inexpressible delight. "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

A friend hands in the following, and states if these suggestions are followed a reward will be reaped, not only in this life but that which is to come:—

HINTS FOR BOYS AND YOUNG MEN TO DIGEST.

Always speak the truth—A liar is never believed when correct, and has no promise of future happiness.

Be honest-Honesty is the "Keystone of the whole arch of manly and Christian qualities."

Obey your parents and teachers—"This is well-pleasing unto the Lord."

Ask God to direct in all you do or say—He alone is the fountain of true wisdom.

Remember that God's eye is ever upon you—He knows your every thought and will bring you to judgment.

Fear God and keep his Commandments-"This is the whole duty of man."

Love and confide in your mother; tell her all your little plans, and ask her advice in everything—She is your best earthly friend and loves you always.

Be slow to speak, swift to hear, and patient if injured—These things are right.

Never read sensational stories -They will dwarf your mind and oft' lead to ruin.

Read good books—Books are our silent companions and should be such as elevate the mind and lift the soul to God.

Imitate noble and good men—Mean men are vanity and must prove miserable guides.

Never use intoxicating liquors or tobacco—They are poisonous, and will hurt your health and may ruin your soul.

Choose good company—You are better alone than with bad companions. Be kind to your sisters, brothers and playmates; forgiving all their injuries to you—You will find it better than resentment in the end.

Make a wise choice of a profession—Seek God's blessing in all your undertakings; and never engage in anything upon which you cannot ask or expect the divine blessing.

Have purpose, system, decision and perseverance in all you undertake—Be a whole man at everything; never despise your calling; make the best use of your time; never shirk a duty. Forget not that your "chief end is to glorify God and enjoy him forever."

James R. Toland, Passekeag, sends the two following selections:-

I. A BOOK OF BANK NOTES.

I have many books that I cannot sit down to read. They are, indeed, good and sound, but, like half-pence, there goes a great quantity to a little amount. There are silver books, and a few golden books, but I have one Book worth more than all the rest,—it is called the Bible, and that is a book of bank notes.—Newton.
