A TELEGRAM from Boston on the 15th says that the three, six, seven, eight, nine and ten miles amateur bicycle records were beaten at Beacon Park, yesterday afternoon by Frank Moore, the one-mile and twenty-five-mile champion from England. The ten miles were made in 33m. 34s., which is 2m. 7s. better than the previous record. Referring to Mr. Moore, the Bicycling World says:—"Frank Moore, the young English flyer, who is so gallantly winning glory and medals from our own racing men, shows what proper training will do. Personally he appears to be a modest, good-natured man, and he races fairly and with a determination to win; and we have no sympathy with those small minds who occasionally are heard to carp at his success because he is a foreigner. We wish sincerely that some of our men might beat him, but as long as he shows himself the best man it is as mean as it is useless to whine about it."

MR. FRED. JENKINS, an old bicyclist and editor of the Wheel, is about to move to Philadelphia. New York wheelmen will miss him as much as his old stand at 791 Fifth Avenue, which will be torn down when he leaves. We wish him success in his new field, but we don't think he will make a good Quaker.

MESSRS. DUNCAN and Rennie of the Hamilton Bicycle Club recently wheeled it from this city to Albany, N. Y., a distance of about 330 miles in 6½ days.

FRED. WESTBROOK and Perry Doolittle are expected to go to the Springfield and Montreal races. We wish them success.
