

Thus joy pervaded all the varied ranks
Of men, and birds, and beasts both wild and tame,
When they surveyed the forests fraught with game
And deep recesses of the shelt'ring swamps :
And beauteous prairie, level like the sea,
And sparkling streams, and rivers rolling wide,
Their voices blended in one grateful song.

JOHN I. HINDLEY.

ERATTA :

Chee-bi-yah-boog read Chee-bi-yah-booz, pages 2, 3, 4.
Thrust read thirst, page 3.
Looses read lesser, page 5.
Thrust read through, page 7.
Chides insert after word sorely, line six, page 8.
Ear read car, page 12.
Ooga-wush-kwa read ooza-wush-kwa, on page 12.
The direful read to direful, page 17.
Enconiuns read encomiums, page 20.