

METHODIST CONFERENCE
BACKS "BANISH THE BAR";
IS AGAINST MILITARISM

Memorial Passed at Closing of Great Convention Unanimously and Heartily Supports Mr. Rowell's Fight for Temperance, and Goes On Record as Opposed to Fostering of Warlike Ideals.

Leader N. W. Rowell and his "Abolish the Bar" policy were heartily endorsed by the London Methodist Conference in a memorial which was passed unanimously Monday afternoon. Following is the resolution:

"Inasmuch as the total suppression of the liquor traffic is the goal aimed at, and in view of the fact that the policy of 'abolish the bar' adopted by the leader of one of the great political parties is a long step toward such goal, this London Conference in its annual session, desires to put on record its unqualified indorsement of said policy of N. W. Rowell."

Militarism Condemned.

A warm debate took place before a resolution condemning the modern spirit of militarism was passed. The clause as originally prepared by the committee on memorials contained a reference to the bad effect of military training on the lads of the land. Some objection was taken to this, and after a long discussion, in which Revs. C. C. Kaine, Walter Millson, G. N. Hazen and others took part, the clause was referred back to the committee to be modified. When brought back to the conference it passed in the following form:

"Believing modern militarism to be essentially un-Christian, the burden of modern armaments economically unsound and morally harmful to all peoples, especially in creating that international suspicion and distrust which may flame forth at any time in devastating war; and believing that much of the modern naval excitement arises from men and firms directly interested financially in war materials and not directly in the kingdom of God, we recommend to our people the imperative need of adopting the pacific in place of the warlike ideal in all international relationships and in the settlement of international differences of substituting the Christian ideal of arbitration instead of the barbaric methods of battle and of blood."

The report of the committee on memorials also contained a reference of appreciation of the efforts of the Ontario Legislature in shortening the hours for the sale of liquor.

The report of the committee on temperance and moral reform referred to the recent boxing contest in Calgary in which Luther McCarty was killed, and urged the amendment of the law governing prize-fights to include boxing bouts.

Among the memorials adopted was one deprecating the practice of holding dances in private houses for charitable purposes, and asking Methodist women to refrain from doing so.

Sabbath Observance.

The report of the committee on Sabbath observance was presented by Rev. A. E. Moorehouse. It deplored the fact that so many men were employed in the railroad yards on Sunday, and also emphasized belief in the early closing of all places of business Saturday evenings, not later than 8 o'clock, if possible. Attention was called to the misuse of the automobile on Sunday by people who spent the whole day in pleasure trips.

Week-end excursions were also becoming a great evil, and the practice of holding Sunday parades with bands was condemned. A better and fuller observance of the Sabbath in the homes was recommended.

Sunday School Report.

The Sunday school report showed a total membership of 53,645 an increase of 1,387. An increase of $1,121 was also noticed in the money received, which amounted to $40,654.

Rev. J. Aycarr, Dominion license inspector, was introduced by Rev. G. N. Hazen, and spoke briefly. Referring to the liquor traffic, he stated that he hoped before long to see the whole internal traffic wiped out of existence, and asked the co-operation of all in helping enforce the present laws.

Systematic Giving.

The report of the committee on systematic beneficence was presented by Rev. S. A. Anderson, and reaffirmed belief in the law of the tithe, which was just as binding upon Christians as on Jews.

WILLIAM COWPER, first member of executive of Foresters' high court.

He urged that campaign to this effect be inaugurated. Mr. C. J. Beal also spoke on the subject.

Mr. T. E. Wright read the report of the Class Leaders' Association, and the report of the probationers' committee was read by Rev. J. H. Peters.

The following were elected to the Dominion Alliance executive: Revs. S. Jefferson, H. D. Moyer and Messrs. A. M. Hunt and H. D. Cates. Rev. W. H. Cooper and Mr. W. C. McIntosh were elected to the Lord's Day Alliance.

Miss Tillson, the young lady who was in charge of the postoffice at the church during convention, was presented with a purse of gold by the president.

Mr. Taylor's Strong Words.

Quite a breeze was raised at the afternoon session by Mr. Ismael Taylor, who spoke with great feeling, condemning the practice which he alleged existed among the ministers of canvassing for stations. Rev. D. N. McCannus protested against the subject being discussed at all, and Mr. Taylor gave way to his request. Later in the afternoon, however, Rev. R. Garbutt introduced a resolution condemning the practice, which was passed.

A number of minor details were arranged before the conference ended its session for 1912 shortly before 5 o'clock. President McAllister, in a brief address, which he stated, was one of the best ever held. He then pronounced the benediction, and the 30th annual conference of the London district became history.

TO MANUFACTURE
ARTIFICIAL ICE IN THE FOREST CITY

Fifty-Thousand Dollar Plant To Be Erected on Bathurst Street.

Will Have a Capacity of Fifty Tons a Day of the Purest Article.

Mr. M. Masurel, manager of the London Cold Storage and Warehousing Company, Limited, announced this morning that the company would erect on its property to the east of the present plant, a $50,000 plant for the manufacture of artificial ice. Plans will be prepared immediately, and work will be started as soon as possible. It will have a capacity of fifty tons a day.

The plant will not be able to put ice on the market until the first of the year, although there is a possibility of its being ready for operation late in the fall.

Manufacture Ice.

The action of the board of directors in deciding to build the plant was the result of long and careful inquiries covering a considerable period of time. In view of the present difficulty of securing pure ice from natural sources, it was decided to manufacture the ice and wholesale it to the various ice-merchants of the city.

In conversation with The Advertiser, Mr. Masurel outlined the rough details of the scheme. The company owns the premises to supply pure water, and the present machinery of the cold storage plant will be sufficient to run the new plant.

It will be some time before the new plant is ready for operation, because of the difficulty of securing skilled mechanics and also of securing some of the material necessary.

Stole From Farmer
Who Befriended Him

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Alfred Craig, June 10.—A young boy, aged 19 years, a youth who was arrested in London recently for sleeping around in the parks, was given six months in the Reformatory for stealing $19 from George Charlton, who gave him work.

Yesterday Love stole a horse of Mr. Charlton's. The animal had the harness and Love rode it as far as he could, and when near Lucan left it. He then walked down the tracks into Lucan, where he was captured.

Love says he ran away from his home in Winnipeg some time ago.

Girl's Uncle Took Little Arthur Girl

[Canadian Press.]

Arthur, Ont., June 11.—The story sent out about the kidnapping of little Margaret Seaton, who was taken away to school yesterday morning was carried off by a stranger in a buggy, presumably to be held for ransom, has been positively explained.

The child's father died some time ago without a will, and friction among the relatives regarding the custody of the little girl arose shortly after the funeral. James and Humphrey Seaton, uncles of the child, endeavored to secure control, and John Coffee, a maternal uncle, did likewise.

The stranger in the buggy turns out to have been John Coffee, who took her to Guelph, where she has been placed in the Loretto Academy. Mr. Coffee is said to have taken this action under authority from the courts.

WANT UNION PUT BEFORE CHURCH AS A DEFINITE ISSUE

Resolution of Rev. Dr. Gordon Is Causing a Hot Debate at Assembly.

Session Will Probably Have To Be Prolonged Until Friday.

Toronto, June 11.—With the customary division of the day—the morning for general business and the afternoon for discussion of church union, the Presbyterian General Assembly began work today on the long list of items of more or less importance, which remain to be disposed of before adjournment until Friday.

Adjournment has been planned for tomorrow, but it is not at all improbable that the sessions will project into Friday.

Church union is the sole topic on the program for the afternoon, and discussion will centre around the resolution introduced Tuesday afternoon by Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon, of Winnipeg, recommending the federation or any other alternative to church union be abandoned and that "the question of organic union be placed before the church as a definite issue; and that a basis of union be fixed upon by the union committee after receiving suggestions from all parties be submitted to the assembly next year for definite action. The finance committee, eastern section, reported a fairly good year, with receipts of $140,811.89, being $4,279 more than during the previous year.

A number of reports, which had already been presented, and which were not of an argumentative nature, were disposed of, and there was a disposition during the morning to proceed with business a little more quickly than heretofore.

Many Leaving.

It was but a thinly scattered gathering of commissioners that greeted the opening of the morning session, but by the time the first business came up for discussion the auditorium was fairly well filled. The delegates and commissioners are beginning to thin out, and are daily returning to their homes.

The report of the committee on application of students was brought in by Dr. Fraser. The application of the presbytery of Ottawa in favor of one of their missionaries, Mr. Sinclair, was sponsored by the Rev. Mr. Turnbull. He lauded the work done by Mr. Woods, and stated that he was a valuable man.

A Two-Year Course.

A motion that Mr. Woods be granted a two-year course at Montreal college under the direction of the synod of Montreal, was adopted. Mr. Sinclair brought in the report of the committee on special license and ordination, with a large number of recommendations, all of which were approved by the assembly with the exception of the case of Dommola, a Finnish missionary in Toronto, whose application the committee could not grant. Rev. Dr. Duncan supported Mr. Sinclair's reduced motion that this case be referred back to the committee as there was some additional information to present.

The judicial committee's report and recommendations were read by Rev. Dr. Sedgewick and adopted by the assembly.

At 12 o'clock business was suspended in order to welcome a deputation from the Baptist Church, headed by Rev. John McNeill.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Brown, Chancellor McMillan, of McMaster University, and Mr. S. J. Moore were the other members of the deputation.

SAD, SAD IS THE TALE OF AMATEUR GARDENER

One Who Planted His Green Stuff Upside Down and Another Who, From Morning Glories, Raised a Lovely Batch of Onions.

In the spring suburban fancy lightly turns to garden things.

Squash, tomatoes, cabbage, onions, horse-radish and cauliflowers. All the joys that summer brings. Amateur suburban vegetable growers.

Of course the rhythm is all wrong, and the rhyme might be greatly improved. But so it is with the song of the amateur gardener. It started off well enough last spring, but now it is beginning to limp just a little. In the hot days of July it will wilt, no doubt, like the tomato plants that the amateur gardener set out last week, and put tin reflectors on the north side so that the baby plants would lose none of the sunshine.

One charming gardener told a sad tale to the city editor recently. She planted some morning glory seeds and they came up onions. She didn't know there were onions in the garden, and they were. And the funny part of it is that they are growing better than the ones that were planted in a carefully manicured garden bed and a well-digested onion bed in the vegetable garden.

WAR MINISTER
MAHMOUD PASHA
ASSASSINATED

Played a Leading Part in Having Abdul Hamid Deposed.

Was One of the Cleverest Organizers in the Turkish Army.

Constantinople, June 11.—Ibrahim Bey, the aide de camp of Mahmoud Scheket Pasha, was also killed by the assassins. It is understood that the man who committed the crime are civilians.

[Canadian Press.]

Constantinople, June 11.—The Turkish grand vizier, Mahmoud Scheket Pasha, was assassinated today by two men armed with revolvers, who attacked him while he was proceeding in his motor car to the sublime porte at noon.

It is believed in Government circles here that the assassination of the grand vizier was the outcome of a plot against the committee of union and progress.

Mahmoud Scheket Pasha had held office as grand vizier since Jan. 23 and was well satisfied with the elaborate and vast of his position. On the same day Nazim Pasha, commander of the Turkish army at Teheran, was shot dead during a demonstration in Constantinople.

A Brilliant Career.

Mahmoud Scheket Pasha was a pure Arab and a native of Baghdad. He was a great favorite of the former Sultan Abdul Hamid who appointed him to the general staff.

Afterward he proceeded to Germany and stayed there ten years studying the organization of the German army.

Mahmoud Scheket Pasha, despite his close intimacy with Abdul Hamid, was the moving spirit in fostering the military revolution which brought about the Sultan's fall, in which he was assisted by Enver Bey. After he had put an end to the cabal which surrounded Abdul Hamid, the old sultan, and Mahmud Scheket Pasha then caused his deposition and had his brother, Mehmed V, placed on the throne.

Soon after the outbreak of the Balkan war, Mahmud Scheket Pasha was appointed chief of the commissariat department of the Turkish war office. He was one of the men present at the grand council of the empire, which decided in January this year to accept the proposal of the European powers to bring the war to an end.

DUKE COMING BACK SHORTLY

Will Finish Out His Term as Governor-General of Canada.

MAY LOSE HIS OLD HOME

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 11.—It is announced that the Duke of Connaught will return in the autumn to finish his term in Canada, and the Government is beginning to wonder what can be done with him, as at present the Rideau Hall premises are in the possession of an army of caterpillars.

They have made the place uninhabitable. Before the month is ended Rideau Hall will be turned over to a contractor, and for six months will be in the possession of many stone masons. It will be placed for a royal duke and his extensive household.

It is possible if the Duke of Connaught adheres to his determination to return to Canada that the Government will lease one of several extensive residences at Ottawa and place it at his disposal. It has also been suggested that accommodation may be secured for him in the Chateau Laurier. The contract for rebuilding Rideau Hall will be closed next week.

HOTEL ANNEX BURNED.

[Canadian Press.]

Nanaimo, B. C., June 10.—The annex of the Windsor Hotel was burned early today with a loss of $10,000.

Some Patch, This.

The city editor came in one morning about a month ago. His gardener neighbor had promised to keep him in Brussels sprouts all season. Yesterday the city editor leaned over the back fence and inspected the Brussels sprouts patch. To begin with, it covered an area about the size of the city editor's hat. Then by actual count there were just seven Brussels sprouts in the patch.

By this time of the year the seed catalogues have all been safely mislaid, and the amateur gardener occasionally designs to look at the baseball scores in the newspaper, and sometimes he even reads the near-funny things by Jinx.

It was last week that the amateur gardener was holding forth at the corner grocery store, just before the meeting of the Tambling's Corners Progressive Association was called to order and decided to adjourn for the summer.

"How's the garden, John?" someone asked him. "They say you planted your Dutch sets upside-down, John." "No," says he, "I may look kind of mossy, but I ain't a natural green color. That's the way I plants my turnips, but onions grows straight from the roots."

SCHOOLBOY mathematician puts one over on Euclid, Newton & Co.

Sydney A. Gross.

A 16-year-old boy has solved a mathematical problem that has baffled the world since the beginning of civilization.

He has found a way to divide an angle into three equal parts without the use of higher mathematics. And that's something that neither old Euclid nor Des Cartes nor Newton nor any other mathematical genius that ever lived could do.

This prodigy is Sydney A. Gross, a Philadelphia high school boy.

Sydney wanted to trisect an angle and wasn't satisfied with the elaborate "blister curves" method invented by Euclid 2,100 years ago and used ever since. So he got busy and made a little cardboard device that does the business as simply as a draftsman's pantograph.

You just place it over the angle you want to trisect and work the hinges, and in a moment you have your three angles.

The "sector," as it is called, has been examined by Prof. M. J. Barb, of the University of Pennsylvania, Prof. David Eugene Smith, of Columbia University, and other experts, and has pronounced a scientific discovery of great value. It will be especially useful in the mechanical arts.

Bulgaria Agrees to Russia's Proposal and Averts Another Struggle.

DEMobilizing ARMIES

[Canadian Press.]

Vienna, June 11.—The Neues Abendblatt states that Bulgaria today replied in the affirmative to the telegram from the Emperor of Russia asking the Bulgarian Government to submit its dispute with Serbia to arbitration.

According to the Reichspost, the Emperor of Russia's telegram urging arbitration on Bulgaria and Serbia also requested as a preliminary condition that the two countries should demobilize their armies.

VEILED WOMAN KIDNAPS
LITTLE EILEEN BARRON
FROM TALBOT ST. SCHOOL

Arrives in Automobile, Says She Is Child's Mother, and After Interview Takes Girl for a Ride, Since Which Time Nothing Has Been Seen of Either—Parents Were Divorced Couple, Child Being Given to Father by the Courts.

While an unknown man waited outside an automobile Tuesday afternoon at about 2 o'clock, a woman, supposed to be the mother of nine-year-old Eileen Barron, who had been given into the possession of her father, Mr. Alfred Barron, of Chicago, succeeded in inducing the little girl to leave school "to go for an automobile ride," and she has not been seen since.

The little girl had been in the possession of her father since Christmas after Mr. Justice Britton issued a habeas corpus order, and had been residing with Mr. Barron's sister on Oxford street until Tuesday.

Divorced Couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Barron are divorced. The woman, who was formerly Miss Eileen, of Newcastle, Ont., secured a divorce by going to Reno after she had failed to secure one in another city.

After the divorce was granted Eileen lived for some time at Newcastle with an aunt of the mother, until the father took legal measures to secure possession. The child wrote letters to the father, in which she expressed a desire to live with him. The court granted him possession on the strength of this and other evidence that was produced.

Police Could Not Act.

After she had ascertained that the child had been taken from school Miss Barron immediately notified the police. She affirms that the police refused to take any action, although the papers were presented. It was said that the officials claimed that the mother should have possession of the girl, but it was pointed out by Miss Barron that even if this were true, there was no absolute proof that the woman was the child's mother.

"The police would do nothing," said Miss Barron to The Advertiser. "I presented the court order, but was told that nothing could be done. It was a great surprise to me, and I will consult a lawyer in the matter. I cannot understand why the order was given if it is to have no effect."

The Kidnapping.

The child returned to school, after having lunch with her aunt, in time to go in when the class reassembled. Shortly after 1:30 o'clock someone rapped at the door of grade 3, in which class Eileen attended, and Miss Nellie Macklin responded. She was met by a woman whose head and face were swathed in an automobile veil. She said that she was Eileen Barron's mother, and that she had just arrived on the train, and that she wished to see her daughter. Miss Macklin, who had received no previous intimation that there had been trouble between the father and mother, readily assented, and there was a scene when the mother saw her daughter.

She clasped the little girl in her arms, and burst into tears, crying: "My little girl, my little girl!"

Took Child For Ride.

Miss Macklin left the child with her mother for five minutes and went into the room. When the teacher returned the woman was somewhat composed, and she asked if she could take the child for a ride.

Miss Macklin asked her if she had seen Miss Barron, and the woman replied that she had not.

"I just came in on the train, and I had to come to see my child first," she said.

This explanation sounded reasonable to Miss Macklin, and as the child did not say anything, she agreed to let her go. Outside a man sat in an automobile, and the two entered the car. No one has been able to discover which way the car went, although it was seen earlier in the day.

Carefully Planned.

That the kidnapping was carefully planned is evident from what was told Miss Barron by some of her neighbors, the Misses Milroy. When they heard that the little girl had not returned home, they recalled having seen a man and woman, strangers to them, looking into the house where Eileen lived with her aunt. The woman had walked along the sidewalk, and the man had stayed at the corner. The child came out about this time, and it is believed that she was followed to school by the couple in the automobile. There is no other explanation for their being able to find out where she was, unless through inquiries among the grocers and other storekeepers in the neighborhood.

Possible Clue.

It was said that the man and woman had called at a grocery store on Richmond street, and had made inquiries concerning the house in which the girl lived. This could not be confirmed. One possible clue to the whereabouts of the pair is furnished through a local ticket office, where Tuesday a stranger inquired the time for trains running to Newcastle. He was told that there was no direct connections with Newcastle, but that a person could go to Toronto and make connections in the morning. There were only two trains—one last night and one in the morning. Both these trains were watched, but the three did not take either of them.

It is believed that the child was taken from the city in the automobile, and that the inquiries of the man were founded on the intention to send the woman and girl by train while he took the automobile.

Father Was Away.

Mr. Barron was in the city on Monday, but left to attend a convention at Atlantic City. He was notified of the occurrence by night letter, and it is expected that he will be in the city as soon as possible to investigate the matter. That he will be determined to secure possession of his daughter is the opinion of his friends. They assert that he is justly entitled to her, and that his devotion is so deep that he will leave nothing undone to secure her again. That the courts will back him up in this and that there will be every effort made to prevent the child being taken to the United States are certainties.

An Outside Auto.

None of the garages in London had rented a car to anyone Tuesday, according to the statements of the proprietors, so that it is believed that the automobile was brought from outside the city.

Mrs. Barron secured her divorce by going to Reno about Christmas. The police have no warrant for her arrest at the present time, the magistrate and crown attorney refusing to grant one. Steps will be taken at once to put the court order into effect. It is expected.
