary toffice at a salary to the control of the development of the Government OTTAWA, May 22.—About 150 delegates OTTAWA, May 22.—About 150 delegates from cities, towns, townships and counties of Ontario came here to ask the Government to recoup to them the railway bonuses granted prior to the adoption of the Dominion aid system. The delegation held a meeting and deputed Messrs. W. L. Walsh, Orangeville; Porter, Belleville; S. J. Parker, Owen Sound; J. Sissons, Sincoe, and Taylor, London, to address the Government on the questions they wished to discuss. Thomas Murray, M.P., Pembroke, and John McMillan, M.P., Huron, were appointed to put the arguments

At 3 o'clock the Railway Committee room of the House of Commons was crowded. There were 157 delegates, repre-senting over 100 municipalities. One hundred and forty municipalities are interested. The bonuses to railroads voted by them since Confederation amount to $9,000,000. They were come to ask that those Ontario roads which had never re-extent of the usual $3,200 a mile, and that the sum thus ascertained be divided proportionately among the interested municipalities. Sir John A. Macdonald and Hon. C. E. Foster entered, and the delegates were introduced by Mr. White, M. P. for Cardwell.

Mayor Walsh, of Orangeville, reminded Sir John Macdonald that last session, when the subject was brought up by Mr. McMullen, of North Wellington, he had replied, "Let these municipalities bring up their case, and we will take it into consideration." In response to that invitation they had come will take it into consideration." In response to that invitation they had come down to present their case. Mr. Walsh informed the Ministers that at a time when railways were a necessity Ontario had, out of the pockets of her citizens, paid almost $9,000,000 in bonuses before the Dominion had adopted a policy of assisting railway construction. They thought, therefore, they were entitled to the same consideration from the Dominion in respect to these roads as if they were being constructed now. The Government, he said, should grant $3,200 a mile to the roads in Ontario which had never received Dominion aid, and the gross sum so arrived at should be which had never received Dominion aid, and the gross sum so arrived at should be divided among the municipalities granting bonuses, in proportion to the amount of bonuses granted by them. The Dominion had voted in bonuses, exclusive of the C. P. R. and Intercolonial, over $20,000,000, of

to the Speaker and read, "Yeas 65, nays

Resign," and the Conservatives sat dumb and rather sorrowful over the result. If the motion for adjournment had carried, the prohibition motion would have gone to the foot of the list, and it is quite likely another opportunity of considering the question would not have presented itself this session, and the best proof that this R. and Intercolonial, over $22,000,000, of which Ontario only received $2,893,000.

S. J. Parker, of the county of Grey, said they had granted $264,000 to the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway, which had become incorporated with the C. P. R.

Mayor Porter, of Belleville, set forth the question would not have presented itself this session, and the best proof that this was what was intended is afforded by the fact that Mr. Jamieson voted with the Liberals against the motion for adjournment, against his leader and against a solid Tory contingent.

But the Government were not whipped. They were determined that the House should not vote squarely on prohibition, and towards 11 o'clock they put up Mr. Gillies of Novia Scotia to move a second motion for adjournment. They had broken osition of that city and adjoining muni-ipalities with reference to the Grand Junc-cipalities with reference to the Grand Junction Railway.

Mayor Taylor, of London, represented that his city and the county of Middlesex were deeply interested.

Warden Sissons, of Simcoe, told Sir John that they had paid in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 in railway bonuses, and had received little benefit, because of Dominion legislation. Ontario paid most of the taxes and had most at stake, and the Dominion policy of aiding railways should extend to

"We cannot at all undertake," Sir John continued, "to give this our immediate consideration, but we will give it our consideration, and deal with it if we can do so consistently with the prestige and credit of the Dominion. There is not the slightest chance of members representing other Provinces voting 6d to any Ontario municipality unless the same thing is granted to other parts of the Dominion in the same position."

Mr. Foster repeated the formula that for herself alone Ontario could get nothing. It was an important question as Ontario had 2,000 miles of railway which had never received Dominion aid, which, at $3,200 a this our immediate consideration, but we received Dominion aid, which, at $3,200 a mile would mean over $6,000,000. mile would mean over $6,000,000. He was, however, prepared to consider the subject, always provided it was applied to other Provinces and not confined to Ontario.

The fact of having no fire alarm system here is but putting a premium on incendiarism.
