BRUIN HAVING AN ELEGANT TIME IN JERSEY FARMYARDS

Living Like a King on Eggs, Honey and Young Pigs While Angry Farmers Hunt Him.

(New York Herald.)

Possessor of an enormous appetite, a marauding bear has been enjoying free lunch at the cost of the farmers of Northern New Jersey for eight days, and a hundred angry men armed with guns and other weapons are searching the mountains between Dooton and Butler in the hope of catching him. Apart from his incessant hunger, to gratify which he stops at nothing, Bruin has the children thereabouts so frightened that the country school houses have been almost deserted since his advent.

Escaping from two Italians who had been exhibiting him in Charlottesville a week ago last Monday, the bear has been having the time of his life since then and does not seem to be afraid of anything so long as he can get enough to eat. First he appeared at the home of Giles Romer, on Mine Hill, near Green Pond. Mrs. Romer saw him as she was coming from the chicken house with an apron filled with eggs. She started to run and fell. When she managed to get to her feet, looking like an omelette, she fled to the house and from a window saw the visitor feasting on what she had not gathered to herself.

"Hank" Stiles, who lives about five miles away, was next honored. He is a honey raiser and keeps about fifty hives of bees. When "Hank" encountered Bruin he had upstaged one of the hives and was having a hearty breakfast, regardless of the excited protests of the bees buzzing around him. Stiles caught up a gun loaded with buckshot, and let go both barrels, at a distance of fifty feet, but the bear merely grunted and went on with his meal, upsetting eleven more hives in his efforts to appease his hunger. Then he struck out across the mountain to the north.

At Jacksonville crossroads on Friday a group of school children came face to face with Bruin in a sharp turn in the road. Dropping their lunch baskets, they scurried for shelter, and the bear had another banquet of hard boiled eggs, sandwiches and cake. Sunday he casually visited a score or more of farm houses, but as nothing edible was in sight he did not linger. Yesterday he turned up at the farm of Thomas Doremus, near Taylor town, and here, in the opinion of the farmer, he went beyond all limits of respectable behavior.

Doremus had a pen containing a full bred Poland China sow and a litter of twelve little pigs. Bruin must have been hungrier than usual, for when he left seven of the little porkers were gone and the mother was dead. The farmer was on his way to the barn to feed the pigs when he came upon the bear and the sow in deadly combat. Being unarmed he was afraid to interfere, and finally the mother was vanquished in the battle to save her young. One after the other the bear picked up seven of the squealing pigs and carried them away.

ROOSEVELT STRIKES FROM THE SHOULDER

Replies to Attacks of Labor Organizations, and Reiterates His Classification of Moyer, Haywood, and Debs, with Harriman, as Undesirable Citizens of the United States.

In a letter dated April 22, addressed to Honore Jaxon of Chicago, chairman of the "Cook County Moyer-Haywood Conference," President Roosevelt replied to the criticisms by labor unions of his letter to Representative Sherman, in which he referred to Moyer and Haywood, officials of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with implication in the murder of ex-Gov. Steunenberg of Idaho, as "undesirable citizens."

Mr. Roosevelt's letter to Mr. Jaxon reads:

Dear Sir: I have received your letter of the 19th instant, in which you enclose the draft of the formal letter which is to follow. I have been most anxious to see the delegations bearing similar requests as on the way. In the letter, on behalf of the Cook County Moyer-Haywood conference, you are asking me to sign a certain language I used in a recent letter which you assert to be designed to influence the course of justice in the case of the trial for murder of Messrs. Moyer and Haywood. I entirely agree with you that it is improper to endeavor to influence the course of justice, whether by threats or in any similar manner. For this reason I have regretted most deeply the action of such organizations as your own in undertaking to accomplish this very result in the very case in which you speak. For instance your letter is headed "Cook County Moyer-Haywood Conference," and the language which you are asking me to sign is "We, the undersigned, do hereby demand that the trial of Messrs. Moyer and Haywood be conducted in a fair and impartial manner, and that they be given the same treatment as is given to the trial of any other accused persons." This shows that you and your associates are not demanding a fair trial, but working for a fair trial, but are announcing in advance that the verdict shall only be one way, and that you will not tolerate any other verdict. Such action is flagrant in its impropriety, and I join heartily in condemning it.

But it is a simple absurdity to suppose that because any man is on trial for a given offense, he is therefore to be freed from all criticism upon his general conduct and manner of life. In my letter to which you object I referred to certain prominent financiers, Mr. Harriman, on the one hand, and to Messrs. Moyer, Haywood and Debs on the other, as being equally undesirable citizens. It is as foolish to assert that this was designed to influence the trial of Moyer and Haywood as to assert that it was designed to influence the suits that have been brought against Mr. Harriman.

I neither expressed nor indicated any opinion as to whether Messrs. Moyer and Haywood were guilty of the murder of Gov. Steunenberg. If they are guilty they are certainly ought to be punished. If they are not guilty they certainly ought not to be punished. But no possible outcome, either of the one or the other, is in my judgment as to the undesirability of the type of citizens of those whom I mention. Messrs. Moyer, Haywood and Debs stand as representatives of those men who have done as much to discredit the labor movement as the worst speculative financiers and most unscrupulous employers of labor and debauchers of legislatures have done to discredit honest capitalists and fair dealing business men.

They stand as the representatives of those men who by their public utterances and manifestoes, by utterances of papers they control or inspire, and by the words and deeds of those associated with or subordinate to them, habitually appear as guilty of incitement to or apology for bloodshed and violence. If this does not constitute undesirable citizenship, then there can never be any undesirable citizens. The men whom I denounce represent the men who have abandoned that legitimate movement for the uplifting of labor, with which I have the deepest sympathy; they had adopted practices which cut them off from those who lead this legitimate movement. In every way I shall support the law and the rights of representatives of labor; and in no way can I better support them than by drawing the sharpest possible line between them on the one hand and on the other those preachers of violence who are themselves the worst foes of the honest laboring men.

Let me repeat my regret that any body of men should so far forget their duty to the country as to endeavor by the formation of societies and in other ways to influence the course of justice in this matter. I have received many such letters as yours. Accompanying them were newspaper clippings announcing demonstrations, parades, and mass meetings designed to show that the representatives of labor, without regard to the facts, demand the acquittal of Messrs. Haywood and Moyer. Such meetings can, of course, be designed only to coerce court or jury in rendering a verdict, and they therefore deserve all the condemnation which you in your letters say should be awarded to those who endeavor improperly to influence the course of justice.

You would, of course, be entirely within your rights if you newly announced that you thought Messrs. Moyer and Haywood were "desirable citizens," though in such a case I would take frank issue with you and should say that, wholly without regard to whether or not they are guilty of the crime for which they are now being tried, they represent as thoroughly undesirable a type of citizenship as can be found in this country; a type which, in the letter to which you so unreasonably take exception, I showed not to be confined to any one class, but to exist among some representatives of great capitalists as well as among some representatives of wage workers. In that letter I condemned both types.

Certain representatives of the great capitalists in turn condemned me for including Mr. Harriman in my condemnation of Messrs. Moyer and Haywood. Certain representatives of labor in their turn condemned me because I included Messrs. Moyer and Haywood as undesirable citizens together with Mr. Harriman. I am as profoundly indifferent to the condemnation in one case as the other. I believe as much in the support of all good Americans, whether wage workers or capitalists, whatever their occupation or creed, or in whatever portion of the country they live, when I condemn both the types of bad citizenship which I have held up to reprobation. It seems to me a mark of the incincerity to fail thus to condemn both; and to apologize for either robs the man thus apologizing of all right to condemn any wrong doing in any man, rich or poor, in public or in private life.

You say you ask for a "square deal" for Messrs. Moyer and Haywood. So do I. When I say "square deal" I mean a square deal to every one; it is equally a violation of the policy of the square deal for a capitalist to protest against denunciation of a capitalist who is guilty of wrong doing, as for a labor leader to protest against the denunciation of a labor leader who has been guilty of wrong doing. I stand for equal justice to both; and so far as in my power lies I shall uphold justice whether the man accused of guilt be behind him the wealthiest corporations or the greatest aggregations of riches in the country, or whether he has behind him the most influential labor organizations in the country. Very truly yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Honore Jaxon, Chairman, No. 807 West Lake Street, Chicago, Ill.

A MILITARY DINNER

The annual dinner of No. 3 Company, 3rd Regiment of Artillery, which was held last night in the Park Hotel, was a most enjoyable affair. Sixty-three members of the company and their guests sat down to an excellent dinner, after which the toast list was gone through, interspersed with a fine programme of solos and readings.

Major L. W. Barker was in the chair and the list of guests included Major J. B. M. Baxter, second in command, Major B. R. Armstrong, Alexander Baird, H. Simmons, Regimental Sergeant-Major Edwards and Pte. Higgins, of the ordnance corps.

The toasts were The King, No. 3 Regiment, Canada, No. 3 Company, Our Guests, Our Officers, The N. C. O's, and The Ladies. Each was enthusiastically received and eloquently responded to.

E. J. Everett, W. E. Raymond and George Blake leave tonight for Los Angeles, California, where they will attend the annual session of the Shriners.

Mrs. John J. Collins returned yesterday from New York.

Robert Connelly, manager of the Bay Shore Lumber Company, says that stream driving commenced on the Great Salmon river on Thursday. The company has about 4,000,000 logs on that stream, and the outlook is good for getting the logs to the mill. Mr. Connelly says that there is still four feet of snow in the woods about Salmon River.

G. W. Gannon, M. P., of St. Stephen, was registered at the Victoria yesterday. Dr. Rudolph, M. P., and Mrs. Rudolph, of St. Martins, are at the Victoria.
