REV. H. C. RICE SPEAKS
ON UNITY OF EMPIRE

Patriotic Exercises, Including
Short Addresses, at War
Memorial

In spite of the showery weather of yesterday afternoon, the streets through which the church parade of the Orange Order in the city passed, were lined with people. King square and vicinity were crowded with the members of the order and their friends when the parade was halted at the War Memorial. Short addresses, recalling the memory of those who lost their lives in the Great War, the sacrifices they had made and the magnificent heroism they had shown, were given by Grand Mistress Mrs. Joseph Taylor, of the L.O.B.A., and Grand Master J. St. John. Appropriate selections were rendered by the bands and the ceremonies at the monument were brought to a close with a prayer offered by Rev. H. A. Goodwin. The Orangemen then proceeded to Centenary church where they were addressed by Rev. H. C. Rice.

The church was crowded and the service, conducted by Rev. Mr. Rice, assisted by Rev. Mr. Goodwin, was very impressive. The altar and choir loft were draped with the Union Jack and they

"JACK Dear, do you remember the day when you told me at breakfast how much you loved Jane and Jellies with hot toast? Well, I immediately called Mother to see how she made the Strawberry Jam we all loved last year."

"Mother said she had always had such a hard time to get certain fruits to jelly, such as strawberries, raspberries, pineapple and so on, that she decided to try the new CERTO method Aunt Mary told her about. And do you know Jack, since then she has used it for all her jam and jelly making and has never had a failure."

"I'll never forget the feeling of pleasure and pride I experienced when in a short time I had so many delicious jars of jam and jelly to store away for winter—all sparkling, set perfectly firm and clear and half as much again as you would get from the same amount of fruit by the old method. It is just as Mother said that morning, 'Peggy dear, if you make your jam and jellies the CERTO way it will be just one more happy step in the building of your little home—and lessening just that much the drudgery young brides so often give up when they've—all so unnecessarily, too.'"

"I am so happy, Jack, that I know of CERTO so early in my new career as housewife."

CERTO is the jellifying substance—abundant in some fruits and almost lacking in others—extracted and put up in convenient form for use in jam and jelly making. It is as pure as the fruit itself and best of all you are absolutely free of success.

The new CERTO method only takes from one to two minutes of hard boiling, in place of the old fifteen or twenty minutes' constant stirring over a hot stove. The fruit is more natural in color and flavor than before, because none of this delicate color or flavor is boiled away but all retained.

Bouquet everywhere are praising CERTO

More Jam and Jelly from the same amount of fruit—more delicious in flavor—more delicate in color.

It was never laundered with anything but Lux and lukewarm water—

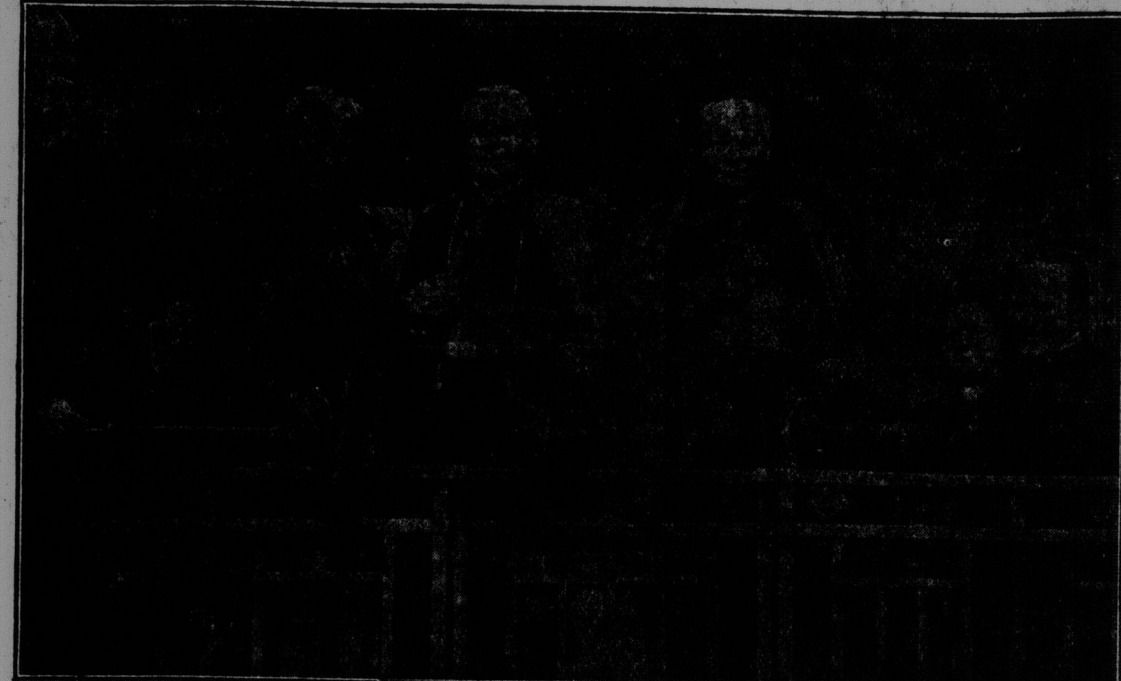

It wore and wore until it went out of style—

To keep the wardrobe Fresh and Beautiful nothing so good as

FRENCH CARDINALS VISIT MONTREAL

FOLLOWING the Eucharistic Congress at Chicago, their Eminences Cardinals Dubois of Paris and Charost of Rennes paid an official visit to Montreal and the Province of Quebec, where they were highly honored. Photographs show the arrival of the party at Bonaventure Station on the International Limited.

bishop of Montreal, who was the official representative of the Canadian clergy on board the trip; Sir Henry Thornton, who returned from a business trip to Chicago on the same train; His Grace Mgr. Heylen, of Namur, Belgium, president of the Permanent Committee of the Eucharistic Congress; His Eminence Cardinal Dubois, Archbishop of Paris; His Eminence Cardinal Charost, archbishop of Rennes; Father Lamy, secretary of Cardinal Charost, and Father and banners of the order. The Baker quartette sang two appropriate selections and the hymn, "Nearer My God To Thee," was beautifully rendered by Mrs. O. Brennan.

The opening prayer was given by Rev. Mr. Goodwin, who also announced the last hymn, "Unto the Hills," and pronounced the benediction.

UNITY OF EMPIRE. Rev. Mr. Rice took, as his text, the fifth verse of the twentieth psalm, "In the Name of Our God will we set up more banners." After extending a welcome to the members of the order and their friends, Rev. Mr. Rice referred to the ideals, such as religious freedom, civil liberty, brotherhood of mankind and the unity of the British Empire, upon which the principles of the order rested.

In his sermon, Rev. Mr. Rice made reference to the thought of the consciousness of God and exhorted his hearers to keep Him always in mind. "It is not a conventional worship but if the nation errs see that immediate rectification is made," continued the minister.

"An ardent campaign to make the significance of the word 'citizenship' more realizable is tremendously necessary at the present day," declared Rev. Mr. Rice. "This cannot be done by the making of laws but it can be accomplished by our churches, schools, civic and business organizations and our newspapers."

LEAGUE OF NATIONS. The speaker dwelt for a few moments on the League of Nations Society and characterized its campaign for the abolishing of warfare as a most worthy movement and one that should have an advocate in every human being. "But," declared Mr. Rice, "I regret to say that we have yet to see the day when the nations will beat their swords into ploughshares and turn their spears into pruning hooks."

Rev. Mr. Rice brought his address to a close with an appeal for a deeper religious sentiment in the hearts and minds of all. "With God we are protected, without Him we are lost," he concluded.

The collection taken up at the church to aid the Orange order in their New Brunswick Protestant Orphanage work amounted to almost $200.

ANNUAL PICNIC. The annual picnic of the Church of the Assumption, West Side, will be held on Wednesday at the church grounds. It was announced yesterday that Mr. Walter Bardsley is convener of the ladies' committee, while Edmund Fitzgerald is chairman of the men's committee.

The following clipping from the Phoenix, Ariz., Republican of June 27 is of interest to friends in New Brunswick. "The marriage of Miss Jane Turpie, daughter of Mrs. Emma J. Turpie, to Devereux Jack, took place on Thursday morning at 8 o'clock in Trinity Cathedral, with only the members of the family and intimate friends in attendance. Quantities of white summer blossoms and ferns were used in the decoration of the altar where the Rev. Bertrand R. Cook read the Episcopal service. Arthur J. Smith, at the organ played the wedding processionals and through out the ceremony occasional compositions. The bride entered the church with her brother-in-law, Herbert N. Bradstreet, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory georgette with trimming of orange blossoms and a hat of white chiffon. Her bouquet was of white roses and malden-hair fern. Mrs. Herbert N. Bradstreet, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, and Miss Phyllis Edie and Miss Pauline Dietz were bridesmaids. Mrs. Bradstreet's gown was of pink georgette with insets of ecru lace and tulle, and her hat was a large model of white georgette and transparent braid. She wore a corsage of pink roses. Miss Edie's frock was of orchid georgette draped over pink satin and her hat was of self-toned georgette. Miss Dietz wore pink taffeta with a hat to match. Their bouquets were made up of pink and orchid snapdragons effectively combined with softest greenery. Preceding the bride party was the flower girl, little Miss Bonnie Bradstreet, dressed in orchid georgette and carrying a basket of rose petals which she scattered generously in the path. The ring bearer was little Miss Ann Bradstreet, who carried the crystal in the heart of an old fashioned lace bordered bouquet. The bridegroom chose Harold Herwig for his best man, and the ushers were Archie Kroloff and James Miller. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother on West Willetta street, after which Mr. and Mrs. Jack left for Lewis Lodge, where they will spend a brief honeymoon. They are planning an extended visit in Canada later in the year, Mr. Jack being a native of Canada and having seen four years' service with the Canadian army overseas. Mrs. Jack has made her home in Phoenix for seven years and is a graduate of Wolf Hall in Denver, and of Beaver College in Philadelphia. WOMAN'S DEATH IN AUTO CRASH TO BE PROBED

Mrs. W. E. Moulton, Killed in Maine, Had Been to N. B.

Grand jury investigation and heavy damage suits are expected as the result of the death at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, of Mrs. Gertrude Berry Moulton, of 27 Johnston terrace, Cliftondale, Mass., following an automobile accident in Machias, Me. The attractive young matron's husband, Walter E. Moulton, a traveling salesman, supposed she was visiting friends in Providence, R. I. Her death has revealed that she was on a 600-mile motor tour to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia with a married man, also living in Cliftondale, who is 10 years older than her husband. Medical Examiner George Burgess Magrath, of Boston, has performed an autopsy and forwarded his official report to County Attorney Howard Murchie, the prosecutor at Calais, Me. Mr. Murchie is arranging for an inquest and a grand jury investigation.

According to the officials of Washington county, Me., where the automobile collision that caused Mrs. Moulton's death occurred, June 25, she was riding in a car with Massachusetts registration plates and driven by a Dr. Harris.

Dr. Lorne Wilborne Harris of 240 Lincoln avenue, Cliftondale, Mrs. Moulton's family physician, was away from home at that time. Another Cliftondale physician said that after Dr. Harris' return, the latter told him he had been on a motor trip to the provinces and that his car had been smashed up in a collision at Machias.

To a reporter Dr. Harris also admitted that he had been to the provinces on a motor trip, but he denied that there had been any accident. He showed the reporter a car of the same make he has been driving and invited an examination to prove that the machine had not been in an accident, but refused to show his registration or permit an examination of the numbers on the car for comparison with the records at the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL. After his wife's death Mr. Moulton discovered that she had been injured in the accident at Machias, taken 46 miles over the road to Calais, and then transported 200 miles by train to the Massachusetts General Hospital. He was not notified until after she had arrived at the hospital in Boston and the surgeons had decided there was no chance to save her life.

One phase of the official investigation now under way is to determine whether the long trip was partly responsible for the woman's death, and why she was not cared for near the scene of the accident, instead of being rushed back across the Massachusetts line.

Another phase relates to the federal criminal statute known as the Mann act concerning the interstate transportation of women.

It was learned last night that Dr. Harris and Mrs. Moulton were in Scotland on the night of June 25. They came there on the Digby boat and a day or two later left for St. Stephen's, where they were formerly a resident of Bear River, N. S.
