

Children Under 13 Should Drink Lowney's

Why? As children begin to grow up, they often tire of milk and water and want to drink what Papa and Mamma drink—including tea and coffee.

The best dietetic authorities in England and elsewhere say that children under 13 should never touch tea or coffee. But after seven years of age, cocoa is recommended.

Lowney's is made from the finest cocoa beans the tropics produce. Our Montreal factory is a model of neatness and up-to-dateness.

Lowney's Cocoa is thoroughly wholesome, with a delicious flavor that quickly appeals to both children and their parents.

Sold by grocers. In tins—10c to 50c sizes.

Lowney's Cocoa is the best Cocoa to taste.

The Orange fair last night attracted the largest crowd since the fair began. Nearly 400 persons were present and the many booths were well patronized. During the evening the St. Mary's Band rendered a fine programme of music and the spacious hall was a scene of great activity.

The door prize was won by ticket No. 1064. The other lucky winners at the various games were as follows: Vernon No. 1 booth—Prize 1, a clock, won by W. Smith; prize 2, a hat, won by R. Gibbon.

Reclinator tables—No. 1, ladies' prize, a glass dish, won by Mrs. W. Case; gent's prize, a bill book, won by Douglas McArthur. No. 2, ladies' prize, handbag, won by Mrs. W. H. Bennett; gent's prize, a book, won by George McKinney.

Ten pin game—A cigar case, won by H. McEachern.

Ladies' bean board—A miniature set, won by Mrs. W. Monahan.

Gent's bean board—A bill book, won by Edward Brittain.

The air rifle contest was won by N. J. Morrison, for which he received an umbrella.

Mrs. W. Monahan, the winner in the ladies' bean board contest, has on two former occasions won in the same game.

Boa-Constrictors Born in Captivity—Cairo, Oct. 15.—Bairam has seen a well-known and unusual addition to the many unique exhibits to be seen in the Cairo Zoological Gardens. Ten baby boa-constrictors have just made their entry into the world. They are the centre of attraction, and present a very pretty sight, for they are about one foot long, and are of a red color, with patches of white and black. These baby reptiles are fed on mice.

This is the first occasion that boa-constrictors have been born in captivity.

25 CENT "DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR AND DANDRUFF—GROWS HAIR

Don't Pay 50 Cents for Worthless Hair Tonics—Use Old, Reliable, Harmless "Danderine"—Get Results

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you will say it was the best investment you ever made. Your hair will immediately take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable glow and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few week's use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Grown Up Children

By RUTH CAMERON

THERE are several kinds of grown up children in this world. There's the kind that everybody loves, the folk whose hearts have refused to grow old with their body, who have somehow miraculously avoided the cynicism and disenchantment which usually come with the years, and have kept all the fine enthusiasm and optimism of youth.

And there is the kind of people who really have grown old but refuse to admit it by their manners or their clothes. Too often we laugh at them when we really ought to pity them.

And then again, there is the kind of grown up children, who, while they have lost all the fine qualities of youth, have still kept its pettiness—and as for these, well, to me, at least, it's pretty hard to remember that they aren't big enough to deserve dislike.

In our neighborhood there is a person who fits the out-of-control emblems of a mad man. People who see him on the street or know him usually think he deserves to be called one. People who know him better usually come to realize that he is simply a grown up child of the least desirable class. Here is a little example of the tricks by which he has earned this reputation.

One very lovely summer evening the rest of the company felt disinclined to card playing and voted for a walk. He preferred the card playing and said so with all the imperiousness of a spoiled child. The rest of the party naturally saw no reason why they should all give in to please one member, and pleasantly responded that they would walk and he might play cards if he preferred. So angry was he at this refusal to yield to his preference that he not only stayed at home and played cards, but he actually "got mad" and refused even to speak to the offenders any more.

What do you think of that? He saw them constantly, on the street, at social gatherings and at the restaurant they all frequented, but he passed them by in stony silence. The other day he found himself on the street car sitting next to one of the women, and although she was quite ready to say good morning and pass the time of day, he hid behind his paper and hugged his "mad." And all because they wouldn't play what he wanted to!

Do you remember what Portia says of one of her lovers? "God made him and, therefore, let him pass for a man." That is a very expressive description of some people, isn't it?

Again, I know a hostess of a boarding house who says she has to be very careful to have all her helpings exactly alike, because there are some of her guests who would be much upset if they thought anyone else was getting an ounce more of pudding or more plum in their sauce than they.

To have grown up and lost all the glories of childhood, and not to have compensated one's self by getting rid of its pettiness and petulance, surely this is one of the tragedies of life.

Local theatre goes have for years been clamoring for what they termed a real opera company, and hundreds have welcomed the announcement that at last the great Aborn Opera Company will be heard here in three presentations of the Bohemian Girl, for which the name of Aborn is justly famous.

As presented by the Aborn Opera Company this opera is probably more popular than under any other circumstances. Not only

Daily Hints For the Cook

Take a round steak and spread it an inch thick with chopped bread and butter, seasoned with pepper and salt, sage and a little onion if liked. Roll steak up, tie with twine, lay in a baking pan, with thin slices of salt pork on top, pour round pint of water, cover closely and bake in moderate oven three hours.

CRACKER PUDDING.
The following recipe contains no molasses, although some use both molasses and sugar. Take about six crackers, one quart milk and cook well. One egg, scant cup of sugar, about a cupful of raisins. Spice to taste with nutmeg, cinnamon and a little salt. If eaten without sauce it might have a rounding cupful of sugar. Serve with or without sauce.

HE HAS EIGHT NAMES

Passaic, N. J., Oct. 18.—The man with the longest name in New Jersey has been appointed a member of the board of education by Mayor Seger. He is Thomas Adolphus Bamber Brown Augustus Richardson Gascayne Goodlatte.

While at first glance it might be suspected that a good portion of those names might have been "wished" on Mr. Goodlatte, this is not so. Records show that about sixty years ago in a small city in north of Ireland Mr. Goodlatte was so christened. He is one of the wealthiest mill owners here.

OLIVER-McBRIDE WEDDING

Of a marriage of interest in St. John the Montreal Gazette of Wednesday says: The marriage of Miss Irene McBride, daughter of Major and Mrs. John T. McBride, to Dudley Oliver, will be celebrated at half-past five this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Dorchester street, Westmount. The Rev. Dr. Young will officiate at the ceremony, which will take place in the drawing-room, where a bank of palms, ferns and pink and white roses will be arranged between the windows, in front of which the bridal party will stand. The wedding march will be played by Miss Katie Christie, of Ottawa.

The bride, who will be given away by her father, will wear a gown of white satin Duchesse, trimmed with hand-made lace and an antique lace veil, lent by her aunt, Mrs. James Harding, which will be fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms. She will wear, also, the bridegroom's gift, a gold wrist watch, and will carry a shower bouquet of lilacs-of-the-valley. Miss Grace Bell will be her bridesmaid, and will be gowned in peach-colored chiffon over satin with a purple velvet hat trimmed with plumes, and will carry an empire shower of violets. Her gift from the bridegroom is a pearl brooch. There will be two little ribbon bearers, Miss Isabel McBride, cousin of the bride, who will wear a lingerie frock with pink ribbons, and Master Jack McBride, the bride's brother. The best man will be Hugh Vallance.

A reception will be held after the ceremony, and later Mr. Oliver and his bride will leave for a wedding trip to New York and Toronto. The bride will go away in a dark blue cloth suit and a blue velvet hat with white wings. Mrs. McBride will wear a black velvet gown with real lace trimming. Among the out-of-town guests will be Mrs. Oliver, of London, England, the bridegroom's mother, who will wear black satin trimmed with Limerick lace; Mr. and Mrs. James Harding, of St. John, N. B., uncle and and of the bride; Mrs. Harding in white nixon embroidered in black with black hat and white ostrich plumes; Mrs. H. A. Smith, of New York, who will wear a gold-colored cloth gown and a black hat with orange plumes; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Peters, of St. John, N. B., the latter wearing King's blue satin with Oriental lace and a blue hat to match; Miss Phyllis Whitley of Ottawa, and T. P. Galt, of Toronto.
