

ST. PATRICK'S REVERSE AND BLANK MILLIONAIRES 6--0

IRISH HAD BREAKS AND FORM IN 4TH MIX

Coast Champs Go Stale and On Attacks Shot From Outside Defence—Only Six Penalties Handed Out.

TORONTO, March 26.—Whether it was the seven-man style of game, the presence of Eddie Gerard on the defence, the fighting spirit that has featured many of their games this season, or a combination of the four, makes little difference, but there is no doubt that in defeating the Vancouver Millionaires by six goals to nothing on Saturday night in the fourth game of the Pacific Coast series, the St. Patricks gave one of their best exhibitions of the season, and drew up on even terms with the Pacific Coast champions in the scramble for the mug.

The score almost gives a correct indication of the play, and after the locals had secured their two-goal lead in the first period they had it over the Vancouverites for the remainder of the game. On Thursday night everything the Irish tried to do went wrong, but the fourth game was just the reverse.

Had Breaks.
They had the breaks with them, and every time they attempted to score. On the other hand, the St. Patricks looked the poorest they have in the four games yet, and appeared to be stale, Lehman and Oatman being the only ones that played up to anything like the form they have shown previously.

Lehman had to save five or six times as many shots as Roach, and every one that beat him was worth a counter. He pulled off a number of stops that were sensational, and the big score, close of the largest that has been run up against him in the last few seasons, was no fault of his, but was due to the collapse of the defense and the efforts of the locals. Duncan and Cook were only fair, and the locals penetrated them more on Saturday night than they had in any of the other games. They rushed occasionally, but on the majority of their attempts they were from outside the goal.

McKay showed little on the offensive, and not much more on the defensive, and in the last part of the game he refused to check Adams.

Adams was checked closer than he had been previously, and could not get away with anything like the frequency he has in other struggles. Parkes showed some work on the left boards, but he also was showing signs of staleness, or whatever it was that afflicted the coast champion in the first period, but after that was watched closely, and his threat was less dangerous. Tobin was used for the first time in the series in a defensive role. The game was clean, only six penalties being imposed, of which Noble took two and Andrews and Dye one each.

The line-ups:
St. Patricks—Roach, goal; Stuart and Andrews, defense; center; Noble, rover; Dye and Smylie, wings; Andrews, substitute.
Vancouver—Lehman, goal; Cook and Duncan, defense; Adams, center; McKay, rover; Skinner and Parkes, wings; Oatman and Tobin, substitutes.
Referee—Cooper Smeaton, Montreal.

BEACHVILLE NINE IS ORGANIZED
INGERSOLL, March 26.—Much enthusiasm marked the annual meeting of the Beachville Baseball Club. It was decided to accept the South Oxford Baseball League, and a stronger team than last year is expected.

The following officers were elected: President, E. F. McClelland; secretary-treasurer, John Bremner; business manager, Charles Downing; club secretary, Charles Downing; R. W. Dickie, I. J. Morgan, H. Cropp, B. N. Downing.

L.C.I. FIVE DIDN'T PLAY STRATFORD
STRATFORD, March 26.—London Juvies refused to take the floor Saturday evening for the final game in the Juvenile O. B. A. series. Sedco, who handled the game in Woodstock, was absent and could not referee. The visitors refused to accept the substitute.

MEL COOGAN WINS.
NEW YORK, March 26.—Mel Coogan, the champion light heavyweight, last night defeated Jimmy Hanlon of Denver, receiving the judge's decision after a twelve-round contest.

Happy, restful days at CHALFONTE-HADDON HALL
Atlantic City, N. J.
The original Haddon Hall, closed during construction of the new Boardwalk Wing of Haddon Hall, has now reopened, while the Wing nears completion.

Hospitable, quiet, homelike. The choice of the most interesting, cultivated people seeking recreation at the seashore.

Spring in Atlantic City is the most delightful time of the year. Mild sunshine and invigorating sea air, 18-hole golf course, horseback riding on the beach, endless amusements, fascinating shops and theatres.

On the Beach and the Boardwalk, Americans Plan Only. Always Open. Write for illustrated folder and rates.

LEEDS AND LIPPINCOTT COMPANY

OPEN LACROSSE MAY 24.
CHATHAM, March 26.—The Chatham Lacrosse Club is planning to hold a field day on May 24, and will officially open the lacrosse season in the city on that date. Plans are being made for at least two games of lacrosse for that day.

AWARDED DECISION.
BOSTON, March 26.—Jack Malone of St. Paul was awarded the decision last night over Augie Ratner of New York, after he had finished with a burst of speed in the tenth round. In the other rounds the fight was closely contested. The men are middleweights.

OPEN LACROSSE MAY 24.
CHATHAM, March 26.—The Chatham Lacrosse Club is planning to hold a field day on May 24, and will officially open the lacrosse season in the city on that date. Plans are being made for at least two games of lacrosse for that day.

Shamrocks Win the Ontario Basketball Title Second Time

SMALL WASPS' VETS COME BACK

Former Beat R. C. R. Juniors in Second Game Between Two 1-0.

WERE TWO GOALS IN REAR

Army and Navy's Reorganized Team Put Up Plucky Uphill Fight To Draw.

Another twin bill was the order of the day on Carling Heights Saturday, when Grand Trunk Apprentices in their return friendly game with R. C. R. Juniors, and the latter eleven came from behind a score of 2-0 in the middle of the second period, pluckily pulling up to an equal footing to a 2-2 tie. Both games were witnessed by an extremely large crowd of spectators who were kept right throughout the two battles on the tip-top of expectancy. Outside of the usual Carling Heights southeast wind the weather was ideal with the playing ground, thanks to the good efforts of the R. C. R. fatigue party, being in a much better condition than the previous Saturday.

The Juniors as formerly opened the afternoon's proceedings. Both the Grand Trunk Apprentices and R. C. R. Juniors showed a few changes in their respective line-ups.

R. C. R. tried out a new custodian in the person of Richard, who didn't do so badly, considering that this was his first soccer game. Both elevens took the field in the pink of condition, with the R. C. R. Juniors standing out prominently, owing to their rather pronounced hair.

In the first moiety R. C. R. won the toss and elected to defend the west goal, with the soldiers having the wind slightly behind them. Henderson kicking off for Grand Trunk, things immediately became mighty interesting, with the Grand Trunk side being held pretty well to mid-field by the soldiers for the first few minutes, and the railwaymen were ultimately compelled to play on the defensive. At this time Carling, R. C. R.'s outside right, gaining control of the sphere, sent across a shot which was deflected by Henderson, who secured a good opening but shot wide.

G. T. R.'s bombardment, with J. Smith, their outside right, sending in a nice shot to Richard, who saved it. The young "swallows" still compelled to play on the defensive, cleared their lines well, with Winnie, their outside right, showing great advantage. The Royals broke away at this time and made a raid into the territory of the Grand Trunk, with a "gingery" centre pivot, sending in a hot one to Goddard, who was found at home and gave the right wing a good opening. Goddard's shot was certainly a meritorious one.

The Junior Wasp got away on the right wing, Henderson securing a good opening, but in his anxiousness throwing his chance away by shooting erratically. In the wind in their favor, the R. C. R. Juniors were by no means having the best of exchanges with the young Wasps. Later on the R. C. R. Juniors invaded their opponents' territory once more, with the Wasps' defence being severely tested and found sound, their whole defence playing an exceptionally fine game for the juniors. Goddard, between their sticks, was at this time saving some miraculous shots, but were being rained in on him by R. C. R.'s peppery front quintet, who tried to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

TY DEPENDS ON THIS TRIO

Detroit's immediate baseball future depends upon second base. If the Tigers have developed a combination for the keystone sack, Detroit must seriously be considered in this year's pennant race.

At present chances are that a veteran and a recruit will be to the right and left of this point when the season opens. The recruit is Emory E. Rigney, a slender youth who somewhat resembles Duke Hanford in build. He came out of the Texas League to Detroit, and was immediately handed the job of shortstop.

The veteran second sacker will be either "Pop" Young or George Cutshaw. Young is a Detroit veteran. Last season he developed a throwing fault which seriously handicapped his team.

Young suddenly became unable at times to throw to first base, tossing the ball wildly. He seemed unable to overcome the fault. During the winter months he underwent an operation to his throwing arm and he may be able to rid himself of the weakness.

If Young does not play second base George Cutshaw will. Cutshaw played with Pittsburgh last season. He was Brooklyn's second baseman before Pittsburgh got him. As a member of the Pirates last year he batted .340, the highest average of his career.

Cobb signed Cutshaw during the winter to play utility roles for Detroit. Cobb's argument was that a veteran will be of much more value in the utility part than a youngster.

Utility infielders are generally called into service in the pinches, and a veteran is not likely to make mistakes in the pinches, while that will be the time when a youngster is most likely to make them.

Should Young show signs of his former weakness Cutshaw will look after the second basing.

Rigney is probably the best defensive player in the outfit of newcomers. In practice games Rigney has been particularly impressive on the field. He knows how to get to the bag and knows the proper position. He can take a throw and after that he is in position to get the ball away quickly, fast and accurately. It is his work on double plays that most appeals about him.

Several clever passages of combination took place on Saturday night, with the R. C. R. Juniors having as much of the play as their rivals and their front line attack throwing away several valuable opportunities, with the Grand Trunk side being held pretty well to mid-field by the soldiers for the first few minutes, and the railwaymen were ultimately compelled to play on the defensive. At this time Carling, R. C. R.'s outside right, gaining control of the sphere, sent across a shot which was deflected by Henderson, who secured a good opening but shot wide.

G. T. R.'s bombardment, with J. Smith, their outside right, sending in a nice shot to Richard, who saved it. The young "swallows" still compelled to play on the defensive, cleared their lines well, with Winnie, their outside right, showing great advantage. The Royals broke away at this time and made a raid into the territory of the Grand Trunk, with a "gingery" centre pivot, sending in a hot one to Goddard, who was found at home and gave the right wing a good opening. Goddard's shot was certainly a meritorious one.

The Junior Wasp got away on the right wing, Henderson securing a good opening, but in his anxiousness throwing his chance away by shooting erratically. In the wind in their favor, the R. C. R. Juniors were by no means having the best of exchanges with the young Wasps. Later on the R. C. R. Juniors invaded their opponents' territory once more, with the Wasps' defence being severely tested and found sound, their whole defence playing an exceptionally fine game for the juniors. Goddard, between their sticks, was at this time saving some miraculous shots, but were being rained in on him by R. C. R.'s peppery front quintet, who tried to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick for the Reds near the Royals' goal area looked promising, but proved fruitless, with "Scotty" McKay securing the leather, but overran it out of play. The Royals' front line again took matters to the Reds' penalty area, but Farr and company held the opposing faction well at bay and well converted the shot sent distance. Hymmen, the Royals' right back with a great punt, sent his right wing away, and he carried the ball down the field. Tanner sent the globe across to Hill, who sent in a shot in some, just missing his objective by inches. The Reds again took matters to the Royals' goal, with Hill sending a judicious pass across to Frederick, who sent in a daisy cutter well out of the reach of Isom. Half time resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Second Game.
A lively set-to was the second game of the afternoon, with the old-time Army and Navy Vets facing R. C. R. Juniors in an exhibition bout. In the first period the Royals won the toss and chose to defend their goal. On Henderson kicking off for Army and Navy Vets the play immediately became brisk, with the Reds being compelled to play on the defense with bold Battle and Hill having good tries for goal, the former spoiling his chances with a considerably hanging on too long to the sphere. The Reds broke away come time, with the Royals' husky backs having their work cut out for them. Hymmen and Taylor both cleared their lines well. A free kick