Bird Bulletin

Issued by the MacLaurin Ornithological Club.

The bad weather of the past two weeks has prevented the members of the Bird Club from making regular daily observations, hence the absence of daily bulletins. Now, however, the birds are coming in fast, so from now on bird notes will appear daily till the end of May at least.

Up to date over 80 species have been recorded for the year. This is below our usual record, but the mild winter kept many of our usual northern visitors at home, and the bad weather of the last two or three weeks has kept many of the season so far was the "Red-Breasted Merganser," one of the "fish ducks." A pair of these birds was seen about a week ago. This is only the second time that they have been recorded in Middlesex County in over 40 years' observation.

Mallard Ducks have been seen several times lately. These handsome birds, though very common in many places, are rather rare visitors in our vicinity. Many seasons pass without us seeing them.

The Myrtle Warbler came back on the 14th inst., again proving his title to the earliest warbler of the twenty odd warblers that visit us. He came very nearly losing his laurels this year, as the Pine Warbler was seen on the 15th, several days ahead of his earliest record in 40 years. These two are beautiful little birds, the former marked with yellow and white on a bluish back, and the latter with a bright yellow breast and olive-green back.

All our warblers, many of which are most gorgeously attired, may be seen in our city parks and along our residential streets, so citizens do not have to go far afield to see them. Look up any small bird you may see flitting around your trees or shrubbery for the next six weeks, and you may get a pleasant surprise.

Just a word with reference to the protection of our birds, particularly at this season of the year. The migratory birds convention act states very clearly our duty in this matter, and it behooves the boy, or man, for that matter, who goes out with his 22 rifle to watch his step, as the killing of one of our birds, or even shooting at one, may mean a $100 fine and the confiscation of his shooting iron.

Watch the daily papers for further bird bulletins.

Johnny and Jenny Wren arrived in town this morning, and will doubtless spend the next few days in house hunting. Now is the time for boys and girls to get busy and put up a Wren house. Most any old box (except cigar boxes) drilled with a hole one inch or an inch and an eighth in diameter, and a weather-proof roof, will do. Be sure and put the house beyond the reach of stray cats. Cats, by the way, make an excellent fertilizer for peonies, according to a well-known authority, so if pussy should happen to die of any one of the ailments that sometimes overtake them, bury them under your favorite peony.

The House Wren is one of the smallest and best singers we have. His cheery warbling song is one of the first voices that greet the early rising bird while getting up to hear him.
