EYES OF YOUTH MADE DEEP IMPRESSION

Despite the cold weather and heavy sales a goodly number were at the Opera House last evening and all were delighted with the splendid special feature "Eyes of Youth" in which Clara Kimball Young is being starred.

A very fine offering indeed, a decided novelty, in the way of photoplays dealing with glimpsing into the future and the occult arts of the Eastern Yogi.

To quote a recently published editorial, "What would you give to be absolutely certain today of what would happen tomorrow?" there is probably no person who would not risk a great deal for one little peep into the future.

Advance information has been the basis of over fifty per cent. of all the great fortunes in the world. It is a historical fact that the fortune of the Rothschilds, the greatest individual fortune in Great Britain, was founded upon advance information secured by a member of that famous family of the defeat of Napoleon at Waterloo.

Probably one-half the world today is in some sense interested in the experience of the people who are endeavoring to read the future by communicating with spirits or by some other method, and the other half of the world is sitting eagerly back, awaiting the results of these experiments before they, too, become actively interested.

Many of the leading ministers of the world hold that if the Creator had intended that humanity should know its future, some method would have been provided by which the future could easily be read. Psychologists maintain that if the future can be accurately determined, there will be no further interest in life, since the only interest the people have in their affairs of today is based upon the gamble inherent in all people as to what the morning will bring.

In the production "Eyes of Youth," appearing in at the Opera House, the exciting events of the story are based upon the opportunity given the heroine to read her own future through the assistance of a Hindu, who teaches her lot had she followed one of the op- and in this way she is able to avoid the mistakes that would have been her lot had she followed one of the opportunities offered her.

"Eyes of Youth" is a gripping production because, in addition to being one of the famous plays of the year, as well as one of the elaborate productions of Miss Young's entire career, the development of the story shows in a new and startling way the possibilities of reading the future through the process of crystal gazing in which some people have great faith.

GETS FIVE YEARS FOR ROBBERY

Fred LeBlanc, alias Fred White, who was recently arrested for breaking into the Continental Lumber Co's store at Charlott, appeared before His Honor Judge McLatchy at the regular sitting of the County Court Tuesday morning.

He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to five years at Dorchester. This was not LeBlanc's first offense as he had already served six months in jail for theft.

Eugene Casey of Lily Lake charged with indecent assault was charged before a petit jury and cleared of the charge.

Several civil cases were stood over until next term of court, some to be taken up in Chambers at Campbellton.

Eugene B. Lewis' Social Drama

"What Every Woman Learns."

Is the Joking, Jolly Husband a Success?

IF YOUR WEALTHY GRANDFATHER ON HIS DYING BED admonished you to marry a light-hearted, joking sort of a chap and leave the serious sober-minded ones alone, would you do so? The heroine of this very gripping domestic drama, out of sheer love for her grand parent, did what he advised. The superior chap, who was outwitted because he did not come up to the dead relative's specifications as to jollity, was finally forced to assert his "right of the heart" as the story very prettily shows. This is not a silly sex yarn but a constant, edifying—and warning—human document.
