AFFAIRS IN THE EAST.

An ominous star-cloud is rising in the East. Whatsoe'er hopes of a peaceful solution of Turkish affairs and complications arising out of them may have been entertained a few weeks ago, are now dissipated. A terrible conflict, extending far outside of Turkish territory, seems inevitable. There is certainly no prospect of the maintenance of tranquillity in some of the outlying provinces of the Ottoman Empire. Carnage, cruelty and devastation must appear, as a train of wide-spread calamities, which one shudders to contemplate, into every part of the Sultan's domains. That those in power have been miserably misgoverned and oppressed, cannot be doubted; and yet the horrors of internal and sanguinary strife seem almost worse than the endurance of bitter wrongs and a tyrannical exercise of governmental power. History, however, proves that there is a point beyond which the most spiritless and servile of peoples will not permit to remain the passive victims of despotic cruelty. An infuriated populace rendered desperate by long years of iron-handed oppression, are not easily appeased or conquered. As far as Turkey is concerned, the consequences are unquestionably fearful; but the possibility, nay, the probability, if not the certainty, that the difficulties which at present perplex the Sultan, will involve the surrounding nations in a conflict, vastly more to be deplored than the internal disturbances of an empire, in which religious intolerance and fend-like persecution are in the ascendant, and in which Mahometan hatred to Christianity is illustrated by a ruthless resort to unsparring assassination. This spirit of the followers of the "false prophet" has recently been exhibited in the wholesale butchery of a christian community.

It is too apparent that present Turkish difficulties will not, in their consequences, be confined within the limits of the Sultan's dominion; but that some of the European powers will there be dragged into hostility with each other. For some months there has been much diplomacy between the principal Courts of Europe in reference to the situation of Turkey; but peaceable results have not been realized. Diplomats, in dealing with the matter, have been drawing nearer and nearer to the dreadful maelstrom of a general war. Naval forces are ordered to rendezvous along the shores of the Mediterranean, and active military preparations indicate the probability of a struggle in which several nations may be involved. The intrigues of Russia, tending to the dismembering of the Ottoman Empire—the grasping spirit of Austria—and the watchful jealousy of Germany, all conspire to the culmination of a train of events, which are to be dreaded. Of course Great Britain will not be a passive spectator in a conflict which may compromise her vast interests in the East. May the Great Ruler of the universe bring order out of confusion, and mercifully mitigate the evils of prospective calamities in the event of a general European war.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

The St. Louis Democratic Convention for the nomination of a candidate for the next president has selected Governor Tilden. Perhaps he is the strongest man of the party. He has an unassailable personal record which commands the respect of all right thinking men of all shades of politics. The course which he pursued when the corporations of the Tammany Ring in New York were unseated—the energies he exhibited in the party he took in bringing the offenders to justice—and the outspoken utterance of his execrations of those implicated in the matter referred to, all tended to impress upon the public mind of that State that he was a genuine patriot and a politician of the sternest firmness and integrity. Though Boss Tweed had long been a prominent man in the party to which Mr. Tilden belonged he did not screen the culprit. In other respects he has displayed a peculiar fitness for occupying a high position in public life. So far as we know, the habitual defamers of candidates for popular favor, will be puzzled to conjure up charges, like "spirits from the vasty deep," against either his private or his public character. Many in the Republican party, no matter how much opposed to him in politics, admit his personal virtues, and admire him for many of the qualities which are desirable in a party leader and a statesman. The Republicans will find in him a formidable opponent. We believe, too, that Mr. Hayes, the Cincinnati candidate has an unblemished past in his favor. Hitherto he has not been conspicuously prominent among the politicians of the United States. He has not been distinguished for any of those shining qualities which imparted lustre to the occupants of the Presidential Chair in the earlier years of the Republic. His claims to distinction are more based upon negative considerations than upon a career in public life which has brightened his claims for popular favor. Nothing, so far as we know, can be alleged against his personal integrity. His present position as Governor of the State of Ohio is a proof that his talents are above me-

A DIABOLICAL HURRICANE.

BRIDGETOWN, JULY 6, 1876.

DIABOLICAL HURRICANE.

They have a mass of mysterious disappearance at Montreal. Some days ago Mrs. Ellison and her son, a lad of 17 years of age, named Richard T. Anderson, came there from Toronto, with the intention of going to England, leaving obtained a free passage for the voyage. Last Friday week, the two got upon the St. Joseph street cars they related to go and see Captain Ross, Lower Lachine Road. When the car reached the Napoleon street crossing the boy was on the platform and his mother was inside. He jumped off thinking the world was to end, and went a little way down the street. He missed Mrs. Ellison in a moment, however, but before he could return, the car was too far away for him to be able to reach it. He took the next car and went out to the terminus, but could see nothing of his mother, whom he has not since seen or heard of.
