

A Charge of the Algerians

This stirring incident occurred a few days after the first Moorish attack on Casa Blanca. A detachment of French Spahis was attacked by the Moors and driven back towards the town. Here they were reinforced, and, charging the enemy furiously, put them to flight.
—Black and White.